- ASTORIA, Or., Jan. 17, 1918.
- Bend Bulletin, Bend, Oregon.

- Express appreciation of the Federation to the citizens for kindly invitation.
- O. R. HARTWIG.

(From Thursday's Daily.)
 Breaking the established custom of the State Federation of Labor to meet in Salem during the legislative session the convention in session at Astoria yesterday voted to hold its 1919 meeting in Bend.
 Bend's claims to the convention were presented by John A. Key, delegate from the Central Labor Council of Bend, and to reinforce his invitation over 39 telegrams were sent from here on Tuesday urging the selection of this city as next year's meeting place.
 Word of Mr. Key's success was received here last night, local labor leaders and others expressing considerable satisfaction at hearing the news.
 Elaborate plans for the entertainment of the visitors will be made by the town.
 L. J. Kildall was nominated as a member of the executive board at the meeting yesterday.

NEW GROCERY OPENED TODAY

THE BENNETT-COOPER COMPANY MOVES INTO QUARTERS IN THE PRINGLE BUILDING — MANY SANITARY CONVENIENCES.

(From Monday's Daily.)
 Today was marked by the opening of a new grocery store in Bend, one complete with all modern and sanitary equipment and a varied stock of fancy and staple goods. The Bennett-Cooper Company is installed in its new quarters in the east half of the lower floor in the Pringle Building and is prepared to handle trade from now on.
 Louis Bennett, formerly proprietor of Bennett's grocery on Oregon street, and W. C. Cooper, better known here as the representative of the Mason-Ehrman Company, of Portland, head the firm, which has a branch house at Silver Lake. John P. Fink, recently from The Dalles, will be bookkeeper for both stores. Clay Miller, who has been identified with other similar stores in this city, will complete the staff of the new company.
 All new fittings have been installed in the grocery, special glass cabinets being provided for meats, cheese and other perishable goods. Beneath the counter are cases for evaporated fruits, which may be seen from the front through the glass plates which form one side of the bins. White enamel counters, shelves and wood work together with light blue walls make the store light and pleasant in appearance. An entire new stock has been put in, every cereal or article in the line of canned goods being packed this fall. A large portion of the shipments are still to arrive.
 Three deliveries a day will be made by the grocery.

FORT ROCK TIMES TO STOP PUBLICATION

Editor Is Likely to Be Called in Next Draft—January 31 Will Be Last Issue.
 (From Thursday's Daily.)
 Since its editor and owner has been placed in Class I, under the selective draft act, and will be one of the first persons called from Lake county when the next draft call is issued, publication of the Fort Rock Times will be discontinued with the issue of January 31, 1918.
 The Times has been published continuously at Fort Rock since June 12, 1913, being started by R. N. Buchwalter, of Paisley, who within a few months from that date sold it to its present owner, J. William A. Busch.

WEST VIRGINIA PASTOR SEES KAISER'S END

the name of the beast or the number of his name."
 In Germany for the past two years the necessities of life have been so scarce, but so well distributed, that they have devised a card system whereby every person "rich or poor, small or great," has a card issued to him or her every week, showing the amount (and a very small amount it is, too), of bread or potatoes or fish which may be purchased during the week, and if one buys the entire allowance early in the week then no more can be bought of that article until the beginning of the next week and the issuance of another card. I understand the cards have printed on them the name of the German government, the name of the beast; the name of the person to whom the card is issued and the number, so "that no man may buy nor sell save he that hath the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name."
 No such plan as this has ever been adopted before by any country at any time, and probably no other country but efficient Germany would have devised so thorough a system, and it is certainly remarkable that it should have been so well described in vision nearly two thousand years before being put into operation.
 Verse 18: "Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast for it is the number of a man; and his number is six hundred, threescore and six." This prophecy then applies not only to a government, but to a man, and the number 666 is especially connected with that man.
 Another reference to an encyclopedia will show you that the Kaiser was born on January 27, 1859. A chronology of the present world catastrophe will show that Austria (largely at Germany's instigation) invaded Serbia on July 27, 1914. Do a little arithmetic and you will find that it is 666 months to the very day from the date of the Kaiser's birth to the beginning of the great war.
 Looking back to verse 5 we are told that "power was given unto him to continue forty and two months." Counting from July 27, 1914, we find that this brings us to January 27, 1918, the Kaiser's next birthday, when, if this prophecy is true and correct, his power will be broken, either by death, political reform or military defeat.
 Watch January 27, 1918.

Angry Housewives Are Worst Stumbling Block

(From Monday's Daily.)

PORTLAND, Jan. 21.—The greatest stumbling-block now in the way of the food administration is the selfishness and unpatriotic indifference of the average Oregon family, according to Federal Food Administrator J. B. Ayer, who says that wholesale and retail dealers throughout the state are cooperating splendidly, but that the public in general through individual greed and selfishness is proving a serious obstacle in the successful carrying out of the administration's conservation plans.
 "Many families are splendidly patriotic," said Mr. Ayer, "and are loyally observing the conservation requirements in every detail, but many others are either selfishly or thoughtlessly ignoring the regulations, and in addition are making life miserable for the grocers, who must restrict the sales of flour and sugar. Ill-natured complaint and threats of discontinued patronage are made by angry housewives, these complaints and threats in many cases, being 'backed up' by husbands and brothers who make special visits to the grocer to voice their displeasure. These unpatriotic citizens will go to almost any length to evade the regulations and to secure more than their allowance, although assured that this is the surest way of creating a shortage and raising prices, whereas, if they will support the food administration in its carefully worked-out plans, there will be plenty for all at reasonable prices, with a surplus for the steady stream of food staples that we must keep moving toward the front if we are to win this war."
 "We must have better cooperation and more of it. More earnest war consciousness is needed. If the food administration is to accomplish its purpose of provisioning our army abroad and feeding the armies and starving peoples of the Allies, every American family must help. So that this need may be realized and the war consciousness be made more general, I earnestly ask all who are loyally supporting the administration to act as missionaries among their friends and neighbors, explaining the situation and with patience and tact endeavoring to bring those who are selfish or indifferent to a realization of the fact that they are obstructing the food administration in its vital war work."
 "It is hard to understand, after all the publicity given to the conservation plans and principles for so many months, how any American family can still be in ignorance of the need of its individual cooperation, or of the fact that its cooperation is a patriotic duty. It is harder still to understand how any American family not ignorant of these things, can go on ignoring and even defying the regulations of the food administration. Let every Oregon family take stock of its patriotism as represented by its loyal support of the food administration. If your support is not 100 per cent, speedily make it so, and then do what you can to bring your friends and neighbors up to the same high standard. This is no trifling matter, but a serious patriotic duty. Each family is an essential unit in the nation's conservation plan, and the success of the plan is of vital importance to the winning of the war."

Grazing Privileges In Forest Cannot Be Sold

(From Saturday's Daily.)

District Forester George H. Cecil announces that the Secretary of Agriculture is notifying all holders of permits for grazing livestock on the national forests that the payment of any bonus or allowance for waiver of the grazing privilege in connection with sales of livestock or ranch properties will be cause for revocation of the permit.
 This is in accordance with one of the regulations governing the use of the national forests for grazing privileges, which provides that permits will be granted only for the exclusive use and benefit of the owners of the stock and will be forfeited if sold or transferred in any manner or for any consideration. To protect permittees who may wish to dispose of their property against the losses which sacrifice sales would involve, it has been customary to allow continued use of the national forest ranges by the new owner. Without some provision for this, the forest service grazing officials point out, holders of permits who wish to go out of business would not be able to obtain a fair value for their property. But the procedure has aimed throughout at such a safeguarding of the situation as would prevent the acquisition of anything approaching vested rights in the public property by private individuals or companies.
 Owing to the great and ever-increasing demand for use of the forest ranges, which is now in most regions far beyond their capacity, the grazing privilege is of large value. Upon the national forests the government applies a system of regulated use designed to encourage production, promote the upbuilding of the country along healthy lines, and secure the greatest good to the greatest number, but makes only a moderate charge for the grazing permits.
 In the view of those in charge of the national forest grazing business, it would be entirely unfair for the public to forego a maximum return for the value of use of its property and then allow those granted the privilege of use to collect this value from others, as the price of surrendering their privileges. Such a practice, they say, would make competitive disposal by the government of the grazing the only logical course.
 As Secretary Houston says in warning the range users that the payment of bonuses or the giving of any consideration to secure the filing of a waiver of the grazing privilege is prohibited, "such a payment would be a consideration for a privilege the granting of which is wholly within the discretion of the government and for which no one is entitled to receive compensation." Therefore any such payment will be "sufficient cause for the revocation of permit or forfeiture of all grazing preferences based upon the purchase of permitted stock."
