GET READY NOW. (From Monday's Daily.) Plans for after-war colonization of American soldiers on the cut-over lands of the south will shortly be taken up with the federal authorities at Washington, where Congress is already considering the question.

The foregoing quotation has a world of meaning for Central Oregon. The south is getting busy already to insure the placing of returned soldiers on its lands.

Mr. Sather needs no commendation to the buying public in Central Oregon and particularly to the people in Bend, where he has always maintained the highest quality of goods. Prices have always been the lowest consistent with the quality of goods. Mr. Sather is including in this sale all of the store fixtures, and later the store buildings will be for rent. The sale is to start at nine o'clock Saturday morning.—Adv.

The Cashman store is one of the most up-to-date stores in the northwest and occupies the corner of the O'Kane building, facing Oregon and Bond street.

NEW REAL ESTATE COMPANY FORMED. The Eastes-Anderson Farm Land Company is the name of a new real estate agency which has just been formed by J. A. Eastes and J. B. Anderson. This does not mean that Mr. Eastes is giving up his present business, but is merely entering into another in addition to his insurance and local real estate interests. The new firm will specialize in farm lands although other kinds of property will be handled to a certain extent. Headquarters will be at Mr. Eastes' present office on Oregon street.

ENOUGH FLOUR. (Continued from Page One.) spoke to Rev. Hartranft, telling him that he understood all Central Oregon wheat is to be shipped east and in such event it would necessitate the shipping of wheat from the east for the manufacture of flour for Central Oregon consumption. That would increase the price of the flour to the consumer to a very great extent. The manager of the flour mill requested that the county chairman inquire of the food administration concerning the solution along this line. Local merchants had expressed a willingness to buy a carload of flour apiece, which would give them 70 per cent of their last year's sales, and if this were possible Mr. Kroenert was of the opinion that he could stop the shipment of wheat to the east. At the time Rev. Hartranft was unable to do anything in the matter and could merely repeat the order prohibiting grocers from having on hand any amount to exceed a 30-day supply, with the additional limitation that the merchant stock up with only 70 per cent of the quantity purchased in the corresponding month of a year ago.

CALL ELECTION. (Continued from Page One.) together amount to about $17,000. In deciding on Mr. Benson's plan the meeting abandoned the idea formerly suggested, of issuing bonds to take up outstanding warrants and another plan, also discussed by those present, of asking for a tax levy sufficient to wipe out the warrant indebtedness and also run the city this year. A special election was held in December to obtain the approval of the voters on a city budget, calling for a tax in excess of the constitutional limitation, the amount being $25,000. At this time the proposed tax was defeated. Ignorance of the city's financial needs and a general belief that the measure would pass is believed to have been the cause of its defeat, and it is hoped that the new plan will meet approval.
