"GOV." McCANN WOULDN'T SOUND RAD, SAYS EDITOR

no grievance against the Libby Lumber company. On account of this splendid relationship between that concern and the employes there is seldom if any trouble in getting labor, so the chances are the labor problem will not interfere at Libby. Both in the mill and woods and also in the yards men like the Shevlin system and frequently leave less desirable places to come here and remain here a much longer percentage of time than in all other places.

Asked as to the rumor which has been going the rounds in Oregon and Spokane and which has spilled over into Montana that he might become the next governor of Oregon, Colonel McCann said they might go further and do a whole lot worse, at that. However, he said it was news to him. Being rather busy looking after several thousand men and affairs of some importance in a material way he said he hasn't had much time to feel the public pulse on such matters, but if the people of Oregon wanted a perfectly good chief executive there ought within the exterior boundaries of Oregon be found some one big enough, and broad enough, and with capability enough to fill the job. After this rather lucid declaration of intention on the governorship, Colonel McCann gave it as his opinion that the year 1918 promises to be one of the biggest and best years in the history of Libby.

The payroll of the Libby Lumber company is between $450,000 and $500,000 a year and the concern employs about 500 men. This makes about $40,000 a month. At Bend they have about 1200 men employed, with a corresponding payroll. There are two plants there. The lowest wage paid in the Libby plant is $2.50 a day. Col. McCann left on Friday afternoon for San Francisco, where he has gone to attend an important meeting of lumber manufacturers of the coast.

PLANS SURVEY OF ROAD SOUTH.

statement he also asserted that it is his intention to make the north and south survey from Bend through to the California line.

"This, of course, does not mean that the road will be completed through to the California line this year," Mr. Nunn said. "But it does mean that the work may probably be finished within the next four or five years, that depending of course upon conditions that may develop. I have found that these surveys are of great value, and while I have been criticized somewhat for the numerous surveys made last year it will be discovered that they will be of immeasurable value, and that no comprehensive system of road construction can be carried out unless we know where we plan to construct the roads."

Mr. Nunn said the stakes would be laid completely through to the California line, which will mean a survey from The Dalles south, the entire width of the state.
