DON'T LET IT LINGER.

A cough that "hangs on" wears down the sufferer, leaving him unable to ward off sickness. Jos. Gillard, 148 Fillmore St., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "I was suffering with a dry hacking cough and a pain in my chest, but since taking Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I have been relieved." It soothes, heals and cures. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

which thousands died to perpetuate its supremacy," she concluded.

Tells of Bombing.

Private Smith, recently out of the hospital, where he received treatment for the wounds given him in the front line trenches, recounted snatches of incidents that brought to his audience a more comprehensive realization of the conflict in Europe. Many of his stories were humorous, a few serious. He told of the crucifixion of three members of his own regiment by the Germans who took them prisoners. He told of the bombing of London while he was in the hospital and the killing and maiming of hundreds of women and children in the city. "One thing the allies will never do," he said, "is to go to German cities and bomb them in reprisal, killing the population. The raids the British and French do make are over aerodromes and supply centers."

He also told how propaganda balloons are sent up with false literature to spread behind the allied lines. "You don't have that sort of thing over here," he went on, "but you have German agents among you. Let there be none of that lukewarm stuff—you are either with or against us."

More Drives Coming.

Mr. Ryan, known to his friends as "Tommy," brought his message straight from the shoulder. "Today civilization is being crucified on a bloody cross," he declared. "They talk about keeping the home fires burning. We've got to. We're the men behind the ones who fire the guns."

"I'm not particularly concerned with this one Liberty loan drive—you're going over the top this time—but this is not the last. We're going to get through anyway. We're going to break the Hindenburg line, but before we do that we're going to have to wake America."

Mr. Ryan, be it known, handed a $200 check and an application for a bond to a member of one of the local committees.

Fifteen Years Ago This Week

A party of young people of the village were delightfully entertained by Miss Marion Wiest at her home last Saturday evening. Music was the principal feature of the evening, Miss Wiest and Mr. Kennedy playing some excellent numbers.

The Misses Lizzie Ketchum, Effie and Maude Dobbs, under the chaperonage of Guy Lafollet, are in the neighborhood. The young people are from Prineville and they are having a grand time fishing in the Hmpidness of Oregon's famous trout streams.

Superintendent L. D. Wiest recently gave notice to the Oregon Irrigation company's men at work a mile north of here on the ditch right-of-way that was claimed by their company to move, stating that they were trespassing on the Pilot Butte company's right-of-way and that each man would be held personally responsible for any damage done in following his superior's orders. In compliance with this notice, the O. I. Co.'s men have abandoned their ditch right-of-way at that point as well as at Lava. This means that at last the O. I. Co. has listened to the harsh voice of Secretary Hitchcock commanding them to keep off the grass, and that the Pilot Butte Development company will not be again harassed by petty lawsuits instituted in a mongrel spirit simply to delay development work.

On Tuesday last, while Ovid Riley had a party of three men building a bridge across the Deschutes five miles north of Bend, there happened an accident that might have proven fatal had it not been for some phenomenal quickness on the part of the participants. It seems that a rope broke which was holding the heavy boat used in constructing the bridge, and the boat crashed into the bent that had just been set up. Frank Glass happened to be on the bent, while Ovid Riley, Milt Young and Robert Boswer were in the boat. The jar of the boat loosened the bent from its fastening and it toppled over and started downstream; a stringer struck Mr. Glass and the boat and capsized it, tumbling the four men into the river, and the current carried the boat between two big rocks, standing it on end and holding it in that position. We draw the veil over subsequent events. Suffice to say the four men escaped with a chill. Some uncharitable persons do say that Ovid was looking at a Bend blossom across the river when the accident happened and that he failed to notice that the rope had parted, but for this we cannot vouch. At any rate, a bath in the icy Deschutes no doubt made him cast his eyes elsewhere for the time being.

Dr. Turner, the eye specialist of Portland, will be at Thorson's jewelry store in Bend again Thursday, April 25th, one day only. Consult him. 6-7c

GET ALL-WOOL---IT'S ECONOMY

This season "what they are" will be the vital question.

You've heard a lot about the excessive cost of wool; the facts about it are a good deal more real than the words about it.

But the result of high-priced wool shows in one of two ways; either your clothes will have less wool in them or you'll have to pay more for them. If you buy cheap clothes that means you don't care for all-wool; there's no way to get all-wool now at "cheap" prices.

We're here in this business to be of service to you; and service to you means, as we understand it, supplying clothes that are best for you.
