

CLUB WANTS TO MAKE ALL WORK

WANT POOL ROOMS TO BE CLOSED.

Committee Will Confer with Council to Consider Means of Ending Loading—Arms for Home Guard Are Promised.

There will be no loafers in Bend while men are needed on farms or in other forms of work. If a suggestion made at today's Commercial club luncheon is carried out. On the motion of D. G. McPherson, a committee is to be appointed to confer with the city council and attempt to outline a plan for insuring that all men able to work are made to do so.

Mr. McPherson's motion followed discussion started by County Agent Ward, who stated that the business men of the city might be expected to devote some time every week in aiding the farmers. George Russell of Prineville, called on for remarks, urged that all pool rooms be closed during the week and their patrons set to work or placed in the army while the farm boys in the army be returned to their homes for farm work. Mr. Ward stated that arrangements were now being made to obtain furloughs for soldiers who could help on the farm.

Mr. Ward also reported having for distribution garden seed furnished by Congressman Sinnott.

A letter from Adjutant General Williams to Judge Barnes was read informing the club that arms for the Bend Home Guard, recently formed, might be expected from a shipment of Krags coming from Camp Lewis.

To the industries committee was referred the matter of obtaining consideration of Central Oregon in the selection of an aviation camp in the state.

A request from the Pacific Coast Defense league for $100 from the club in aid of its work of obtaining highways on the coast for defense purposes received lukewarm attention and was finally referred back to the directors for further consideration.

JOKER PUNS OVER RECOMMENDATION

(From Friday's Daily.) "We would recommend that the jury should have swivel chairs with cushions and a trial jury room," was one of the recommendations made by the grand jury in the circuit court on Wednesday. The members of the jury were Meredith Bailey, R. M. Smith, Bob Blackwell, Claude Mannheimer, J. O. McKinney, S. W. Merrill and Frank Boyfelt.

Someone who saw a chance for a joke in the list of names and the recommendation made has sent The Bulletin the following:

Grand Jury. "Why don't R. M. Smith get a Bailey hay to sit on? No use of a Mann hammering because the chairs

In the court room don't fit Bob's back well. It won't get McKinney and Merrill anything to be so frank as to how their Bodyfelt." Quick, Watson, the needle.

Big Double Offer Gives All Candidate Splendid Chance

ing in enough new or old subscriptions to make a club of $25. On each one of those subscriptions the regular vote will be issued to you, and on the $25 club 90,000 extra votes.

The special prize of $25 in gold will be given to the candidate who turns in the largest total sum of money in new subscription payments during this offer.

A good feature regarding this inducement is that both old and new subscriptions count on the extra vote offer, and all the new subscriptions you turn in will be credited on the special prize offer. Your new subscriptions turned in during this period do double duty, as they count for both the extra votes and the special prize.

This offer gives all candidates a wonderful opportunity to build up a good big reserve vote besides a chance to win a special prize and it also offers a fine chance for those who have done very little up to the present time to catch the leaders.

Procrastination. Several of the contestants have come to the campaign manager with long faces and hard luck stories because they were just too late to get the subscriptions they might just as well have had if another candidate had not been there first.

"Never put off until tomorrow" was written for candidates in The Bulletin's campaign. There is no discounting the help your friends can give you, but you must remember that it is YOU who are winning the

REMOUNTS WILL GO FROM BEND

ANNOUNCEMENT RECEIVED FOR THREE CARLOADS TO BE SENT OUT EITHER IN MONTH OF APRIL OR MAY.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Three carloads of remounts for cavalry and artillery are to be purchased in the vicinity of Bend and Prineville, according to a communication received by E. P. Mahaffey of the Central Oregon bank from Captain Frank S. von Stade, Q. M. R. C. Captain von Stade will visit Bend at some time during the latter part of April or the first of May, according to the communication, which says:

"I think that I can assure you that there will be no doubt as to the purchase of these animals at this time, as the appropriation has already been granted from Washington and these three cars allotted to your territory. As you see from the attached clipping, remounts will be unbroken animals, which, of course, will be much easier to obtain than those that are required to be broken. Either cavalry or artillery types will be accepted, but animals must be sound in every way. These animals may be inspected at the ranches in certain cases where several are offered, but they must be delivered at Bend or Redmond."

The price paid by the government for remounts at this time has been fixed at $135 per head for each animal accepted. Animals must be geldings, of solid color, four to nine years of age, not less than 1,000 pounds in weight, or less than 15 hands high.

Buick automobile and not they, so they are very likely to forget the promise they made to help you.

Don't be deceived into sitting back and relying upon what people say they are going to do for you. Keep working. This applies strictly to you. Keep working as though no one had promised you anything; and by keeping that spirit in mind no one can stop you. Pay no attention whatsoever to the reports of what other candidates are doing. You are not telling what you have in reserve and you can rest assured others are doing the same.

Awards for Every District.

Remember that there are awards for each district, and that one district does not work against the other except for the Buick touring car. There will be four prizes awarded in each district and all non-prize winners will receive ten per cent. of all the money they collect on subscriptions.
