

One Way to Show Your Patriotism--

Maybe you don't see the connection between serving your country and buying clothes; there is one. It's the same thing as when you serve by observing meatless or wheatless days.

You'll not help win the war by substituting poor quality for good, nor by buying merchandise which is cheapened by adulteration, just because it's low priced.

You'll not help win unless you spend your money carefully; being sure of what you get for it. Low price and real economy don't go together these days.

When you consider the cost of wool and then look at some of the very low priced clothes, you have to wonder what they can be made of.

The best way to buy clothes is to get all-wool fabrics, and the other things you get when you buy such clothes as ours.

Enlists in Marines.—Earl Miller of Sisters yesterday enlisted in the Marine corps through the local recruiting office under Sergeant Brooks. He left last night for the Mare Island training station. Mr. Miller is just 21 years of age, and by his enlistment yesterday escaped the registration required of men of his age which is being held today.

RUNAWAY CARS CAUSE OF DEATH

ONE KILLED AND ONE INJURED.

Track Crew of The Shevlin-Hixon Company Loses Control of Construction Cars Near Logging Camp.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Mike Batchlin is dead and Gus Fisher is in the St. Charles hospital with a compound fracture of the leg as a result of an accident at The Shevlin-Hixon Company camp last night shortly after quitting time when two flat cars loaded with track laying material crashed into a logging train.

A crew of 20 men under the foreman of John Kittilson had been laying steel for a new logging road in the timber about two miles from the camp. When quitting time came the men climbed onto the flat cars with their tools and started for camp, which was several hundred feet lower than the point at which operations were being conducted, and depended on the grade to carry them down without motive power. Shortly after starting, the brakes on the front car broke, and the cars commenced gaining momentum. Seeing the danger they were in, Kittilson gave the order to jump, and all of the men complied, with the exception of Batchlin and Fisher. These men remained on the cars, Fisher staying until they were about a mile from where the first men jumped, when he, too, took a chance and sprang off into the timber beside the track. Batchlin, who seemed unable to comprehend his danger, remained until the runaway cars struck the logging train near the camp and was instantly killed.

Other members of the crew followed the cars as fast as possible and picked Fisher up from beside the track, where he was lying unconscious. A carrier was improvised by the men and he was taken to camp. A few minutes later the other men arrived with the body of Batchlin, and the dead man and the injured were brought to Bend, where Fisher was taken to the St. Charles hospital.

Members of the crew this morning stated that it had been the custom of the men working on the track-laying gang to ride the flat cars to camp each evening, instead of walking, and also to get the needed material for the following day. No one anticipated an accident and one would not have happened had the brake on the first car remained intact. When the main part of the crew jumped off at the foreman's orders the cars were not moving over five miles per hour. Batchlin was an Italian by birth, and all of his relatives, with the exception of two sons, who are also working in the woods, live in Italy. It is not known whether his wife is living or not.

POTATO CROP HAS UPS AND DOWNS

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

O. A. C. EXPERIMENT STATION, Corvallis, June 4.—A series of ups and downs is observed in the progress of the potato industry of the county by Prof. G. R. Hyslop, head of farm crops of the Oregon experiment station.

"Usually a large yield is associated with low prices, followed by smaller plantings resulting in smaller crops and higher prices," he says. "This encourages the growers to take another plunge in potatoes, and the excess plantings especially in good years produce an enormous oversupply and accompanying low prices."

"The year 1916 was a splendid potato year in Oregon, but not in the states east of the Rocky mountains. Our large surplus from rather a large acreage was disposed of at rather high prices. In 1917 many people, stimulated by the high prices procured for the preceding year's crop, spent considerable sums of money to buy high priced seed and grow potatoes, although this station advised beans and corn instead. This happened all over the United States,
