FOREST FIRES DESTROY BARN

W. H. H. WILLIAMS, A HOME-STEADER, LONES STRUCTURE, HAY AND IMPLEMENTS IN BLAZE—HOUSE IS SAVED.

(From Thursday's Daily.) The forest fire which has been raging during the past three days between the Big and Little rivers, although under the control of the fire fighters, has done considerable damage to the homesteaders living in that section, several buildings having been burned, together with barns and haystacks.

Perhaps the greatest loss was suffered by W. H. H. Williams, whose new two-story barn was destroyed by the blaze, including the contents of the building, consisting of several tons of hay and farm machinery. Mrs. Williams was alone at the ranch at the time and was unable to do anything that would save the barn, directing her efforts to saving the home by keeping water poured over the exterior of the building and putting out the blazing embers as they fell in dangerous places. Other neighbors arrived on the scene at a time when the barn was partially consumed and aided her in keeping the other property from being destroyed.
