ALL SCHOOLS NOW OPENED

PINE TREE LUMBER COMPANY LAST IN COUNTY TO COMMENCE—ATTENDANCE SHOWS INCREASE OVER 1917.

(From Monday's Daily.) All the schools of the county are now in session, the last one being ushered in this morning at the Pine Tree Lumber company plant, with Miss Ava Moore as teacher. There are still some of the schools on the high desert which have not opened, but no teacher has been assigned to these places, and no school will be held this year.

Reports from the county superintendent's office are to the effect that practically every school in the county has shown a marked gain in attendance. In the Bend schools, Superintendent Moore has stated that the number of pupils attending the Reid school at the close of the week last Friday afternoon was in excess of the number in the building during the same period last year, despite the fact that the eighth grade has been made a part of the high school and is now attending the high school proper. There are from 40 to 50 pupils who have been changed to the high school, showing a gain in attendance at the Reid school over last year of approximately that many pupils.

T. H. Foley, Chairman for War Work Relief Drive, Returns from Portland.

(From Tuesday's Daily.) Deschutes county has been allotted a quota of $6,500 in the war relief work drive, which has been set for some time in November. Crook county's quota is $4,150 and Jefferson $3,050. This announcement was made by T. H. Foley, chairman for Deschutes county, who returned from Portland this morning, where he attended a meeting of the war workers of the state yesterday, which was held for the purpose of determining the manner in which the drive is to be carried on. With Mr. Foley at the meeting from Bend were J. P. Hennessey and D. P. Hunter.

Plans for the drive are to be announced later.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

TWO RANCHES ARE PURCHASED

J. B. MINOR COMPLETES DEAL WITH TWO PROMINENT LIVE STOCK COMPANIES IN THE COUNTY FOR SUM OF $18,400.

(From Friday's Daily.) Through deals closed yesterday afternoon and this morning two Deschutes county alfalfa ranches have changed hands at a total consideration of $18,400. One of the ranches involved in the sale, which was made by J. B. Minor, included the Van Matre holdings at Cloverdale, consisting of 160 acres of irrigated land, which was taken over by Black Brothers & Harris, stock raisers of Hampton Butte, and will be used by these gentlemen in their stock industry for the production of alfalfa.

The second ranch sold was the Will Davis farm. This was purchased by the Hampton Livestock company, and as in the case of the Van Matre place will be used for stock raising.

DEALERS MUST RETAIN PRICES

CANNOT SELL OLD STOCKS OF SUGAR AT INCREASED PRICE—DIFFERENCE OF 2 CENTS PER POUND.

(From Saturday's Daily.) Merchants with old stocks of sugar to dispose of must sell this product to the consumer at the old price, according to a telegram received by H. C. Hartranft, county food administrator, from the state office of W. B. Ayer, this morning. All dealers have been notified of this ruling by Mr. Hartranft's order, and no one is permitted to make a charge for old stocks of sugar at the new prices.

These new prices, which represent an increase of 2 cents per pound over the former 10 cents per pound, become effective with each individual merchant as soon as his old stock of sugar becomes exhausted and he pays to the government the new price.

It has been brought to the attention of the state food administrator's office that some merchants, taking advantage of the new price, have raised the price on their old stocks accordingly. In such cases as these, according to Mr. Ayer, the county food administrators are instructed to require these merchants to refund to the consumer this overcharge. A penalty for not complying with the request is to be imposed.

"TOMMY" RYAN IS TO SPEAK HERE ON 27TH

Mr. Ryan spoke here several times at the time of the last loan drive and made a very favorable impression.

WILL TAKE UP NIGHT SCHOOL

MEETING TO BE HELD AT THE HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM NEXT WEDNESDAY EVENING TO COMPLETE ARRANGEMENT.

(From Monday's Daily.) A second meeting for the purpose of taking up the operation of a night school in Bend will be held at the high school auditorium next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Superintendent Moore announced this morning. Final details of the opening of a night session in the city will be completed at that time.

A similar meeting was held several weeks ago, at which time the attendance was so light that little attention was given the matter, it being thought that there would not be a sufficient number interested to pay for the trouble and expense of maintenance. Mr. Moore has stated that since that time, however, so many inquiries have been directed to him regarding the institution of such a school that the directors and school officials have completed the arrangements for a night course, the course of study having already been made public.

It is being especially urged that all those who are desirous of taking up the night course be in attendance at the meeting on Wednesday evening.

NAVY EVER ON THE ALERT

Case of Carelessness at Sea is a Thing That Commanders Punish With Necessary Severity.

With not a light showing the transports plowed the Atlantic, bringing American soldiers to France, writes a naval officer in the Saturday Evening Post. Lookouts high and low, under navy discipline, searched the seas for hostile periscopes. The convoy, the apex of which was a big cruiser, was invisible in the black night. The vigilance of the navy training protected the soldiers, sleeping with their life belts on.

Suddenly out shot a bright light on the leading transport; a merchant sailor, one Jesus Fernandez Mendoza, a Spanish fireman, flashed an electric torch, fumbling about the deck. The light could be seen for miles. Instantly a navy lookout reported the occurrence to the navy officer in charge of the ship. A sharp command, a scuffle on deck, a bluejacket kicking the torch overboard stayed the Spaniard's desire to fondle an electric flashlight in the submarine zone. Five days' solitary confinement ended the lesson. Showing a light on a man-of-war at night in time of war is a court-martial offense; even lighting a cigarette or having matches. The navy commander, in absolute charge, enforces military discipline on a merchant vessel carrying troops and punishes the guilty.

Because of the navy, criminal carelessness and conduct involving the safety of thousands of men came to naught and a possible catastrophe was averted. The navy was in command.

SAYS RISK IS EXAGGERATED

Official of Explosive Factory Denies That Occupation is as Dangerous as is Generally Believed.

In a paper read before a medical association in the east, Dr. W. G. Hudson, medical director of E. I. DuPont de Nemours & Co., manufacturers of explosives, recently made some interesting statements concerning the risks connected with the manufacture of powerful explosives. He asserted that the dangers of that industry were greatly exaggerated. As a matter of fact, railroadings shows much higher injury and death rates than the manufacture of explosives. Of the accidents which occur in explosive factories only a small percentage are actually caused by explosives. Four-fifths of the accidents are due to carelessness or negligence of employees who disregard the precautions necessary wherever men are working with tools and machinery. By increasing the share of work done by machinery and reducing the number of workers in proportion to the increased use of mechanical appliances, the manufacturers of explosives are striving to diminish the hazards connected with their business, says Popular Science Monthly.

ORR TELLS OF DIVER FIGHTS

THREE ARE ENCOUNTERED IN VOYAGE ACROSS ATLANTIC BY SHIP ON WHICH BEND BOY IS SERVING.

(From Monday's Daily.) Chasing submarines in the middle of the Atlantic ocean, with the possibilities of seeing one of the divers put out of commission is the experience of Luther Orr, a former Bend boy, who tells of the diver menace in a letter to his mother, Mrs. L. L. Orr, of this city. The letter was written during Orr's fourth trip over from France. The letter reads: "I am on my fourth trip across and the time seems short when we are at sea."

"One evening about 5 o'clock as we were coming from — to — on the Atlantic coast, while I was on the weather deck washing my teeth and talking to some of the boys all at once one of them exclaimed: 'See the wake!' Looking aft we could see the wake of a submarine just about one thousand yards behind us. We all ran to our battle stations, getting there just as one of our top side guns started firing. They fired seven shots and every one of them struck right in the wake. Believe me, we did not see any more of the sub. They had had enough, but we did not wait to see what had happened, but beat it."

"On another day we saw a periscope up ahead of us. This time we went straight for it at full speed and it had to submerge to get out of our way. We will get a sub yet if they don't get us."

"The other morning we had more excitement. I was awakened by the general alarm and running to my station I could see the wake of our periscope about 1000 yards off our bow. We opened fire, firing ten shots and most every one of them hit square in the wake. When we arrived at the place where the submarine had been we dropped a depth bomb and, believe me, it sure did tear a hole in the ocean. Afterward we could see oil upon the water, which led us to believe that the U-boat had been destroyed, although we were not certain."
