HOFF DISAPPOINTED AT POSTPONEMENT

(From Friday's Daily.)

One of the most disappointed men in Bend at the order for the postponement of the State Federation convention is O. P. Hoff, state labor commissioner, who has been in the city since yesterday morning. Mr. Hoff came to Bend for the purpose of attending the grand conclave of the Knights Templar yesterday, and expected to remain over until Monday and attend the labor convention. When the news of the postponement arrived this afternoon he made preparations for his departure tomorrow morning, or in the evening at the latest.

ROOMS ALL FULL.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Hotels in the city have been filled during the present week. Every available room has been brought into use for the accommodation of those attending the Knights Templar conclave and the session of the district court. With the state federation convention but three days ahead, the managers see little relief in sight until the middle of next week.

MONASTERIES HIGH IN AIR

Greek Religious Buildings Constructed in the Fourteenth Century, Are Difficult of Access.

Perched lightly on the dizzy summits of the cliffs of Meteora are the monasteries of the air. They are simple buildings, these old Greek monasteries, austere and unadorned, and if they are not literally resting on air certainly they are as far as is practicable from the earth and its influences.

To reach the monasteries it seems as if an airplane would be needed, for they are built each on a separate rock several hundred feet high. The cliff sides rise in perpendicular steepness, which would baffle the most daring of mountain climbers. Only when the cliffs are nearly approached can the tiny ladders and ropes which bind the peaks to the valley be seen. The old monasteries were built, they tell us, in the fourteenth century, yet no substitute for the medieval method of ascent has ever been made. Convenience and comfort are not sought by the monks, and tourists like the novelty of climbing the frail swinging ladder or of being hauled up in a jolting cage propelled by a rope.

Some of the seven monasteries may not be visited by the public; the halls and altars of the others are open to the inspection of those who will risk their necks for the privilege of the sight. Once, the monks say, there were over twenty of these monasteries among the clouds, but the fate of all but the seven is hidden in mystery and their very existence is doubtful.—Chicago Daily News.
