

KAISER IS NOT NOW A MENACE

NO ABILITY TO THROW WORLD INTO WAR.

British Papers Are Demanding His Extradition and Exilement to St. Helena—Will Be Discussed at Conference.

By Ed L. Keen
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, Nov. 13.—Joint action by the powers will be necessary to send the former kaiser to Elba or St. Helena, or to subject him to criminal prosecution, it was pointed out by the British officials today.

There is no anxiety felt that Wilhelm will again interfere with the peace of the world. He is regarded as impotent for further evil, considering the drastic armistice provisions.

The international situation in Germany is believed to be precluding any slight pro-kaiser sentiment that may linger there.

Count Wilhelm Hohenzollern, as he now calls himself, is helpless and hopeless as far as a "Napoleonic" return from Elba is concerned. The former kaiser lacks the genius of Bonaparte in his ability to sway the people. British papers are, however, demanding the seizure of Wilhelm's person and his commitment to exile.

WILL DISCUSS EXTRADITION.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The whole question of the former kaiser's extradition will be discussed at the peace conference, which is likely to be held at Versailles before the beginning of the new year.

NOVEMBER 11 VICTORY DAY

JOINT RESOLUTION IS INTRODUCED TO SET IT ASIDE AS NATIONAL HOLIDAY—FRANCE HAS TAKEN MOVE.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—A joint resolution declaring November 11 as a national holiday and designated as Victory day was introduced in the house today by Representative Hicks. Resolutions making that day a holiday, commemorating the end of the war, have been introduced in the French chamber, according to a dispatch received from Paris today.

Woman's Dream.

Today one of Olive Schreiner's dreams is coming true. It is the one that symbolizes the new woman and is called "Life's Gifts."
"I saw a woman sleeping. In her sleep she dreamed Life stood before her and held in each hand a gift—in the one, Love; in the other, Freedom. And she said to the woman, 'Choose,' and the woman waited long and she said 'Freedom.' And Life said, 'Thou hast well chosen. If thou hadst said 'Love,' I should have given thee that thou didst ask for, and I should have gone from thee and returned no more. Now the day will come when I shall return. On that day I shall bring both gifts in one hand.' I heard the woman laugh in her sleep."

Transferring the Bad Luck.

A visitor on a British battleship was dining with a group of officers when his fork accidentally struck a glass tumbler. As the glass resounded the officers shouted as one man, "Boche." On asking for an explanation the visitor was told that the ringing of a glass meant bad luck. One officer declared that on one ship he formerly commanded every time a glass was rung a man fell overboard. This is why officers now cry "Boche" when a table accident occurs, they hoping to transfer their bad luck to the enemy.

One Way of Looking at It.

His captain told me this story about him. A shell had just exploded near him and his right arm hung in shreds. Immediate amputation was necessary. When he came to, he looked around and waved his bandaged stump.
"Well, anyway," he said, "here's a ticket to the States!"—From a Cross Scrap Book.

You Can't Beat 'Em!

It was his first glimpse of Paris; he was pretty busy absorbing, and noting his linguistic teeth on the innumerable French signs.
Suddenly he stopped before a little sign legend over a doorway.
"Ecole de Garçons!" he exclaimed.
"Can you beat them? They've even got a school for waiters!"

PROBABLE ERROR IN INTERPRETATION

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.)
PARIS, Nov. 13.—The newspaper Le Matin, describing the arrival of the German plenipotentiaries the night they were presented to the French lines, Thursday, Nov. 7, says Major Bourbon said to General Winterfeldt on behalf of General Debnay: "This misunderstanding must immediately be cleared up. The army this afternoon received three German parliamentarians, who assured us the armistice had been signed. Now operations are continuing." General Winterfeldt is reported to have replied: "Undoubtedly there has been an error in interpretation."

NOT AN UNMIXED BLESSING

Washington Man Rejoiced Over "Autoleless Sunday" Until Awful Thought Came to His Mind.

"Something is always happening to take the joy out of life," he said, mournfully.
"Something always happens, or somebody always says something, and if they don't I have to think of something myself," he continued.

"When I saw that news about the supply of gasoline being short, with probably not a month's supply left, I rejoiced. You see, I don't own an automobile, and what is more, my nerves must be sensitive, because they worry me.

"They awake me at midnight with a terrific banging and snorting, and disturb my slumbers at six o'clock in the morning with mingled roars and explosions like unto antediluvian monsters.

"If I had my way I'd restrict the use of automobiles from nine o'clock in the morning to six o'clock at night. But—well, when I thought the gasoline was giving out, I must confess I rejoiced. Selfish? Maybe. But I had no sooner rejoiced than I thought—"

The mournful man smiled sorrowfully.
"I thought," he said, "that with all the automobiles out of business, there would be just that many more people to ride on the street cars."—Washington Star.

ALL HAVE THEIR FAVORITES

Most Novelists Admit Decided Preference for Certain Children of Their Brain.

It is no secret that Mowgli, the wolf boy of the "Jungle Books," is Mr. Kipling's prime favorite, or that Rodney Stone, that fine fighter and gallant Englishman, takes precedence even of Sherlock Holmes in the affections of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

Thomas Hardy much prefers to consider himself a poet rather than a story writer, but among the many characters he has created he loves Tess best of all; and it is rumored that H. G. Wells has a sneaking affection for his Tono Bungay.

It is often difficult to account for prejudices, for likes and dislikes. The mother often loves her least worthy lad best. Mark Twain doted on Huckleberry Finn, Dickens had a soft place in his heart for the Artful Dodger, and it is said that W. W. Jacobs loves best his sly, diplomatic, cool poacher and general scoundrel, Bob Pretty.

Jerome K. Jerome has never lost his first love for "Three Men in a Boat." It made his name known in two hemispheres, and he feels he owes it a debt of gratitude.

Allan Quartermain is an easy first in the heart of Sir H. Rider Haggard; Marie Corelli's favorite among her own works is "The Manxman," and Sir Hall Calne's "The Manxman," while nobody else can ever take the place of Babe, the gipsy lass of "The Little Minister," in the love of Sir James Barrie.

Fast Reclaiming Desert.

Men have begun to reclaim the Californian desert by irrigation. The imperial valley is the first word in the bringing back of the waters to the thirsty land, but it is by no means the last. Towns like Brawley and Imperial now stand where the mesquite once grew and the coyote howled. The limit of man's progress in the valley is sharply defined. The "field" of alfalfa or grain faces the desert, the one wearing a fierce scowl, the other a gentle smile. Close by live the desert's conquerors, big upstanding folk, amid the softness of an eternal summer. The irrigation canals flow musically everywhere. The houses are ringed round with cloth-screened verandas, which do duty also as living and sleeping places. The people always seem to be on the defensive against the desert. But they have made it blossom like the rose, and are making it pay. Soon the desert of lost hopes, of burning heats, of intolerable mirages, and arid solitudes will be a land of teeming thousands and of plenty.

Famous Soldier Poet of Italy.

Gabriele d'Annunzio, Italy's famous poet, whose flying feats are the admiration of his countrymen, has not the slightest fear of death, and he has a presentiment that he will die in action. To a friend who interviewed him he remarked: "My worldly life is ended. What can I do after the war? I shall write no more. Every time I go off on an expedition I hope it will be my last. That is the reason for my fearlessness. The finest end I wish for is to die for my country."

Pudgy's Bravery.

"Pudgy" is a Y. M. C. A. man, well known to many American soldiers in France. He recently spent a night in a front-line dugout. While he was there a deafening barrage rained around the dugout for a full half an hour.

Everyone wanted to know afterward how Pudgy liked it.
"I fear," he confessed, and the everlasting smile broadened as he spoke, "that I'm no braver now than before."

Proper Pirate.

"You seem to be rather proud of being a pirate," remarked the trusty lieutenant.
"I am," replied Captain Kidd. "I'm a regular pirate, I am. When I want to sink a ship I superintend the job in person. I don't sit at home and send a lot of scared sailors out to take chances all by themselves in U-boats."

U. S. READY TO HELP GERMANY

WILL SEND FOODSTUFFS IF ASSURANCE IS GIVEN THAT ORDER AND EQUAL DISTRIBUTION WILL BE MAINTAINED.

By Robert J. Bender
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—President Wilson is ready to consider favorably supplying Germany foodstuffs if he is assured that order will prevail and be maintained. This reply has been sent to Germany, answering her appeal for food. The only other condition placed upon the matter was that there would be a guarantee of equitable distribution.

WILHELM ORDINARY COUNT.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 13.—The former kaiser has taken the name of Count Hohenzollern and will probably buy a large estate and remain in Holland indefinitely.

OREGON VOTERS FOR FAIR PLAY

and saddled onto the people legislation which will reap its own dismal harvest during the next biennium.

The defeat of the $940,000 tax bill, which will throw the finances of the state into a condition of chaos, shows better than anything the iniquity of the 6 per cent. limitation bill. While the people themselves voted against the $940,000 taxation measure there is little question that they did so misguidedly. The state officials familiar with state finances had little, in fact no, leeway for advising the people as to the conditions.

What little publicity was given emanated through the few sources which maintain correspondents at the state capitol and in many instances their reports were picked up by newspapers unfriendly to the Withycombe administration and barbed and distorted to make it appear that the $940,000 measure was put onto the ballot in the effort to maintain a military police organization as a political adjunct for the governor. It may be said frankly that the military police is not a popular organization throughout the state and this coupling of the military police with the tax measure was no doubt the ruling factor in killing the measure.

The fact remains, and to those who are closely familiar with state affairs, it is a fact, that defeat of the tax measure will cripple the institutions, put state wards already in the institutions on a possible basis of cold and hunger, and will throw back onto society scores of insane and feeble-minded and tubercular who should be under the watch and ward of the state. These are facts which are too plain to be disputed by any sane those who have no wish to investigate the true status of affairs, and they unquestionably are conditions which have grown up without the administration being responsible for them.

The 6 per cent. limitation amendment is in the main responsible because of its inelasticity and because it places the state in a position of having a purse similar to that of a few years ago. Any householder knows that it costs 100 per cent. more to live now than it did two or three years ago. The state is not immune from advancing costs and Walter Pierce and his gang of has-beens were responsible to a large extent for what the state is confronting now and for what the next legislature will have to go through with. The next biennium will almost certainly necessitate the calling of a special election, which in itself will take a cool $100,000 out of the taxpayers' pockets without the taxpayers receiving anything in return but the privilege of voting. It is certain that an effort will be made to repeal the 6 per cent. limitation amendment. Perhaps that, too, will fail, but if it does the lame, the halt and the blind may expect to suffer in the cold, and the credit of the state will become as badly crippled as any of the state's wards.

To meet the conditions as far as he can, Governor Withycombe has announced that he will cut the military police down to 25 men, has instructed Adjutant General Beebe to cut down his office force, and will undoubtedly in the near future institute other slices in expenditure programs. These will not help much, but they may help a little and give another slice of bread apiece to some of the helpless who are on the hands of the state.

Head Salesman Spent Hundreds

Burton Suffered for Twenty Years Before Finding the Right Medicine.

In speaking of the marvelous way in which Tanlac has relieved him of a long standing case of rheumatism, B. E. Burton, head salesman in the wholesale fruit and vegetable department at Lutey Bros., Butte, Mont., living at 662 South Montana street, recently said:
"It is simply astonishing that just a few bottles of Tanlac should fix me up in almost no time, after I had spent almost every dollar I earned in the last twenty years trying to get relief from that awful rheumatism."

Before coming to Butte Mr. Burton lived for ten years in Spokane, Wash., where he was salesman for the Imperial Trading company of that city.

"I tell you what," he continued, "I have gone through all stages of rheumatism, and the agonies I have had to endure simply cannot be described. The trouble first came on me about twenty years ago. My shoulders, knees and ankles gave me the most worry and ached so at times that I hardly had any use for myself. About three years ago it got so bad that I was laid up in bed for six long months, and when I got up again I had to go about on crutches for three months, and till recently I never did get it out of my system, although I have spent hundreds of dollars in trying to get straightened out. I went to Hot Springs, Arkansas, but without result, and then I tried the mud baths nearer home, but got no benefit from that treatment either. A little while ago I felt it coming on pretty bad again. My appetite left me, nothing tasted right, I was constipated and suffered from awful headaches every few days. The pain in my shoulders and knees was so agonizing that I could hardly sleep and I would wake up six or seven times during the night racked with pain. Why, at the time I started taking Tanlac I couldn't raise my arms as high as my shoulders to save my life and was unable to put on my coat without somebody helping me, and my knees were so stiff and hurt so bad I could hardly walk.

"After reading so much about Tanlac I decided to try it and I hadn't finished my first bottle before the stiffness began to leave my joints, and now I never suffer a bit of pain or inconvenience. My second bottle gave me a whacking big appetite, that constipation is relieved and I never have a headache. I sleep like a log all night, and am lucky if I wake up in time for breakfast before going to work. I certainly am glad to endorse Tanlac and only hope my experience with this wonderful medicine will help someone else who may be going through what I did."

Tanlac is sold in Bend by the Owl Pharmacy and in Sisters by Geo. E. Aitken.—Adv.
