

PROHIBITION FOR AMERICA NOW ASSURED

NEBRASKA LAST STATE NEEDED.

DRY AMENDMENT WINS

Latest Addition to U. S. Constitution Will Go Into Effect January 16, 1920—Distillers Expected to Contest Decision.

(By United Press to The Bend Bulletin.) LINCOLN, Jan. 16.—Nebraska ratified the prohibition amendment to the constitution today, being the 36th and final state necessary to make prohibition a part of the American constitution.

The house ratified the amendment by a vote of 98 to 0. The joint resolution went back to the senate for the concurrence of that body, the original resolution having been amended by the house.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16.—Prohibition became part of the basic law of the United States today. Ratification of the federal amendment by the Nebraska legislature makes that measure the 18th amendment to the federal constitution.

All but a half dozen of the 48 states are expected to adopt the amendment in the next few weeks but the action of Nebraska today gives the ratification of three-fourths of the states, the number necessary to administer John Barleycorn the K.-O. punch.

One Year Left for Liquor. One year from today every saloon, brewery, distillery and wine press in the land must close its doors, unless, as now seems likely, they are already closed at that time by war prohibition, which goes into effect next July 1, and stays until completion of demobilization.

The amendment which outlaws liquor in this country reads: "Section 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof, for beverage purposes are hereby prohibited.

"Sec. 2. The congress and the several states have the concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation. "Sec. 3. The article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by the legislatures of the several states as provided by the constitution within seven years of the date of submission hereof to the states by congress."

This is the amendment adopted by congress December 18, 1917, and ratified by 36 states a little more than one year later.

Amendment Wide in Scope. And here are some of the things that the amendment will do:

Wipe out at a stroke 236 distilleries, 992 breweries and over 300,000 saloons and wholesale liquor establishments, forcing their employees to seek other jobs.

Cut off from these persons annual incomes totalling more than $70,000,000 in pre-war times.

Cut off from the United States treasury a source of taxation counted upon for an even billion dollars in the first drafts of the new revenue bill and millions in additional incomes to state treasuries.

Remove the liquor question from national, state and city politics for all time and keep decreasing city, state and federal expense by decreasing law violations.

The fight on liquor, triumphant today is as old as the constitution itself. It raised its head early in the 19th century and was looked upon as "another crank notion."

But it gathered strength, churches took it up, doctors followed and then came organizations of anti-liquor societies and the Anti-Saloon league and others.

In the middle of the 19th century Maine went dry. Kansas followed. At the end of the Civil war the little band of anti-slave agitators who had won their fight seriously considered turning to the prohibition battle.

About 1900 came the "militant" stage in the person of Carrie Nation of Kansas, probably the most picturesque figure the fight ever developed.

Ten years later the crusade against liquor had grown from the "ravings

HONORED BY FOUR NATIONS

Wearing decorations from France, Russia, Belgium and Montenegro, Mrs. Nina Larrey Duryea, president of the Yuraya War Relief in France, has come home. Mrs. Duryea was the first American woman to cross the battlefields of the Somme, Argonne and Arennes. She returned to this country to stimulate the interest of the organization's 72 branches throughout the United States in "the greatly increased need of the impoverished French people." of cranks" into an irresistible movement that swept the country.

But John Barleycorn will try to stage a "comeback."

Distillers are already planning a fight on the amendment in the courts on the ground that it was not adopted by two-thirds of the whole congress and that the seven-year limitation in it invalidates the measure.

Dryers say they are confident that neither of these contentions will hold and on their side are preparing legislation carrying heavy penalties for violation of prohibition.

A special agency in the internal revenue bureau will probably be asked.

LOOK TO WORKERS' HEALTH

Labor Department, It is Announced, Will Extend Efforts into Welfare Lines.

Establishment of uniform working conditions in all districts is the purpose of the working conditions service of the department of labor, the formation of which was announced by Secretary Wilson. There will be three branches of the new service, industrial, hygiene and medicine, which will direct the formation of sanitary health codes and will be supervised by the United States public health service, the division of labor administration, to deal with questions between employers and employees, and the division of safety engineering to deal with mechanical safety.

The national safety council and the bureau of standards have agreed to cooperate with the new service. Grant Hamilton has been named director, and Florence C. Thorne assistant director.

MADRAS WINS IN BASKETBALL

GAME ENDS IN TIE BUT FIVE MINUTES' EXTRA PLAY RESULTS IN 29 TO 25 SCORE FOR VISITING TEAM.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Playing against the Madras team at the Bend Amateur Athletic club gymnasium Saturday night, the Bend high school basketball five lost by the narrow margin of 29 to 25. The local players led by a single point at the end of the first half, but shortly after the opening of the second period the visitors took a slight lead and managed to maintain it up to the end of the game, when a 23 to 23 tie necessitated five minutes of extra play.

Sanders, holding down a forward job on the Bend five, was the leading point getter for the losers, making 13 of the total score. He played the floor well, but missed a number of good openings at the basket in the first part of the contest, developing a deadly accuracy, however, later in the game. Coynes, although playing at guard, found time to knock down 10 points, Curtis making the remaining two.

For all round playing, the work of Cook, forward for Madras, was the feature of the game. Repeatedly he lost his guard long enough to send the ball through the iron hoop, and his only weakness was his inability to shoot fouls. This department was finally turned over to J. Young, resulting in a considerable addition to the score. Fouls, it should be mentioned, were plentiful, chiefly for progressing, and for more than two men playing the ball. They were strictly called by Childs and Snook, the officials.
