PLANS DRAWN FOR CLOVERDALE HALL

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 11.—A fine large crowd gathered at the Plainview school house last Saturday evening to discuss plans for a community hall. After a short entertainment of songs, dancing and jokes given by a local colored troupe, H. A. Scoggin acted as speaker and presented plans for an organization, which were followed by an open discussion. A. W. Armstrong, A. E. Hoss, M. W. Knickerbocker, Mr. Dawson and P. Van Tassel were appointed as a committee to make estimates and recommendations for size and cost of a suitable building. Later in the evening the committee recommended a building 40 by 60 feet and estimated the cost around $400. Practically everyone in the vicinity is willing to donate work for the new building. The Plainview Progressive club was the name chosen for the new organization. H. A. Scoggin was elected chairman and Ray Armstrong secretary. Various committees were appointed to look after the different divisions of the club work. A lunch of sandwiches and coffee was served by the ladies.

Ray Armstrong returned home last Wednesday from Camp Lewis after spending nearly six months in the service. Ray is the first to return home of the eight Plainview boys who were in the U. S. army.

Reading advertisements has helped to make this a united country.

Jim Hawkins props his feet on the rose-festooned porch railing in an Oregon suburb and reads the same motor car advertisement that Cousin Peter is studying as he rides home from work in the New York subway. In Arizona you can buy the same tooth paste and tobacco that are used by the folks in Maine.

You can meet up with anybody in the United States and quickly get on a conversational footing because you both read the same advertisements.

Advertising is the daily guide to what's good to buy.

Advertisements give you the latest news from the front line of business progress.

Reading advertisements enables you to get more for your money because they tell you where, what and when to buy.

California fruit growers advertise their oranges and lemons to the people of the East. New Hampshire factories make ice cream freezers for Texas households.

There can be no division in a country so bound together by taste, habit and custom.

And it is a well-known fact that advertised goods are more reliable and better value than the unadvertised kinds.
