THE SOLDIER AND THE CITIZEN.

The whole program of reconstruction and readjustment is one that revolves around the question of labor.

What can we do to furnish employment to the returned and returning soldier—and at the same time keep those who have employment at work also?

There is little use in asking Oregon manufacturers and employers to take on more men, if they are already loaded with their full requirements.

If our factories can sell only the goods already being made and the demand does not increase for their products, how can more people be given work?

It is a question that every citizen can answer and be of practical help.

Buy the goods that our Oregon factories are making.

Increase the demand for our products and the demand for men to make them increases at the same time.

Oregon manufacturers employ Oregon citizens and our factories are better in many ways than any to be found elsewhere.

And to fail to buy the products is to discredit our citizens as being capable of turning out products equal to other places.

It is not a question of sympathy, jobs or subsidies.

It is simply a practical question that every citizen of Oregon has in his or her hands to answer and adjust.

If you want to really aid the movement to employ more men, then buy the goods that these men manufacture and thus increase the demand.

VACCINATE WITH THRIFT.

Vaccinate the nation with thrift as a prophylactic against "Bolshevism" is the appeal of Governor James K. Lynch of the Federal Reserve bank in a letter sent recently to all bankers of the Twelfth federal reserve district thanking them for their aid during the war and urging continued support until the "job is finished."

"Wars are generally followed by pestilence," wrote Governor Lynch. "Spanish influenza, starting in Europe, raged a year before we gave it much attention. Working westward, it attacked our physical health and thousands of our people died."

"There is another pestilence raging in Europe which is a menace to our financial and national health. It is called 'Bolshevism.' It has Russia by the throat. Anarchy sits on the throne with a bloody sword in one hand and a flaming torch in the other. This disease is also working westward. Already it is knocking at our doors. No quarantine will keep it out. Our best remedy is the War Savings stamp. Let us vaccinate the whole nation with thrift."

"It is fundamental that no man will seek to overthrow the government that owes him money. Banks should encourage the sale of War Savings stamps. As the heritage of war let us permanently secure to the American people the blessings of thrift."

THE POOL ROOMS.

We wonder if the agitation against permitting young men of 18 years and over to enter pool rooms does not come of a somewhat narrow vision.

The Bulletin is not interested in any pool room. We are quite ready to agree that time spent in a pool room by men, young or old, is wasted; that everyone of them could better use his spare moments in various other ways, but the fact remains that they do not care to do so, and they do want the recreation and the companionship which they find only in places like these where men congregate.

There is nothing immoral in the games of billiards and pool. The people of Oregon, indeed, have even said that these games may be enjoyed on Sunday. The objection, as we understand it, is that in pool rooms young men are subject to "contaminating influences" and it is believed by forbidding them entrance they will be kept out of danger. Let us agree that the influence is not the most elevating in the world. On the other hand it is by no means as degrading as its opponents would argue. And it does provide the meeting place, the club opportunity, that the gregarious nature of man demands.

So far as young men between the ages of 18 and 21 are concerned they are not going to be made any better or any worse if permitted to enter pool rooms. By the time they are 18 they are through the high school and are either at college for nine months of the year or working for a living. Is a worker to be denied the recreation and the social contact the pool room provides?

Young men of 18 were taken into the army and stood up to the fight as well as those a few years older. Are they to come back from France or the training camp to be told that while old enough to fight they are still too young to play pool? The 18-year-old may marry, he may support himself and a family by his work, he may sail ships and man guns. Why not give him his club if he wants to use it?

THE CAMP GROUND.

Having frequently urged the importance of providing a camping ground for summer tourists in the city limits and having taken a part in obtaining such facilities in the one season a camp ground was maintained by the Commercial club, we are now taking the matter up for the coming summer.

Everywhere the desirability of establishing a free camp ground of this nature is coming to be recognized, and their institution is the rule rather than the exception. Some cities have even gone so far as to bond themselves to provide suitable locations and the necessary facilities in connection. Tourist guides indicate free camp grounds wherever they exist, and within the past month The Bulletin has been asked to report to an automobile tour manager whether such a camp ground was provided in the city of Bend.

Good roads mean much to the automobile tourist, but not everything. There must be good hotels for many, and for many others pleasant camping places. We have the hotels, we are getting the roads. If we provide a camp ground we shall have attractions for all and with the site proposed one of the most beautiful places a traveler can find we ought to see people coming and staying a little longer with us than in the ordinary stopping places on their journey.

"MOST LIKE AN UNCLE."

Somewhere among the verses written by James W. Foley there is one about a boy and his "Pa." "Billy Clark's Pa." as we remember the name. The poem, which is an account by another boy of the many good times Billy and his father have together, ends with the line, "He's 'most like an uncle, he likes Billy so." Of course, this is just a boy's way of saying that in the case of Billy and his "Pa" there is none of the sometimes unfortunate reserve that exists between father and son, the restraint that a boy feels in the presence of his father, the inability of the father, in spite of all his affection, to get that affection 'across' to the boy in a way that will create mutual understanding. With an uncle the reserve vanishes and there remains only the affection, the comradeship and the understanding. That is why the boy of the poem says that "Billy's Pa" is almost like an uncle.

As we see it, the purpose of "Father and Son" week, now being observed by the Boy Scouts, is to create just that same feeling. We trust that it does. Every father would like to be "most like an uncle" to his boy.

MALHEUR LAKE.

Every effort should be made by those interested in preserving the bird life of the state to insure the passage of the bill coding title to Malheur lake to the United States. The lake is now a game bird refuge, but it is still possible for the state to take action that will destroy its usefulness so far as bird life is concerned, and a company of capitalists is endeavoring to obtain permission to drain it and use the land so reclaimed for agricultural purposes. If the title is ceded to the federal government this plan will be defeated.

With so much land available for agriculture all through the west there can be no especial need for the reclamation of this section. Indeed, it is pointed out that even if drained the lake bed would be unsuited to raising crops because of the quantity of alkali present. As a bird refuge, on the contrary, it is ideal. Let it be left so.

There is a long time ahead of the world when it will want for its education and enjoyment every bit of natural life it can find. Much has gone already and is ir retrievable. Almost too late we started to save the buffalo. The passenger pigeon is gone in spite of its former almost incredible abundance. In Africa the British are seeing to it that whole species are not exterminated by the hunter.

Here in Oregon let us do what we can to preserve forever a thing that once lost we can never regain.

The groundhog who went back to sleep out of the six weeks more of winter must have been startled when he heard the thunder last night.

The employment of 100 or more men in railroad construction by The Shevlin-Hixon Company will help the labor situation.

Tonight for a little time forget the Bolshevik and the Red peril and meditate on the life of Abraham Lincoln, born February 12, 1809. The country that was his, that saw him rise from a Kentucky log cabin to the White House, is not going to be led astray.

Referring again to the question of permitting young men of 18 or older to enter pool rooms, we should be glad to have letters from the people setting forth their views for or against either side.

Connecticut is the only state to vote against the prohibition amendment. Refuses to add a dash of nutmeg, as it were.

"Wonderful," was Irvin Cobb's comment on Bend, and "wonderful" is our description of his lecture last night.

People are waiting to see building materials go down before they start to put buildings up.

Fifteen Years Ago This Week

(From the files of The Bulletin for February 13, 1915.)

Registration books have been open since the first Monday in January, but only 20 voters have registered in this precinct.

J. N. Hunter, Neil Smith and Millson J. and Elwood W. Roberts returned Tuesday noon from a trip to Silver Lake to make proof on timber claims.

William Stephens reports eight inches of snow at his homestead on the Tamalo.

The Baptist Sunday school has a new organ of fine tone and finish which will greatly help the work of the organization.

Deer are very numerous at the edge of the desert. Ora Hunter started three on one trip with the wagr wagon and A. C. Lucas and Ralph Caldwell saw two on Sunday.

Mrs. A. M. Drake is slowly recovering from a severe attack of la grippe.

Dr. Charles S. Edwards, formerly of Bend, has been appointed city physician of Prineville, succeeding Dr. J. H. Roseburg.

The news is brought down from Silver Lake that 2200 head of sheep belonging to Benham Brothers, near Christmas Lake, were slain by four men who invaded the corral. Two men guarded the herder and the other two slaughtered the sheep, at first shooting and later using clubs when their ammunition gave out. The sheep were brought in from California, and cattlemen, it is said, were determined not to have them on their range.

The school board hopes to have another teacher in time to reopen after Washington's birthday.

Rena West has sold his interest in the Jolly Corner saloon to Chas. Brock.

NOT GUILTY, VERDICT ON GAMBLING CHARGE

Bend Men, in City Court, Make Good Claims That They Were Not Playing Poker.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Charged with violation of the anti-gambling laws, S. P. Barclay, L. V. Howell and Dr. J. H. Connarn were found not guilty at the close of the hearing held before Judge D. H. Peoples in municipal court late Saturday afternoon. H. H. De Armond and Charles W. Erskine represented the defendants, C. S. Benson appearing for the prosecution.

The defense was based on the fact that when the three were arrested Saturday morning by Chief of Police L. A. W. Nixon no money was in sight. Testimony was given to show that Mr. Howell and Dr. Connarn had gone to the Barclay house to purchase a fur rug, and that after the money had been paid over a social game of cards was indulged in. They were engaged in this fashion when Chief Nixon entered the house, they testified.

BEND MEN TO-SERVE ON CIVIC COMMITTEE

Mayor J. A. Eastes and H. H. De Armond received letters today inviting them to act as members of the general advisory committee of 50 of the Oregon State Conference on City Planning and Housing. The invitation is extended by Mayor George L. Baker of Portland, president of the conference, and will be accepted by both Bend men.

FIREHOUSE PLANS TO BE SUBMITTED

Building Committee Will Recommend Two-Story Brick Structure at Next Council Meeting.

(From Monday's Daily.) General plans for a building to accommodate Bend's new fire equipment were formulated this morning at a meeting of G. H. Baker and D. G. McPherson, members of the special building committee appointed Friday, with Mayor J. A. Eastes and Architect Lee Thomas. It was decided that the building should be of brick, about 36x36 feet, the upper story to include a council room and quarters for firemen. It will cost in the neighborhood of $4,000. Mr. Thomas was authorized to submit drawings for the proposed structure. The recommendations of the committee will be submitted at the next regular meeting of the city council. It is not believed that it will be possible to begin construction in less than three months.
