WAR TROPHIES THRILL CROWD GATHERED HERE

perience. Enlisting in September, he went to Camp Colt, and a week later his wife received a wire that he had died of influenza. Two weeks later she was wired that he had succumbed to pneumonia, and a few days thereafter he dragged himself from his bed to ship overseas. Arriving in France, he went absent without leave, traveled to the front, attached himself to a unit about to go into action and found a job as machine gunner in a "whippet" tank during the operations in the Argonne.

Is Awarded Palm.

When the tractor was stalled driver and gunner pried off their machine gun, filled their gas mask covers with ammunition, and picking out an advanced position, held it until evening, when Likens' companion was killed. Then Likens retired, picking up a wounded man on his way back. On December 25, he was awarded the croix de guerre and palm, and was kissed by six French commanders. He was gassed and sustained fractures of the skull, leg and shoulder while in action.

Sergeant Bates, who enlisted from Roseburg, told graphically of the horrors of the battlefield, and urged liberal support of the Victory loan as an expression of appreciation of the sacrifices made by the men overseas.

Hartwig Speaks.

Otto Hartwig, president of the State Federation of Labor, contrasted labor conditions in America and Germany, and declared that organized labor would not be found wanting when Victory bonds are offered to the people. Mr. Hartwig, while the war was on, endeavored three times to enlist for foreign service, but was of so much value to the government in straightening out labor difficulties which were hampering war work that he was not permitted to go.

Among the other speakers were

O. W. Taylor and John F. Daly of Portland and Captain Crumpacker, B. F. Irvine of the Oregon Journal and E. E. Brodie of the Oregon City

JABE WARNER CATTLE CASE IS ON TRIAL

Nephew Wins From Uncle.

After an absence of two and a half hours from the court room, the jury in the case of P. H. Dencer, who sued his nephew P. S. Dencer, for $800, returned last night, handing down a verdict on a cross complaint of $121.70 for the defendant, with no award for the plaintiff. The case was an action to recover money alleged due for the purchase of stock, hay, grain, and for work done for the defendant, who had leased a ranch from his uncle. The younger Dencer's claim was based on allegations that he had been damaged by failure of the plaintiff to furnish a drill, seeder, horses wagon and harness.

The defendant was represented by

R. S. Hamilton, who made his first appearance in the Deschutes circuit court yesterday.

Hanks Complaint Altered.

Another case which will attract considerable attention among the people of Bend, is the suit brought by Miss Gertrude Hanks, formerly an instructor in the grades of this city, against the school board, in which breach of contract is alleged. The original complaint asked for $1850, but two items, one for $170 for summer school expenses, and one for $600 which the plaintiff claims would have been the increase she might have expected had she had the experience of another year in the Bend schools, were stricken out by the court on a motion by Mr. Hamilton, who is retained by the school board. The suit as it now stands is for $1080.

WORK FINISHED BY GRAND JURY

M. C. Knotts, Art Mitcham, Richard Stevenson, R. D. George and the American Bakery, the checks alleged to have been given them by the defendant totalling $177.25. The defendant was arraigned this morning and will plead tomorrow.

Not true bills were found in the cases of Fred Lucas, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and Harry R. Riley, charged with committing a statutory offense against his sister-in-law.

In addition, several secret indictments were brought in. The persons mentioned in these bills are not yet in custody, and bench warrants will be issued for their arrest.

The grand jury's recommendations are concerned solely with the court house, and include requests for suitable accommodations for the grand jury in the court house building, for changing the entrance doors of the court room, for the installation of ground glass windows to eliminate the glare of the sun and for ventilation through the ceiling.

FINE JERSEY BULLS TO BE AUCTIONED

Of unusual interest to livestock owners of this section is the auction sale of the Sam Wood Jersey bulls, to be held at the Wood ranch near Redmond next Tuesday afternoon. Three highly pedigreed animals are to be offered and it is expected that bidding will be lively between those who will wish to obtain one of the animals.

Experts who have seen the Wood bulls agree that they are fine specimens of the Jersey type. A considerable amount of other farm property will also be offered at the auction.
