THE VICTORY LOAN.

Victory over Germany is won, but not all of the bills are paid or did the expense of war end with the armistice by any means. The last bills for all kinds of war material must be paid. The army of occupation must be maintained in Germany; the great army must be maintained in this country and in France until it can be demobilized, and it must be paid the bonus of $60 a head and brought home; the difference between the market and guaranteed price for wheat must be paid and a large part of Europe must be fed that famine may not lead to anarchy.

All of these things are necessary parts of the work of pacifying the world which the United States undertook when we declared war on Germany and Austria. The job will not be finished until those countries have accepted the terms dictated at Paris, until their people have enough food to save them from starvation and anarchy, and are at work.

Many of these people are our enemies, but many are friends whom we have set free. Humanity dictates that we should feed them out of our abundance. The most cold-blooded policy points the same way, for if we do not feed them, we shall have to fight them as Bolsheviks. It is cheaper to feed them than to fight them and they will be of more use to the world alive than dead.

To meet these obligations of honor, humanity and policy, the government will call on the people for subscriptions to the Victory loan from April 21 to May 10. The exact form and amount of the loan has not been fixed but it will probably be $6,000,000,000 in notes running ten years and paying interest at the rate of from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent. If that should be the amount, Oregon's quota will be about $30,000,000 and Portland's quota from $17,000,000 to $18,000,000, approximately the same as for the fourth Liberty loan.

This is an opportunity for Oregon to put the final touch on the splendid record which it made throughout the war, and which spread its fame as the Volunteer State across the continent. Not only loyalty to the state, loyalty to the nation and duty to humanity, call upon us to respond, even till it hurts, but the notes will be a good investment for they will be accepted at the banks as collateral for loans up to a high percentage of their market value and the high rate of interest will make them salable at or near their face value.

To subscribe for the Victory loan is to be a good American and a good Oregonian. To be a practical worker for peace and humanity and to do a good stroke of business, all at the same time.

B. P. O. E. AND THE SOLDIER.

In the announcement of local members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks that organization, halted by the war, is to be completed, and an earnest effort made to secure a charter, Bend has cause for self-congratulation. The Elks lodge is taken as a symbol of "pop" wherever it is found, and its patriotic teachings are in accord with America's national spirit.

With the virtual ending of the war a new and substantial demonstration of this spirit has been made. Americans who served in the armies of our allies and were disabled thereby, and who, under the rehabilitation law of the United States government, are at present debarred from receiving vocational retraining, may now receive the same re-education and placement as the disabled soldiers, sailors and marines of the United States government. More than 20,000 young Americans enlisted in the Canadian, French and English armies, and many of them sustained injuries which have permanently disabled them, and until now they have not been able to receive the benefits of the federal rehabilitation law. They are enabled to do so now on account of the fund of $150,000 advanced by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks to the federal board for vocational education, which is the agent in charge through which the government accomplishes the re-education of these disabled men.

A fraternal order having the record and ideals of the Elks is an asset to any community, and it is to be hoped that the organization of a Central Oregon lodge with headquarters in Bend may be accomplished in the near future.

ELECTIONS AND BONDS.

By a vote which is presumably indicative of the wishes of the taxpayers of Bend, a $28,000 bond issue was voted Saturday at a special election called by the school board. The fact that the total number who registered their opinions at the polls was only 74, however, leads to the question as to whether the spending of this sum of money to further the cause of education is regarded as important, or as a mere detail. It might be noted in this connection that bond elections in Bend, productive of much preliminary discussion, apparently create little interest at the polls.

Be that as it may, the providing of finances for the construction of a new Kenwood school is undeniably a step toward a much needed addition to Bend's educational facilities. It is believed that the building can be made ready for use by the opening of the fall term, and if this can be done the crowded conditions in the Bend schools will be eliminated, it is hoped.

THE MAYOR AND THE COUNCIL.

In the refusal of the members of the Bend council to accept the report of the rules committee denouncing the alleged transaction of city business by the Commercial club, Mayor Eastes is upheld in his policy of securing an expression of public opinion on Bend's financial problem. His victory is noteworthy in that the hasty action of the committee in condemning a progressive civic organization is not recognized by the council, after mature deliberation.

Just what the motives of the council may be, however, in flying in the face of the opinion expressed by the people through the labor council and the commercial club, as indicated this morning in voting for a special election on a bond issue, is difficult to determine.

True, the element of confusion which would attend an election on both special tax and bonds at one and the same time is eliminated, but in view of what has already been learned of the sentiment of the voters, the tax question should have been first submitted as the preferred issue.

THE CITY CAMPING GROUND.

The idea of a free camping ground for tourists passing through Bend has been advocated at various times in the columns of The Bulletin, and the statement of Councilman E. L. Payne now indicates that the idea is to be a reality in time to take care of the needs of the early season autoists. It means that Bend will have an added inducement to offer to motor parties touring the state, that more tourists will travel by way of Bend, and that the city will in consequence benefit not only in augmented business, but in favorable advertising given by those who stop here and have an opportunity of noting the city's industrial advantages and progressive spirit.

It is a plan tried out with good results by other towns in the state, and one which will be decidedly worth while to Bend.

COST OF RAILROADS.

It is costing the government (the taxpayers) $32,500,000 a month to run the country's railroads. Chairman Sherley of the house appropriations committee informed the house when he brought up a bill for an additional $750,000,000 railroad control appropriation.

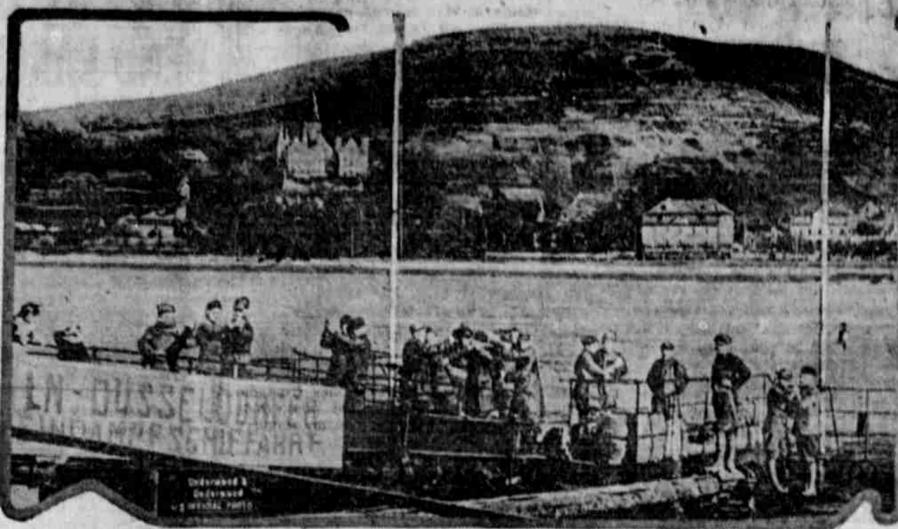

The postoffice department has already made a good start toward muzzling up the telephone, telegraph and cable system in the same manner as the railroads and the nation will be fortunate if it does not have to dig up millions to square this account as a result of these experiments. The people pay the bill.

The plans outlined by the committee in charge of the entertainment of delegates to the Cattle and Horse Raisers' association convention later this month will be a practical demonstration of Bend hospitality and progressiveness. It is well that this should be so, for the convention will be one of the city's best chances for favorable state-wide publicity among a class of citizens whose word counts for much.

President Wilson again threatens to use his favorite weapon of "pittiless publicity" in speeding up the work of the peace commission. It would be undoubtedly welcomed by the American people, who thus far have been kept in lamentable ignorance of the deliberations of their representatives in France.

More rabbit drives are scheduled for next Sunday. It's good sport, and a practical way to show the city's interest in the farmers' problems. Anybody who can handle a shotgun is invited. Let's make it a crowd.

DOUGHBOYS HAVE THEIR DANCE ON THE RHINE

In the heart of every doughboy of the A. E. F. in France there no doubt lingered a hope that he would some day spend a "pleasant evening" on the banks of the Rhine in Germany. How this hope was made a fact is shown in the above photograph of men of the Rainbow division dancing on the boat docks at Neiderbreisig.

Security of principal, regularity of interest payment and popularity as an investment are three recognized principles of bond investment. By this standard does any investment in the world compare with the Victory-Liberty loan?

Today is the first of April, likewise the opening of the fishing season. How many will find out the difference between anticipation and realization?

Two hundred and fifty dollars seems cheap enough for financing as important a proposition as the city camping grounds.

Pass Along Inspiring Words.

Miss Etta V. Leighton, civic secretary of the National Security league, has started a "Me and You" lip to lip, American propaganda. In this plan is that for every Hun lie uttered there shall be spoken an American truth. The truths are embodied in slogans taken from President Wilson's speeches, General Pershing's messages, and from literature sent out by the committee on public information, the National Security league and other organizations.

Miss Leighton is also advising club women, teachers, and other groups to write the slogans on slips of paper and to enclose them in all letters sent to France and Italy, these slogans to be written in the language of the country for which they are intended, so that they can be handed to soldiers and civilians.

BIG ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAM OUTLINED

Hashed institution in the stockmen's conventions, will be served in a corral to be built near the river below the Newport avenue bridge. E. P. Mahaffey's fatted steer, selected from Lake county strays which found their way to Bend, will be transformed into broiled steaks, while bacon and eggs, sourdough bread and boilers of black coffee will be prepared by camp cooks under the direction of George Russell of Prineville and Forest Supervisor N. G. Jacobson.

At 5 o'clock the same afternoon a ranch banquet will be given at the Hippodrome. Housewives of Bend and the surrounding country will be asked to furnish viands for the repast, and as a modern touch the committee plans to present a few vaudeville acts while the banquet is in progress. If any such article of diet can be found anywhere in Central Oregon, a tender young bear will appear on the menu, and R. A. Ward has taken the responsibility of supplying the feasters with this backwoods delicacy.

Free Movies Planned. Among those appointed to secure provisions from the country are F. N. Wallace, Tumalo; Art Warzweiler, Powell Butte; Ben Tone, Sisters; W. N. Knickerbocker, Plainview; Frank Chapman, Lower Bridge; Miss Mary Benn, Alfalfa, and A. L. Clark of La Pine.

A stockman's ball at the athletic club gymnasium will officially bring the convention to a close.

If it is found to be feasible, the committee will buy out the local movie theaters while the convention is in progress, allowing free admission to all visitors. This is intended primarily for the families of delegates who will be in attendance.

LET THE CHILDREN GROW.

Cough, colds, "Snuffles" that hang on tend to weaken the system and a suffering neglected child spends so much strength combating a cold that the little one cannot grow as fast and sound in body as when free from affliction. Foley's Honey and Tar is splendid for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Sold everywhere. Adv.

OLCOTT WILL FORCE ISSUE

Land Settlement Big Task.

The most important of the several state commissions created by the recent legislature came into being a few days ago when Governor Olcott named the personnel of the state land settlement commission—a board which will have complete charge of the placing of returned soldiers and sailors on the productive farm lands of Oregon.

The commission is composed of the following: Emery Olmstead, a Portland banker; G. H. Baker, secretary of the labor council at Bend; Charles Hall, Coos Bay banker; Whitney L. Boise, irrigation expert; R. N. Stanfield, stockman and capitalist of Stanfield, Oregon.

The land settlement work for Oregon soldiers is expected to prove a gigantic enterprise for Eastern Oregon counties if the $5,000,000 reconstruction bond issue is approved by the voters at the special election on June 3. For it is in Eastern Oregon that much of the land settlement, fact, practically all of it, will be undertaken. If this bond issue passes, the commission will have a fund of $647,000 at its disposal; otherwise it will be limited to the $50,000 which was appropriated in the bill creating the commission.

Money Hard to Spend.

Is there some sort of jinx attached to a membership on the soldiers' and sailors' relief commission?

This is a question frequently asked at the capitol this week as a result of four resignations which have come from members of this commission. The last to resign was F. W. Mulkey, chairman of the commission. Each member has written Governor Olcott that he "cannot devote further time to the work."

It is believed at the capitol that the wholesale resignations are the result of a recent opinion of Attorney General Brown to the effect that members of the commission are personally liable for the loss of any funds which might become dissipated through bank failure or any other cause. The commission has a $100,000 appropriation at its disposal, which, reports from Portland indicate, it is having a hard time to spend.

Gas Tax Coming In.

A forerunner of what the state of Oregon might expect in the way of financial returns from its recently enacted gasoline license tax bill reached the office of the secretary of state this week in the form of a check from the Union Oil company in the amount of 236.44. This was the amount due the state for the gasoline and distillate sold by this one concern for the first three days after the law went into effect. The law became effective on February 26, and the Union Oil company sold a total of 21,260 gallons of gasoline and 4567 gallons of distillate on the last three days of that month. Other checks are expected daily from other concerns doing business in Oregon.

Governor Olcott on Monday of this week reappointed W. L. Thompson, a banker of Pendleton, as a member of the state highway commission. The governor announced shortly after he succeeded the late Governor Withycombe that he would retain Mr. Thompson as a member of this important commission, and Mr. Thompson has already signified his intention of remaining in the service of the state.

It's a far cry from a state house desk to the state prison, but the possibility of state officials fraternizing with prison convicts looms big as a possibility in the near future. The state house, after a lapse of several years, is beginning to organize a baseball team, and the convicts, who always have a fast aggregation of ball tossers, have already hurled a deft at the capitol crew, and the game soon will be arranged.

Fair Plans Made.

"A lot of enterprising youngsters from Eastern Oregon are going to visit the 1919 state fair as guests of the state if they show the same spirit they manifested last year," was the assertion this week of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Churchill with reference to the industrial club work among the school children which is now being started.

Each year the state is host to youngsters who show exceptional aptitude in the varied forms of industrial or agricultural work during the summer, and his field workers are now organizing for the spring and summer campaign. Farming, gardening, stock raising and canning are among the more important branches of the industrial club work, and Eastern Oregon, as in years past, is expected to send its full quota of youngsters to the fairgrounds industrial club camp.

PLAINVIEW PARTY GIVEN ON APRIL 1

PLAINVIEW, April 3.—The O. D. O. club and friends had a jolly time at an April Fool party given at the C. F. Chalfan home last Saturday evening. A number of jokes and puns administered by the committee in charge and helped out by Jim Pulliam acting as clown for the evening provoked much fun. The fellows succeeded in getting even by hiding all the ice cream. It was rescued later and proved in prime condition. Cake and coffee were served also, and a neat sum was realized for the club treasury.

C. P. Niswonger and family spent a day at the Pine Lawn ranch recently.

Mrs. Grover Pulliam and little son visited at the F. W. Levensen home several days the past week.

G. W. Bates of Tumalo was a Plainview caller Tuesday.

George Calverley spent Sunday in Bend with his brother John, who has been discharged from the service recently.

Miss Fina Crawford of Portland was a guest at the Knickerbocker home last week.

Newell Van Tassel is working at the Hartley ranch.

Ray Armstrong hauled potatoes to Deschutes Friday and Saturday.

There has been quite a little branding done in Plainview the past week, as nearly everyone is turning the cattle on the range.

Luella Burgess returned to the Box A ranch after spending a week in and near Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Knickerbocker and family were guests at the home of Ellis Edgington at Sisters last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. H. A. Scoggin attended the meeting of the Tillicum club at the home of Mrs. Hobson last Friday.

A. E. Hoss and A. W. Armstrong were business callers in Bend Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hartley were callers at the Gerking home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Knickerbocker and Rae and Emmett Knickerbocker were Bend visitors Friday evening and Saturday.

Miss Fina Crawford was a visitor at the Plainview school Wednesday.

A. E. Hoss and Edgar Hart were Redmond callers Tuesday.

There will be preaching services as usual at the school house next Sunday afternoon, April 6.
