GOOD GRAVEYARD AFTER THAT

A Few Broadbides From American Batteries Cured It of Its Bad Habit of Wandering.

This is a story of faith and what it accomplished. It was brought in to Paris by a dispatch-bearer and found its way into the Red Cross scrap book over a cup of tea.

An American artillery detachment lay waiting for a report from the air scouts. All at once a message fell from the clouds: "Fire on moving graveyard."

What on earth did he mean? Was he joking? That particular airman was a born wag. Did he mean, perhaps, some body of enemy troops not yet visible? Or in the distance the crosses of a military graveyard were to be seen, quiescent and innocent under the afternoon sun. He could not possibly refer to that.

"Yes, by heaven!" said the officer in command. "I believe in that fellow. That's the only graveyard in sight. He must mean that."

He gave the order. The guns spoke. Great masses of smoke arose from the quiet graveyard and a loud series of explosions ensued.

Shortly afterward the airman alighted.

"Well, you did have faith in me," he said. "I wondered if you would think I was joking. I saw what looked like a military graveyard on the right of the road. A little later I looked down and it was on the left of the road. I couldn't believe my eyes, but I did, and flashed you the word. Rather a new dodge to get munitions up to the front!"

RETROSPECT THAT IS VAIN

Mournful Man Has Come to Realize That All Things That Are to Be, Will Be.

"I sometimes think as I watch the efficient workings of a cream separator," said the stoop-shouldered man, "how much happier my life might have been could I but have had when I was first married a separator, operated somewhat on the same principle, into which my wife's relatives could have been thrust, the crank turned and by centrifugal or centripetal force—I can never remember which is which—the two kinds divided, like the sheep and the goats of Holy Writ.

"Out of one spout would have come the undesirable ones—those who controverted my cherished theories, disagreed with me on various subjects, and jeered at my lack of faculty, the while they borrowed money from me and paid not again, and wore, their sex permitting, such of my Sunday garments as fitted them. And from the other spout would have emerged the good ones—those who tried to pay their way by being sympathetic and tactful, who were diplomatic enough to agree with me when it did not make any particular difference, and occasionally lent me money and were not forever dogging me to get it back. But, of course, nothing of the kind was then or ever will be invented. Man was made to mourn and his wife's kin were made to see that he does mourn." —Kansas City Star.

SEEKING USES FOR LIGNITES

Federal Bureau of Mines Will Make Investigation of What May Be New Fuel Supply.

The bureau of mines will make an investigation to determine the commercial and economical value of lignites and the practicability of their utilization in production of fuel oil, gasoline substitutes, ammonia, tar, solid fuel, gas for power and other purposes, under the terms of a senate bill which the house of representatives adopted. An appropriation of $100,000 was voted. It was argued that the object of the investigation is to demonstrate the commercial value of lignite, which is one-third of the coal deposits of the nation.

A vast volume of the deposits is on government land, and Texas has approximately 25,000,000,000 tons. The official report says there is bituminous coal in Texas, but not sufficient to supply the railroads, and in urging the passage of the bill Representative Wingo of Arkansas told the house that proper development of lignite in Texas with its full uses demonstrated would save an annual fuel bill to the people Found Platinum Beds.

Dr. Herschel C. Parker of Columbia university, while on an exploring expedition to Alaska last summer, discovered extensive platinum beds in the Sunitna and Yentna valleys in the Cook inlet country. He brought out a large number of ore samples on his return to the States, and is now engaged in exhaustive tests of the metal. He expects to establish a plant for handling the ore when he goes back to Alaska next spring.

"The Alaska platinum ore is low grade," said Doctor Parker, "but it is there in abundance. It will have to be handled in large quantities and under scientific methods of economy to make it pay. The question of its commercial value is simply one of engineering. With the end of the war and the consequent wide use of platinum for jewelry, I believe the Alaska beds will prove a valuable source of world supply."

D. McMillan, Volunteer Fireman's Home, Hudson, N. Y., writes: Foley kidney pills are like a stream of water played on fire by firemen. They hit the spot, put out the fire and drown the pain. COUNCIL BACKS MAYOR'S WORK and Mr. Payne admitted that he had not given the report much consideration when he signed it. More remarks by Mr. Minter followed, after which the report was allowed to sink gracefully into oblivion.

$250 for Camping Ground.
The council took quick action on the matter of the free camping grounds, and wasted no time in voting E. L. Payne, chairman of the special committee in charge, $250. Mr. Payne explained that he would endeavor to have all arrangements completed before the Cattle and Horse Raisers' convention April 22.

City Engineer Gould spoke of the needs of changing plumbing inspection laws, and the matter was referred to him and to Councilman

Sutherland for a report at the next meeting.

Representing Keeler Bros., bonding house, Russell F. Hall, until a few weeks ago an aviator pilot in the U. S. army, told the council that he was ready to sign a contract to take the city's bonds at par, should bonds be selected by the people in the coming special election. He also said that a ballot on which the alternative issues of special tax and bond issue appeared would be perfectly legal, although the attorneys of the bonding house considered that it might lead to some confusion. Mr. Hall offered par for 6 per cent. bonds, but action was postponed until this morning. City Recorder Peoples pointed out that the county turnover will allow the city to recall $10,000 worth of warrants within the next 30 days.

Park Committee Named.

That Bend should provide for city parks before the growing size of the city makes the expense of purchasing park sites prohibitive was the declaration of Councilman Minter. He moved that a special committee be appointed to select park grounds and make arrangements for their purchase, and Mayor Eastes, declaring that for once he agreed with the councilman, put the question, receiving a unanimous vote, and appointed E. L. Payne, D. G. McPherson and J. C. Rhodes, with City Attorney Benson as an ex-officio member.

Ordinances Passed.

Two ordinances were passed under an emergency clause, one an amendment making it a misdemeanor to scatter waste in streets and alleys, the other an amendment to the ordinance prohibiting certain domestic animals from running at large. A personal liability clause is introduced, and chickens and ducks are added to the list of animals which may be impounded.
