NEW FISH LADDER IS BEING BUILT

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
 In compliance with a request from the state fish and game commission, the Bend Water, Light & Power Co. yesterday commenced work on a large fish ladder at their power dam in this city. The new work is necessitated by the plan for making the river open to salmon coming up from the Columbia to spawn, and the fishway already installed at the dam was insufficient in size to allow the passage of the big fish.
 The ladder now under construction will cost in the neighborhood of $500, Manager T. H. Foley estimates.

MORE ALFALFA SEED IS NOW AVAILABLE

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
 After scouring the country for alfalfa seed best suited to Central Oregon needs, the First National Bank has secured 1800 pounds more of certified Grimm, and 2,000 pounds of Cosack seed. The latter variety is comparatively new in the United States having been brought to this country 10 years ago from Siberia. It is very hardy and produces an abundant yield.
 Ranchers who had been unable to secure the full amount of seed ordered, or who had ordered too late to be included in previous shipments, may now obtain the required amount by calling at the bank.

TWELVE AT BEND HIGH MAKE OVER 90 IN ALL SUBJECTS—E. F. AVERILL AND O. M. PLUMMER SPEAK AT ASSEMBLY.

(From Friday's Daily.)
 Last week ended the first six weeks of the second semester. The scholastic standing of the students as a whole has resulted in a much higher average than last semester, the upper classmen having the greater percentage of higher grades. The following students each received at least 90 per cent. in every subject: Loretta Cook, Ida Dahle, Harry Hayden, Jennie Norene, Lela Stutsman, Hilah Brick, George Curtis, Francis Heyburn, Mildred Hoover, Margaret Inabitt, Louise Inabitt and Winona Kleinfeldt. Fern Allen, Cora Bates, Elyot Cornelussen, Janiece Simpson, Leroy Coyner, Devere Helfrich, Alberta Landkammer, Lydia Scherrer, William Williams, Ernel Scott, Dorothy Shirsman, Alice Stockmon, Lester Smith, Georgianna Benson, Elizabeth Veltum, Elmer Johnson and Irvin McNeal each received an average of 90 per cent. in scholastic work.

O. M. Plummer, a member of the school board of Portland, and E. F. Averill, head of the U. S. predatory animal department, addressed the junior and senior high school Wednesday morning. Mr. Plummer spoke in a decidedly humorous vein and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mr. Averill gave some valuable information on the habits of rabid coyotes and symptoms of the disease. Both men are well known in Oregon and have traveled extensively over the United States.

It was announced that the date of the track meet at Madras will be the 17th of May, as formerly planned. The changing of the date to the 10th of the same month was due to misinformation on the part of the officials.

SCHOOL BONDS ARE ABOVE PAR

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

The bonds are for 20 years, will bear 6 per cent. interest and are to be retired serially after 10 years.
 Fourteen other bids were considered by the board.

NOVEL SOUVENIR IS RECEIVED IN BEND.

(From Friday's Daily.)
 One of the most novel war souvenirs seen in Bend is in the possession of John Steidl of this city, and represents the work of his son Steve, for two years in the U. S. navy. It is an ash tray made from the butt of a three-inch shell, with an unexploded rifle cartridge in the center supporting a match box holder made from another piece of the brass shell case.
 Bent British pennies soldered on the edge of the cylinder form convenient resting places for cigars, while the outside of the ash tray is covered with British coins and unexploded pistol cartridges, alternating.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)
 An experienced traveler at the age of 10, Donald Conway arrived in Bend this morning from San Francisco, accompanied only by two suitcases, and introduced himself to his uncle, W. P. Downing. The youngster will visit through the summer at the Downing home and with his grandmother, Mrs. A. Orcutt, of this city.
 The journey from California is by no means the boy's first long distance trip, for two years ago he travelled alone from Bemidji to Portland, later going to San Francisco.

MANY BUILDING PERMITS GIVEN
SINNOTT TELLS OF HARD TRIP
 THIRTY ISSUED DURING MONTH OF APRIL REPRESENT A TOTAL CONSTRUCTION COST OF MORE THAN $27,000.
 REPRESENTATIVE RIDES IN FIRST CAR TO MAKE DISTANCE BETWEEN KLAMATH AND BEND THIS SEASON.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
 In spite of predictions that high cost of materials would prevent extensive building in Bend this year, permits issued during the month of April by City Recorder Peoples indicate that the spur of necessity was sufficient to overcome this obstacle, for on an average of one building a day has been authorized. The entire 30 improvements and new buildings will, when completed, represent a cost of $27,385, the items ranging from $3000 to $60.
 The heaviest business in the recorder's office came between April 15 and 20, when an average of three permits a day were made out. Mr. Peoples believes that home building in Bend this year may establish a new record for the city.

(From Saturday's Daily.)
 The joys of the first auto stage ride between Klamath Falls and Bend were experienced this week by Congressman N. J. Sinnott, who arrived in this city from the southern part of the state Tuesday afternoon, and who spoke Wednesday before the Oregon Cattle and Horse Raisers' association.
 Representative Sinnott was among the first to grab a shovel whenever the car stalled in the snow, and performed valuable work in extricating the machine from mudholes and snow-blocked trails. On the completion of his trip he declared that if he had not been a good roads booster before, the journey from Klamath Falls to Bend would have been amply sufficient to convert him.
 The Klamath stage is now making trips on regular schedule.
