PEACE TERMS CAUSE RIOTS AMONG HUNS

"DOWN WITH WILSON," CRIES MOB.

TREATY DENOUNCED

Assembly Cheers When Scheidemann
Speaks of Peace Offer as "Vile Murder Plot"—Demonstrations Throughout Berlin.

By John Grandenz.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, May 14.—Fifteen thousand majority socialists yesterday staged a street demonstration in front of the hotel Adlon, American headquarters in this city, crying: "Down with Wilson; down with the Americans." The tumult grew in front of the U. S. headquarters until 50 soldiers arrived and cleared the streets.

The crowd first gathered for a demonstration against the treaty laid down in the peace treaty massing in front of the Reichstag building. Richard Fischer, in an address to the people declared that their confidence in President Wilson had been shamefully abused, and that the government would not permit the signing of the treaty.

The rioters then surged toward the Hotel Adlon, hooting, jeering and shouting "robbers." The tumultuous scene lasted for half an hour.

Will Fight Treaty.

"We will fight to the utmost against the separation by violence of any German territories," Chancellor Scheidemann declared today in a proclamation forwarded to Danzig. According to the terms of the peace terms, Danzig becomes a free city administered under the direction of the league of nations.

Chancellor Scheidemann, War Minister Noske, Hugo Haase, and Konstantin Fehrenbach, president of the national assembly, addressed that body today.

The deputies stood and cheered for several minutes at the chancellor's words: "Take away that vile murder plot," uttered as he pointed toward a copy of the proposed treaty.

Demonstrations against the peace terms continued in several parts of the city.

NOTES ON TERMS RECEIVED.

By Fred S. Ferguson.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, May 14.—The "Big Four" today received three notes from German delegates relative to the peace terms it was learned. The contents of the communications have not been disclosed.

Confidence is expressed in high quarters that notwithstanding the present flood of communications from the Germans they will complete their objections to the peace terms well within the 15 day period, and that the allies will make their reply within another ten days.

ACTIVITY SHOWN IN WOOL MARKET

Reports Received by First National Indicate Big Demand for Clips of Western States.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

What promised to be a sluggish season has developed the most active wool market for several years. Advice received by the First National bank states that three Montana clips realized 60 cents, the common bid for wool in that state being 55 cents. The Wool Livestock company of Idaho contracted its entire clip to an eastern concern at 52 1/2 cents. This is one of the principal western clips, grading from coarse to fine staple. Seventy-five per cent. of the Utah clip has changed hands at prices ranging from 49 to 55 1/2 cents. The bulk of Nevada wool sold around 40 to 52 cents.

FEAR IS FELT FOR 5 MILLION BONDS

RECONSTRUCTION BILL
IN GRAVE DANGER.

Shortage of Labor, Instead of Expected Surplus, One of Chief Arguments of Opposition—
Plan Vigorous Campaign.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

SALEM, May 15.—Unless a decided change of sentiment is manifested during the next three weeks, the $5,000,000 reconstruction bond issue is almost certain to be defeated at the special election on June 3.

This prophecy is based on reports which have reached Salem during the past two weeks. They come from men prominent in public life in every part of the state; from state officials who travel into all sections of the commonwealth, and from others who make it a business to keep posted on the general trend of public opinion.

Those in charge of the reconstruction bond campaign have sensed this adverse sentiment, and heroic measures are to be adopted at once in an effort to save this important measure from the scrap heap. A vigorous campaign is to be waged through the public press and by public speakers. The campaign committee is determined to put forth its best efforts to prevail upon the voters to approve of this reconstruction program. Whether or not the measure will be defeated depends entirely upon the ability of the campaign committee to change the sentiment which is now strongly against the bill.

Labor Shortage Noted.

The $5,000,000 reconstruction bond program was tentatively adopted by the legislature as the only solution for what appeared, early this year, to be an impending labor crisis in Oregon after the home troops had returned from overseas. The prime object of voting this vast amount of money for public buildings and other public works was to provide suitable employment for the thousands of Oregon men when they returned from their victorious onslaught against the Hun.

But with a majority of the state troops back home, the labor situation is just the reverse from what had been expected. There is at the present time a serious shortage of labor. In the road work, for instance, contractors say they are finding it almost impossible to find a sufficient number of men for the various road projects about the state, and one large paving concern is now contemplating importing laborers into the state from Montana if the present labor shortage continues.

COLVIN TO SERVE 50 DAYS IN JAIL

Pleads Guilty and Asks for $50 Fine, but $100 Penalty Is Imposed on Liquor Charge.

Fifty days in jail, at the rate of $2 a day, will just work off the fine which Police Judge Peoples imposed on Louis Colvin yesterday afternoon, when Colvin pleaded guilty to the charge of having liquor in his possession. The defendant offered to pay cash if the court would cut the fine in half, and when this was not done, declared that he would serve out the full 50 days rather than pay a cent into the city treasury.

Colvin was captured last Saturday night by Sheriff S. E. Roberts and Night Officer Frank L. Kulp in Deschutes addition.

FOREST MAN GIVES ADDRESS ON PLANTS

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
Students of the Bend high school listened to an excellent address given yesterday at the school auditorium, by Jack Horton, grazing examiner of the Deschutes National forest, on the plant life of Central Oregon.

CLUB ENDORSES MEMORIAL PLAN

FITTING OBSERVATION IS OUTLINED.

City Finance Question Introduced,
but No Disposition to Reconsider Is Shown—Road Surveys Reported to Be Progressing.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

Plans for a fitting observance of Memorial day in Bend this year were discussed this noon at the regular session of the Commercial club as the chief order of business coming before the organization. A tentative outline of the program for the day, which had previously been suggested, will be changed so that the reception and dance for returned soldiers, sailors and marines will not be given on the evening of Decoration day, but on the evening following. Other details, including services at the Bend Amateur Athletic club on the morning of May 30, and a dinner to be given by the Commercial club in honor of men returned from the service, will be left in the hands of a special committee to be appointed by Vice President H. A. Miller.

The matter of a Memorial day program was introduced by D. G. McPherson, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, and before the club had officially endorsed the plan, D. L. McKay, who as a boy of 16 years fought for the Union in the Civil war, was called on for remarks. Mr. McKay spoke favorably of the program outlined, but advised strongly against a dance or ball game on Decoration day. "It's too much like going to a funeral to have a good time," he declared.

Overturf to Be Delegate.

In connection with the dance which is to be held on the evening of Saturday, May 31, it was suggested that the local Red Cross chapter assist in serving a luncheon.

In response to a letter from The Dalles Chamber of Commerce asking that a delegate from the Bend Commercial club be present at the meeting of secretaries of civic organizations to be held in Wasco county seat on May 22 and 23 to take up road matters, H. J. Overturf was selected as the club's representative.

On the motion of R. A. Ward, the club went on record as endorsing the Roosevelt highway to secure support of the Willamette valley counties for the $2,500,000 irrigation bond measure.

Bonds Fail to Interest.

Mayor J. A. Eastes again brought up the matter of bonds vs. tax for wiping out the city's debt, stating that the city council, in special meeting this evening, would set the date for a bond election. He asked for an expression of opinion by the club, but the members showed no inclination to reconsider the action taken at a former meeting, in which they endorsed the tax method of raising the money needed.

Tourist Routing Made.

W. C. Birdsall reported that the California Automobile association is routing all tourists going north through Central Oregon, and on his motion it was decided to send 1000 road maps to the California association, and to urge the Klamath Falls Chamber of Commerce to post road signs for the guidance of tourists.

R. S. Hamilton reported on the meeting of the state highway commission in Portland, and stated that County Surveyor R. B. Gould now has two surveying parties working on road location in response to requests for immediate action from the commission.

BLACKLEG VACCINE IS RECEIVED HERE

The First National bank of Bend has just received its third shipment of U. S. blackleg vaccine, totaling 300 doses. This is kept on hand for the convenience of customers. Mr. Ward also has one of the latest blackleg hypodermic syringes, which is loaned to those desiring to vaccinate. This service has been well received by the stockmen of Central Oregon, as has been shown by the fact that 800 doses have already been distributed and used since March 1.

BOARD IGNORES SOLDIER NEEDS

MODEL FARM PLAN IS UNCHANGED.

Explanation Given G. H. Baker No
Explanation at All, Says Bend
Commissioner—Uniform Used to Secure Bill's Passage.

Members of the Oregon land settlement commission, with whom G. H. Baker of this city met Monday night in Portland, are keenly alive to the needs of the returned soldier. They are sincerely sorry for the men who were supposed to be given an opportunity, under the land settlement commission act, to acquire farm homes. But sympathy is about as far as it goes, for the majority of the members of the commission stand pat on their former decision to limit their activities to the establishment and sale of model farms, at a price which is far beyond the means of the average returned service man.

Mr. Baker, member of the commission from this section, was given a decidedly cold reception when he arrived in Portland, for news of his intention to ask a thorough explanation of the cut and dried plans which forget the returned soldier had preceded him. Mr. Baker refused to be ignored, however, and refused to be talked down, with the result that he kept Whitney L. Boise of Portland busy explaining until after midnight. "It was an explanation which failed to explain," Mr. Baker stated on his return to Bend, declaring that the soldier, sailor and marine clause in the legislative act was nothing more nor less than using the uniform to insure the passage of the bill.

Law Must Not Interfere.

The other members of the commission admitted that this clause existed, and that it might have some significance to the general public, but it really had nothing to do with the work of the land settlement commission, they told Mr. Baker. All that had apparently been thoroughly taken care of before the Bend commissioner was appointed, even before the passage of the legislative act, and if the law interfered with the preconceived plan for model farms so much the worse for the law, was the intimation conveyed to Mr. Baker Monday night.

To Continue Fight.

"I haven't any objection to the model farm plan," the Bend commissioner stated today. "In fact, I think it is to be commended. But soldiers, sailors and marines, who are supposed to be provided for, are being entirely passed up, and that's the basis of a very real objection."

Mr. Baker will continue to work to secure the fulfillment of the promises made in the legislative act, and promises a real surprise for the other members of the commission when he makes his next move.

The land settlement act is, in the main, the child of Whitney L. Boise of Portland, who has developed the idea in cooperation with Professor H. L. Scudder of the Oregon Agricultural college. Originally planned, as indicated by the name, for the purpose of bringing settlers onto the land, the idea was enlarged, in its appearance before the legislature, and the feature of bringing soldiers to the land added, just as so many other of the so-called "reconstruction" measures were based on the need of caring for the returned soldier.

Soldier Aid Ignored.

This soldier feature appears in section 1 of the act, providing that it may be known as the soldiers' land settlement act; in section 2, where the object is stated as the provision of "useful employment and the opportunity to acquire farm homes with profitable livelihood on the land for soldiers," and others, and finally, in the last section, where it is declared that the discharge of large numbers of Oregon soldiers with no adequate provision for their material welfare has caused an emergency.

At the first meeting of the commission the returned soldier was barely mentioned. Immediately after organization, Professor Scudder was introduced to present a plan for the establishment of a model farm near Independence. Inquiry on Mr. Baker's part developed the fact that

$1000 SIRE IS SECURED HERE

CENTRAL OREGON BANK BUYS PEDIGREED SHORTHORN FOR
RANCHERS OF THE TUMALO
DISTRICT.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

Following out its policy of building up the herds of Deschutes county the Central Oregon bank has purchased a 4-year old milking Shorthorn bull from Cook & Cook of Independence, Iowa, for the ranchers of the Tumalo section, who recently bought the Foster Shorthorns through the bank. The animal, which, including shipping expenses, cost over $1,100 is now at the Aune barn.

Regarding the new sire P. D. Saunders, inspector for the Cattle Loan company, declared today that "Glensdale Dairyman" is the best bull that he has ever seen in Oregon.

UNTRAINED PIGEON FLIES TO PORTLAND

Carrier, Escaping from Forest Service
Loft Here Six Weeks Ago, Finds
Home of Former Owner.

(From Friday's Daily.)

After making its escape from the forest service loft in this city six weeks ago, a carrier pigeon secured recently by William Sproat, of the local office, has been located in Portland, according to advices received this morning by Mr. Sproat. The bird, which had had no previous training as a homer, made its way to the loft maintained by its former owner, and was traced by means of the aluminum registry band which encircled one of its legs.

The pigeon had been in Bend only two weeks, an insufficient time to establish a new residence, and when a door was inadvertently left open took the opportunity to return to Portland. For an untrained bird the flight is considered remarkable.

Mr. Sproat was advised that the bird will be returned to Bend at once.

COURT CONTINUES H. R. RILEY CASE

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
Because the illness of Mrs. Orpha Riley, complaining witness in the non-support case brought against H. R. Riley yesterday, prevented her from appearing in court to testify against her husband, hearing was continued indefinitely. The defendant was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

COUNTY QUOTA EXCEEDED IN VICTORY LOAN

$183,000 ANNOUNCED AS TOTAL.

REPORT INCOMPLETE

Mills Important Factor in Over-Subscription of Bonds—County Went Over Top More Quickly
Than Had Been Expected.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Deschutes county is over the top in the Victory loan drive.

This was the announcement this morning of County Chairman C. S. Hudson after a compilation of returns given in reports from City Chairman H. J. Overturf, Redmond and the First National and Central Oregon banks of Bend. As a matter of fact, the county probably met its quota several days ago, but the slowness with which reports have come in prevented an official announcement that the goal had been reached.

In the original apportionment of quotas, $173,475 was set as the amount for Deschutes county to raise, but the total struck this morning was $183,000. A number of the rural districts are still to be heard from, and subscriptions are still being taken in Bend, so that it is estimated that another $10,000 may be secured before the county chairman makes his final report to state headquarters.

Mills Far Over Top.

Figures so far available show that the two big mills in Bend were important factors in causing the county so far exceed to exceed its quota. They were first to go over the top, and since that time have continued steadily to add to their subscriptions, piling up a large surplus. Bond purchases through the city were by no means so satisfactory, many who had been expected to make substantial subscriptions doing nothing.

Mr. Hudson expressed himself as being surprised that the county had gone over as quickly as it has. The lack of war time enthusiasm, which played so important a part in former drives, was the chief cause of the campaign taking so much longer than was necessary to float the other issues, he believes.

Bank Makes Report.

The following list of subscriptions, in addition to those already published, was furnished today by the Central Oregon bank:

A. A. Richmond, $50; Standard Oil Co., $500; Mrs. S. C. Caldwell, $50; Mildred Mersdorf, $50; Anna B. Wornstaff, $50; Ole Eng, $50; J. B. Heyburn, $50; Charles H. and Ida M. Lane, $100; George A. Paddock, $50; Brooks-Scanlon, $2500; J. J. Klein, $100; Bend Company, $2500.

THREE INSTRUCTORS TO LEAVE SCHOOLS

Resignations of Teachers Accepted by Board—Kenwood Evacuation Contract Let.

Three more instructors for the Bend schools will have to be engaged for the coming year, for at the special meeting of the school board last night resignations were handed in by Miss Beatrice Ohman, Miss Maybelle Wagner and Mrs. Hazel Stevens. The instructors' withdrawals were accepted.

The board authorized the letting of the contract for excavation for the new Kenwood school to Tom Murphy.

NEW TRUCKS USE PNEUMATIC TIRES

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

A two-ton G. M. C. truck and another of three-quarters of a ton capacity were received here today by the Bend Garage. The larger machine was purchased by A. Gebhard of Port Rock, the other having been ordered for the Miller Lumber Co. A feature of the new truck is the fact that it is equipped with pneumatic tires. These are 40 by 8 inches for the rear and 36 by 6 inches for the front wheels of the larger machine.
