

RARE EGGS ARE FOUND BY LAD

NEST OF "CAMP ROBBER" DISCOVERED NEAR CRESCENT IS SAID TO BE FIRST EVER FOUND—BIRDS PLENTIFUL.

(From Friday's Daily.)
The only nest and eggs of the Canadian jay, better known locally as the "camp robber," which have ever been collected as far as is known, were received at the headquarters of the Deschutes National forest here last night, and will be sent this evening to district headquarters in Portland. Nest and eggs were found near Crescent by Maynard Smith, on his father's homestead and were sent into Bend by Ranger C. D. Springer.

To those accustomed to the big woods of the western states the Canadian jay is a very common and often most troublesome bird, deriving his other name from the habit of hanging about camps for the purpose of purloining provisions. Nest and eggs, however, are always cunningly concealed, and until the discovery by young Smith this phase of the bird's life has remained a mystery. The nest received here last night, carefully built of grass, sticks and moss, was found about six feet from the ground in a jack pine, and was concealed by a shield of twigs woven by the parent birds. The eggs, four in number, are about the size of a robin's egg, sharply pointed at one end and are tinted a faint blue, with light brown specks.

It is possible that the nest and eggs may remain a part of the district collection, although it is known that the Smithsonian institute, and other centers of higher education, have been endeavoring for years to secure similar specimens.

REROUTING OF MAIL WANTED

BURNS MERCHANTS ANXIOUS TO HAVE POSTAL AND FREIGHT MATTER COME THROUGH BEND INSTEAD OF CRANE.

(From Thursday's Daily.)
That merchants of Burns are anxious to have their mail routed through Bend instead of going by way of Crane is the assertion of E. P. Mahaffey of the Central Oregon bank, who returned this morning from Portland, where he conferred with the state highway commission and Burns road delegates. A 24-hour saving in time would be effected by the change in routing, it is said.
The Burns delegates also expressed themselves as favoring having their freight sent overland from Bend, being willing to pay the slight additional charge in order to be in touch with Portland jobbers, rather than to have to do their trading with Salt Lake City companies, Mr. Mahaffey said.

FINANCE COMMITTEE TO SUBMIT REPORT

Will Recommend Against Future Payments by City Officials, in Warrants, as Outcome of Investigation.

(From Friday's Daily.)
At the close of a meeting held last night by the finance committee of the city council, City Attorney C. S. Benson and Max Crandall, expert accountant, the committee formulated a report to be submitted at the next council meeting, in which disapproval of the payment of an obligation by an official, to the city, will be expressed. The meeting was held chiefly for the purpose of going over the financial report recently submitted by Mr. Crandall, and to investigate that part of the report bearing on the accounts of former City Recorder Ellis.

The committee's report, as it is proposed to be submitted to the council, reviews the statement in Mr. Crandall's financial summary, that when the new city administration came into office $2990 was owed to the city, that on April 15, $2604.31 was paid in warrants, and that the balance was paid in cash yesterday. The protest against payment in warrants is made, not because it is in any sense illegal, but because it allows an opportunity for the retirement of warrants out of their chronological order.

Put it in "THE BULLETIN."
