

CLUB ASKS FOR GAME OFFICIALS

NAMES OF 12 ARE SUGGESTED FOR APPOINTMENT AS SPECIAL WARDENS—SALARIED DEPUTY ALSO ASKED.

(From Saturday's Daily.)
Recommendations for the appointment of 12 men from this section as special game wardens were made last night at the meeting of the Rod and Gun club. The members of the club have been given to understand that their recommendations will be acted on immediately. Another request made, asking the appointment of a salaried deputy warden for Central Oregon, is not so certain of fulfillment. At present this work is all in the hands of W. O. Hadley, whose headquarters are at The Dalles.
The special appointments which the club is asking include the names of D. G. McPherson, W. C. Birdsall, C. M. McKay, R. S. Hamilton, A. Edwards, W. R. Speck, C. A. Hayden, J. C. Rhodes, A. O. Schilling, Dr. W. G. Manning, Lloyd Douthitt and D. H. Peoples.

DEPOSITS AT BANK REACH HIGH MARK

(From Thursday's Daily.)
Indicative of the prosperity which Bend and the surrounding country are enjoying is the report made today by C. S. Hudson, president of the First National bank, that for the past six weeks deposits at the bank have cleared more than $1,000,000 daily.
The First National has passed the million mark before, but it has been in the fall when ranchers were realizing heavily on sheep and wool. The spring season is generally considered as the dull time of the year in the banking business, and the fact that deposits are reaching so large a total is taken as a most favorable indication.

BEND CHAUTAUQUA DATES ANNOUNCED

(From Thursday's Daily.)
Dates for the 1919 Chautauqua were fixed today in a letter from the Ellison-White company, which has the contract for supplying the talent for the big entertainment here, for July 2 to 7, inclusive. An overseas quartet is featured as one of the six musical attractions, with Judge Alden of Massachusetts, heading the list of speakers.

COLD RETARDS FOREST RANGE

GRASS IS THREE WEEKS BEHIND, REPORTS SUPERVISOR JACOBSON—HIGH WINDS SUCK MOISTURE FROM THE SOIL.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Cold weather extending into the late spring has made the grazing season on the Sisters-Metolius range three weeks later than the average this year, is the report made by Forest Supervisor N. G. Jacobson, just returned to Bend from a trip of inspection through the Sisters country. Growth of grass has been checked to such an extent that it will be impossible to allow stock on the range until the first of June, he declares. At present there is plenty of moisture in the ground but this is being dried up by the high winds, winds.

At Suttles lake Mr. Jacobson noted that the work is being started on the renovation of the summer resort at that place. The new holders of the concession are fitting up new dressing rooms for bathers and will have a dance floor and boats-for campers.
