THE

Farming is our oldest profession. It is the basis of all prosperity. Reams have been written about it. Still there is much progress to be made. To assist in this good work is our intention.

Now, we are starting a Pig Club, and we want the boys and girls of Central Oregon to investigate and join this organization. It will mean an education in live stock raising. Our Agricultural Extension Department will direct the work. Nothing will be left undone to make it a success. A movement like this deserves your co-operation. Let us encourage these stockmen of the future.

Banks throughout the country have fostered the movement. As lasting benefits to the community are bound to result. No worthier work can be done than interesting our boys and girls in farm life. Keep them more interested in the tinkle of the cow-bells, than in the clang of the trolley cars, and the prosperity of our nation is assured.

MOTTLED BUTTER MAY BE PREVENTED

Elimination of Defect in Appearance Will Result in Higher Prices from Purchaser.

"Mottled butter is frequently to be found on the market at this time of the year and even though it may be of very good quality it is strongly discriminated against by the purchaser. As this defect is one of workmanship it can be overcome by the application of proper methods on the part of the buttermaker. Mottles are caused primarily by an uneven distribution of salt in the butter.

butter. This may be produced by insufficient working of the butter, or by churning, washing or working it at a very low temperature, or by washing or working it at a temperature several degrees higher or lower than the churning temperature.

When the quantity of butter made in one churning is much less than usual it is necessary to work it a greater number of revolutions of the churn than usual in order to produce the same results on the butter. Extremely low temperatures of churning, washing and working are to be avoided, because they produce so firm a butter that it is only with great difficulty that the salt can be worked uniformly into it. High temperatures of churning, washing and working must also be avoided to prevent an abnormal loss of fat in the buttermilk and also the making of a greasy, leaky butter.

Great variations of temperature during the manufacturing process are always to be avoided. Under normal conditions the temperature of the wash water would be the same as, or within two degrees of that of the buttermilk.
