BENHAM FALLS WORK KEPT UP

JEFFERSON COUNTY MEN COME TO GIVE ASSISTANCE—INTENSIVE GEOLOGICAL STUDY IS MADE—RESULTS GOOD.

For the purpose of assisting in any way possible in the work of the geologists who are studying the Benham falls reservoir site, a party of Jefferson county men, consisting of Howard W. Turner, A. D. Anderson, spent last Wednesday in the field with Messrs. Crosby and Hamlin. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Poulson took them out on Thursday also. The work continues in the vicinity of and above Benham falls, where a careful and intensive study is being made of the geological formation. No official statement of the results of this study has been made, but it is believed that so far nothing has been found to indicate any reason why the reservoir should not be constructed as planned.

ALFALFA CULTURE FAME IS GROWING

That the fame of Deschutes county methods of alfalfa culture is spreading rapidly, is shown by a letter received this morning by R. A. Ward of the First National Bank, from Powell, Wyoming, in which information as to the use of sulphur in connection with alfalfa farming, is asked. The needed information was promptly furnished.

BIG YIELD OF HAY AT TERREBONNE

Sulphur-Strengthened Soil Produces 3.62 Tons on One Acre for First Cutting.

Despite last frosts, remarkably high yields are being made on the alfalfa farms in the Terrebonne section this year. The record cut measured to date was made on the ranch of W. R. Davidson, where 3.62 tons of hay were taken on the first cutting from one acre. The soil had been strengthened by sulphur applications.

SHEEP MEN GET MORE THAN WOOL SALE BID

After refusing an offer of 46 cents per pound for their wool at the wool sale here last month, Pike Brothers, of Summer Lake, are winners to the tune of 7 cents per pound, according to E. P. Mahaffey, of the Central Oregon bank. Having made no sale here, the wool was shipped to a Portland warehouse and through it an offer of 53 cents per pound was made, and accepted yesterday. Pike Brothers had about 15,000 pounds of wool, so that their extra profit is about $1050.

SOLDIER INTERESTED IN LAND SITUATION

Indicative of the interest taken by soldiers in opportunities to acquire land is a letter received by United States Commissioner H. C. Ellis from a soldier in France about to return to this country. The letter asks concerning homestead and timber land opportunities in the vicinity of Bend and requests that a reply be sent to his home address in this country. A Commercial club booklet has been sent to him.

REPAIRS MADE TO TETHEROW BRIDGE

Much needed repairs to the Tetherow bridge over the Deschutes, in the northern part of the county, are now being made by County Road Master Walt May and a crew of men, who began work Thursday. Although needed for some time, the repairs have not been undertaken until the present time because of water conditions. The water is now low enough to make the work possible.

House Work in Hot Weather.
