CITY COUNCIL ORDERS NOTES

BEND TO HAVE $25,000 AVAILABLE SOON.

Bids Are Asked on New Fire Equipment—20-Year Water Franchise Is Asked by E. D. Gilson—Concrete Walks Ordered.

Final steps to place Bend finances on a firm footing were taken Tuesday night by the city council when an ordinance was passed under an emergency clause issuing to Morris Bros. of Portland $25,000 worth of one-year 6 per cent. notes for $24,675. The ordinance was immediately signed by Mayor J. A. Eastes, and the money will be available for city use in retiring warrants now due and in taking care of the deficit of the present year, as soon as the notes can be printed by the bonding house.

Recommendations for additional fire fighting equipment, made by the state rating bureau in a report to the city council, were read, and later a revised list, better fitted for a city of this size, prepared by George W. Stokes, representing the state fire marshal, was presented by Councilman McPherson. It was decided to issue a call for bids on the equipment. Three hundred feet of inch and a half hose and a reel are chief among the items to be purchased.

School Called Fire Trap.
The report of John O. Baker, representative of the rating bureau, on the new fire engine was read and ordered filed. It was on Mr. Baker's report that the engine had already been accepted by the city. A report from Fire Chief Tom Carlson declared the Central school building to be a firetrap, and stated that Mr. Stokes had recommended that it be condemned.

Franchise Asked.
Seeking a 20-year franchise according to E. D. Gilson the privilege of operating a water system for the city, an ordinance bill was introduced and read for the first time without discussion. According to plans already announced, Mr. Gilson contemplates supplying the city with water from Spring river.

The council approved the appointment made by the mayor of E. L. Stevens as chief fire engineer, and of Joe Davis as assistant poundmaster, and passed five ordinances under emergency clauses ordering the construction of concrete walks in a portion of the business district.

Put it in The Bulletin.

TIME FOR FOOD SALE EXTENDED

Order books for food now selling at the postoffice will remain open until all the merchandise available has been applied for. Mr. Hudson announced Tuesday. This will give residents of the rural districts, who may have received late notices, a chance to take advantage of the government's plan to lower the cost of living, he pointed out.

Vegetables Favored.
Up to this afternoon six orders had been placed, totalling close to 1500 pounds. Rice and canned cherries, of which a very limited supply was offered, were quickly disposed of, and next in popular favor were canned tomatoes and corn, the government price for which is considerably less than the current retail quotation.

May Club Orders.
Little desire was shown for flour, which, with postage added, has but little appreciable difference from the ordinary retail price, while bacon was turned down in spite of the fact that the government's quotation is approximately 50 per cent. lower than the present retail charges. This commodity, Mr. Hudson mentioned, is one of the first to be asked for, but because it must be purchased in case lots the individual buyer does not feel disposed to order. Mr. Hudson believes, however, that the supply offered for Bend will be disposed of by householders clubbing their orders on bacon and on other articles where the rules specify buying in quantity.

Money paid into the postoffice grocery store for articles ordered and for postage on orders from San Francisco to Bend totalled $148.48 this morning.

STACKERS SAVE IN HAYING SEASON

Unloading by Machine Releases Hand Power by Use of Horses—Life Is 10 to 12 Years.

Thousands of farmers who faced the harvesting of a large hay crop last year with fewer hands than usual to help do the work owe their success in handling and saving their crop to hay stackers. The hay stacker is to stacking what the horse fork is to putting hay in the barn, a savior of man and labor. A boy who can drive a team can take the place of a man in the haying operation. Two men and a boy using a loader and stacker will handle about 75 per cent more hay for each man during a day than a three-man crew loading and unloading by hand.

Small Stacks Not Economical.

In building a haystack with a stacker it is scarcely economical to make one containing less than 10 tons. It is common on many farms to see stacks of hay at the end or corner of the field next to the farm buildings, the site being chosen in order to have the hay handy for feeding. The total distance traveled in bringing hay to one side of a square field is approximately 50 per cent greater than in hauling to the center. If the stack is located at one corner of the field, the distance traveled is 100 per cent greater.

The aim of all good stack builders is to make a stack that will not "take water." This can be accomplished by tramping the middle well and always keeping it higher than the edges during the process of building.

MILLICAN MAN HAS FINE SWINE RECORD

An unusually fine record in hog raising in Central Oregon is that made by R. R. Koller of the Millican district, who during the week brought in to Bend three 4-month-old porkers, averaging 146 pounds each. Milk formed a large part of the ration used in bringing the pigs rapidly to marketable size.
