ROAD VIEWERS DENY PETITION

The road extension in the Alfalfa district petitioned by Carl Larson and others, is not a public necessity, damages ranch property, and therefore shall be denied, is the report filed by the viewers, A. S. Holmes of Lower Bridge, R. J. Skelton of Cloverdale, and County Surveyor R. B. Gould. The report will be acted on by the county court at its next meeting.

"We found a reasonably cheap location from the point of view of construction," the report reads. "The country traversed is entirely without settlement. Considerable damage would be done to the ranch of Mary Benn, the line cutting off 200 acres from the water. The ranch is for stock, and the damage allowed would be considerable. Construction of five miles of fences would also be needed."

"The reason set forth for the road are not sufficient to warrant the expenditure, particularly as the road terminates at the Crook county line, at a point where no road in said Crook county touches, and no assurance can be given that the rural route required will be allowed by postal authorities, even if the road should be allowed and constructed. We find that the said road is not a public necessity, and therefore recommend that the prayer of the petitioners be not granted."

One of the grounds for the petition was to make possible the extension of a rural free delivery route from Powell Butte to Alfalfa.

BEND FOOTBALL MAN GIVEN HIGH PRAISE

Everett Brandenburg left Sunday night for Eugene, where he will take up his studies at the University of Oregon. Brandenburg is captain of the 1919 Oregon football team and will begin training under "Shy" Huntington immediately upon his arrival at Eugene.

According to Coach Huntington, Brandenburg will be one of the sensations of northwest football this year if he has gained anything from his experience of the last two years. Brandenburg is a backfield man, and before entering the university was one of the best known football men in Central Oregon while in the Bend high school.

BLOW ON HEAD KILLS FARMER

Charles Burns, aged 44 years, an employe on the ranch of County Commissioner Seth Stookey, on the Bend Burns road, bled to death on Monday, within three minutes after receiving a blow on the side of the head from a log of wood which fell from the wagon which he was helping to unload. Medical aid was immediately summoned, but there was no chance that a physician could arrive from Bend in time to be of any assistance. The injured man bled violently from the nose and mouth, and spoke no word after being hit, Mr. Stookey said. The right side of the head, where the log had struck, showed only slight abrasions.

Blow on Head Fatal.
 The tragedy occurred a few minutes after the load of wood had been driven to the Stookey ranch. Burns had crawled under the wagon to loosen a coupling pin, while Mr. Stookey and his son were throwing off logs from the right side of the load. Another log apparently loosened by one which they had dislodged, rolled off the left side, Mr. Stookey states. Just as Burns emerged from under the wagon, striking him on the head. No remedial measures were of any avail.
 Mr. Stookey immediately communicated with the authorities, and Sheriff S. E. Roberts and Corner C. P. Niswonger started early this afternoon for the ranch.
 Mr. Burns had been a resident in the vicinity of Millican for the past three years, homesteading in that section, and being employed on the Stookey ranch during that time. He was unmarried, and has no relatives near here.

$89,736 IS BID ON STATE ROAD

Grading of The Dalles-California highway from Bend to the Jefferson County line, will be done for $89,736, the amount of the low bid submitted by E. F. Logan, of this city, at the meeting of the State Highway commission in Portland Saturday. It was learned Monday. Work is to begin at once.
 It is the intention of the commission to spend $1,520,000 in Klamath county. Of this sum $380,000 comes from the county; the state will put up as much more, making $760,000, and the government is to be asked to match this state and county money, making a total of $1,520,000. The commission will build a standard state road, which is 16-foot roadway, but there will be a 12-foot travel where the traffic does not justify standard width. Klamath county court submitted a proposition to build three miles of the Klamath Falls-Algona section for the cost plus of 10 per cent, and the commission agreed to accept the offer.

 Bids will be called for the rest of the Klamath Falls-Algona road, the Klamath Falls-Dairy road and the Klamath Falls-Maine road, this latter connecting with the California state lines. These roads are to be standard width, but beyond Dairy will be a 12-foot width.
 For Lake county the commission ordered for advertising the Lakeview-Crooked creek section.
