

PORTLAND WILL HELP RAILROAD

AID IS PLEDGED AT KLAMATH.

Business from Half the State Will Drain Through Bend to Portland if Strahorn System Is Put Through, Says Builder.

KLAMATH FALLS, Oct. 15.—Realizing that railroad communication is a necessity if a vast bulk of trade now centered in San Francisco is to be diverted to Portland, Portland Chamber of Commerce delegates on the special sent to Klamath Falls, have pledged Portland's support in the construction of the Strahorn road. Fifty per cent of the area of the state will be opened up by the road, it is claimed. As explained by Mr. Strahorn to the Portland men, Crane, Lakeview, and Klamath Falls, with the immense country tributary, will drain through Bend to the chief city of Oregon, when his system is completed.

Lakeview residents expressed the sentiment that their country is more than ready to do business with Portland, providing adequate communication is assured. At present, however, thousands of head of sheep and cattle are yearly sent to the southern markets because of the longer railroad journey which would be involved in shipping to the north.

Will Shorten Haul.

The distance from Klamath Falls to San Francisco is 430 miles, to Portland it is 506 miles. By the Strahorn railroad the distance will be shortened to 480 miles, with direct service. The Natron cutoff would shorten the distance to 329 miles, but against its immediate construction has been urged the cost estimate of $11,000,000, as against a million and a half dollars to get the Strahorn railroad connected with Bend.

Portland excursionists yesterday morning visited local mills.

There is a stand of timber estimated at 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 feet, nearby, enough to run 30 or 40 years, and the mills manufacture box shooks enough to more than pack the orange and lemon crop of California.

Portland Help Important.

Yesterday afternoon there was an excursion over the Oregon, California & Eastern, or Strahorn, road, which has been completed 20 miles to Dalry and is handling considerable trade.

Nathan Strauss, excursion chairman, and W. L. Thompson of the First National Bank spoke for Portland at the Tuesday night banquet which lasted until Wednesday morning. They emphasized the fact that Portland's influence will mean Central Oregon transportation.

BEND IS INVITED TO REDMOND SHOW

Parade Is Scheduled for Tomorrow Afternoon, and Many from This City Expected to Attend.

A special invitation to the people of Bend to attend the Redmond potato show, which began today, was sent out yesterday by M. A. Lynch, chairman of the general committee in charge of the show. The event of the afternoon, Mr. Lynch states, will be a parade featuring community industry, schools, and livestock.

Tomorrow will be Bend day at the show, and it is expected that a large number will be in attendance from here.

ASK SUBSCRIPTIONS TO HELP CHILDREN

Campaign Will Seek to Raise $1000 of $60,000 Total in Deschutes County by October 26.

To further the "Be a brick, buy a brick" campaign started to raise money for a $60,000 children's home in Portland, Mrs. Clara Upton and Mrs. Eleanor Fowler, of Portland, are in Bend today. This county's quota, Mrs. Upton explains, has been set at $1,000, and one-tenth of this amount was received when the county court made the first contribution of $100.

Mrs. Emerson Stockwell has been appointed to take charge of the campaign in this county, which will continue through all of next week, concluding with a tag sale. Crook county's campaign will be put on at the same time, Mrs. Upton said.
