

ARREST SAVES RADICAL FROM MILL WORKERS

CENTRALIA CRIME IS

Case of Albert Lang, Charged With Anarchistic Utterances to be Turned Over to U. S. District Attorney.

Just in time to save Albert Lang, mill employe, from a severe beating, and possibly from lynching, Officer Tom Carlson answered a call from the Rogers boarding house shortly after noon Thursday, arrested Lang, and 10 minutes later had him safely locked in the county jail. Mr. Carlson reported that he found Lang surrounded by a crowd of mill workers who were highly enraged over remarks Lang is said to have passed upholding the murder of American Legion men at Centralia on Armistice Day by I. W. W's.

"It serves them right for monkeying with the I. W. W.," Lang is alleged to have said after declaring that he was an I. W. W., and "proud of it." Lang has also been instrumental in distributing quantities of the ultra-radical literature, the officials say, and they declare further that when the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Co. roundhouse burned a few weeks ago, he was an interested spectator at the fire, and was heard to remark that "all the mill ought to be burned."

Despite the fact that he was rescued from very probable violence at the hands of other patrons of the boarding house, Lang was unwilling to accompany Mr. Carlson, and did so only after the officer had told him in plain terms that he would take him to jail in an unconscious condition if there were any further talk of resistance. Sheriff S. E. Roberts, in whose custody the prisoner now is, will advise the U. S. District Attorney in Portland, of the arrest, and of the circumstances prompting it.

LANG GETS 30 DAYS FOR SLURRING LEGION

A. Lang arrested last week at the Rogers boarding house after making remarks to the effect that the Centralia members of the American Legion killed on Armistice day got only what was coming to them, appeared before City Recorder Peoples Saturday afternoon for trial, and was sentenced to 30 days in jail for disorderly conduct, there being no city ordinance making other provision for such acts as he had committed.

Witnesses against Lang were Ora Myers, a member of the 4 Ls, living at the Rogers Boarding house and C. A. Scurry, the manager.

EARLY BUYING IS WISE PLAN

MERCHANTS ADVOCATE EARLY
SHOPPING—OWING TO SHORT-
AGE OF STOCK AND DIFFICULTY TO DUPLICATE.

Although Christmas is more than a month off—think about buying early this year. There are good reasons, merchants advance why people should buy early this year. The condition of the market in which merchandise is hard to get, and more difficult to duplicate, when present stocks are depleted, make this year an unusual one in buying.

For many months past local merchants have been trying desperately to fill their stocks with reasonable merchandise for the holiday season. They say that they have been more successful in their endeavors to get this merchandise than they could have hoped for earlier in the year.

It is the belief of the merchants of this city that the 1919 Christmas will be a practical Christmas. With merchandise high, they believe that people will give useful gifts this year. Following that reasoning they have filled their holiday stocks with merchandise that will be useful.

The merchants urge their patrons to begin this coming week to do their Christmas shopping.

TO VOTE ON ORGANIZATION OF AN IRRIGATED DISTRICT.

Hearing in the matter of the petition signed by A. J. Harter and 73 other ranchers in the Tumalo section asking that a date be set for an irrigation district organization election, was held by the Deschutes county court Thursday afternoon, resulting in the announcing of December 20, as the time at which the balloting will take place. Sam Macartney, George Sandel, and A. J. Gonsason were appointed judges of the election. No objection to the petition were filed with the court.

The contemplated district includes the lands now within the boundaries of the Tumalo irrigation project.

CRIME ANGERS BEND CITIZENS

DEATH OF WARREN GRIMM IN
CENTRALIA AROUSES INDIG-
NATION OF MANY FRIENDS AND ACQUAINTANCES.

News of the killing of four members of the American Legion in Centralia by I. W. W's, was received in Bend with indignation which boded ill for any "wobblers" who might be found in this vicinity. Not only was this due to the nature of the wanton crime, but also to the fact that one of the victims of the Centralia anarchists, Warren Grimm, was intimately known to a number of Bend people, while many others who had seen him in action on the gridiron when he played for the University of Washington, felt a sense of real loss.

Warren Grimm was a close personal friend of Fred A. Woelfien at the university, and in officers' training camp at the Presidio, where the two were "bunkies." Elmer Ward, of the Brooks-Scanlon office force, knew him intimately at Centralia, and Frank Chitty, recalled the time when the murdered man then practicing law in Centralia, had performed a legal service for him, and had refused compensation giving as his reason that he too, was planning to enter the service at an early date. Ray Canterbury, vice-president of the International Timberworkers Union, formerly of Chehalis, knew him in his high school football days, and spoke feelingly of his high character as a man and his ability as an athlete.

Upon his arrival in the city this week Burns began immediate training for his bout on the evening of November 27. Followers of the ring game say that he will give a hot battle to Gilbert. The local boxer has fully recovered from a badly bruised hand he received in his engagement with Morrissey recently in this city.

CREAMERY'S NEEDS TOLD TO FARMERS

As another step in the movement fostered by the directors of the farmers' cooperative creamery, and the First National Bank, to create increased interest in the local creamery and to make possible a greater output of its products, E. E. Butler,

"Don't Cheat Yourself" says the Good Judge

There's nothing saved by chewing ordinary tobacco. A little chew of that good rich-tasting tobaccogoesalotfarther, and its good taste lasts all the way through.

Little chew—lasting—satisfying. That's why it's a real saving to buy this class of tobacco.

P. J. Pedersen, Charles Sipchen, Jack Arnold, and R. A. Ward visited the alfalfa district on Wednesday, addressing a number of ranchers who gathered at the schoolhouse.

Mr. Arnold explained that Portland creameries, in order to secure Deschutes county trade, at first give bonuses for butter fat, but later decreased the price paid until it is actually one cent below that paid in Bend, while Mr. Butler, urging support for the local creamery, gave a brief history of the industry, and of the farmers' organization that is behind it. Mr. Sipchen solicited the cream from Alfalfa ranches, declaring that the creamery, with its present equipment, could double its output, but that the demand for butter in Bend is so large that the creamery output is insufficient.

Mr. Ward told of the two ways to increase butter fat production, by securing the patronage of the farmer and by increasing the number and quality of cows milked on the ranches. So far, he said, orders have been taken for 34 registered Jerseys by the First National for the farmers and he emphasized the importance of high grade stock on the ranch, when he told of the world record for a Jersey heifer, established by Silver Chimes Gwendola, the product of a Silverton ranch. With butterfat at 70 cents a pound, this animal's record was 10,555 pounds of milk, with over 500 pounds of fat.
