Eight Children Had Croup.

"I have eight children and give Foley's Honey and Tar to all of them," writes Mrs. P. Rehkamp, 2404 Herman St., Covington, Ky.; "they all were subject to croup." It loosens mucus and phlegm, stops that strangling cough, makes easy breathing possible and permits quiet sleep. Contains no opiates. Children like it.—Sold Everywhere.

PIGS LIKE GROUND GRAINS.

Grinding small grains for fattening pigs effects a saving of about 10 percent over feeding them whole, corn excepted according to experiments at the Corvallis and Union experiment stations. The percentage is on the basis of amounts of feed required to produce 100 pounds of gain. It costs much more to grind the grain fine than coarse, but it is then no better. It does not pay to soak the ground feeds, and cooking is detrimental to grain feeds. It pays to cook potatoes well, but roots and pumpkins are not benefited by cooking. Full information on feeds and feeding pigs to finish for market is contained in a new bulletin published by the O. A. C. Experiment station, Corvallis, Oregon.
