

LARGE HOLIDAY BUSINESS DONE

VOLUME OF CHRISTMAS TRADE WELL IN EXCESS OF LAST YEAR IN SPITE OF EFFECTS OF BIG STORM.

While the amount of Christmas business transacted is not quite so large as had been expected, it is well in excess of the volume of trade at this time a year ago, according to Bend merchants who are being rushed to death by the demands of Christmas shoppers. The record snow storm is given as the chief cause for the slight falling off in the amount of trade expected at this season, for city streets and county roads alike, proved a hindrance to buyers for more than a week after the record snowfall. In fact the first country shoppers to come in to make up their Christmas lists, visited Bend Saturday.

In spite of the effect of the storm, however, the merchants are having just about all the work that they can take care of, these last few days, and especially busy afternoons have prompted the opening of stores during the evenings. Many holiday stocks, it is admitted, will be well cleaned out when Christmas Eve brings buying to an end.

In handling the large quantities of mail matter leaving the city and arriving in Bend, Acting Postmaster W. H. Hudson expresses himself as being more than pleased with the response which the people have made to the "mail early" appeal. Extra clerks are being worked at the office, and one more package window is being used than last year, but up to now there has been no congestion. Matter sent out was received much earlier than usual this year, Mr. Hudson says, and the only possibility of congestion was overcome Sunday when a two hours' delivery disposed of waiting mail matter.

ROOMER IN JAIL IS FOUND INSANE

Tony Forza Adjudged Mentally Abnormal and is Committed to Asylum at Pendleton.

While making his second stay in the county jail within a week's time, Tony Forza, who at the time of his first arrest gave his name as Tony Ferrato, was examined Monday afternoon by County Physician R. W. Hendershott, pronounced insane, and committed to the state asylum at Pendleton by Judge W. D. Barnes. Forza, who has been working in the woods for the Shevlin-Hixon Co., suffers from a periodical type of insanity, and during these abnormal periods, develops an intense longing for music.

DOUBLE EPIDEMIC HITS TERREBONNE

LaGrippe and Chicken Pox Cases Are Reported Numerous in North of County.

TERREBONNE, Dec. 25.—Terrebonne has thawed out at last while there was not much real suffering there was a great deal of inconvenience caused by the storm. Any of the houses are not adequate for such cold weather and a good many farmers had not their winter supply of wood on hand. Ordinarily it is so easy to go out and bring in a juniper but this time it was not easy. Some livestock suffered for lack of shelter but in most cases there was plenty of feed.

Wester and Ralston lost about 100 head of sheep and would have lost many more had it not been for the heroic efforts of friends and neighbors to get feed to them. For a few days practically every available man and team in the community was busy breaking roads and hauling or packing on horseback grain and hay for the starving flock which were eating the wool from each other's backs.

School closed December 16, on account of the storm and will not reopen until December 29.

De Witt Williams the grammar grade teacher took the teachers examination in Bend last week.

Miss Irma Keeney is spending the holidays in Portland.

A good many cases of grippe and chicken-pox have been reported in fact nearly every family has been visited with one or both maladies though there have been none seriously ill.

Mrs. Joe Howard and young son of Lower Bridge spent the past week with her mother, Mrs. John Dietrich.

Mrs. Harvey Gates returned home from her visit in Dakota in time for the blizzard and she has been dreaming all the while that she was still in Dakota.

Several merry parties were out with bob-sleds and jingle bells last week.

A fine young son arrived at the home of M. and Mrs. George Elliott last Sunday.

The old blacksmith shop recently occupied by Chas. Thompson collapsed under the heavy weight of snow.

He believes that the indoor sport will quickly become popular in Bend.

Afternoon and evening skating will be made available daily with the exception of Saturday night, when the dance under union management will continue as usual.

NEEDS BOAT TRAILER ON FORT ROCK TRUCK

Trucks are now able to make the trip between Fort Rock and Bend with comparative ease, according to Charles Ayres, forest ranger, who arrived in Bend shortly before midnight Sunday night, after piloting the forest service vehicle over a 10 hour course. He could have brought in a bigger load had he used a boat for a trailer, he said, for much of the way, water from the melting snow came to the hubs of the truck.

LOGGER WINS $50 ON HALLEY'S COMET BET

Because Halley's comet took its joy ride through space in sight of the earth in 1910 instead of some other year, Ted Wathne, of Shevlin-Hixon Camp No. 1, is $50 richer today, and Fred Lovenburg, a fellow workman is just that much poorer. Wathne had the winning side of the bet, which was decided late yesterday afternoon.
