CHRISTMAS DAY WELL OBSERVED

SPECIAL CHURCH SERVICES, CHILDREN'S MATINEES, AND DANCES DRAW MANY — CAROLS USHER IN HOLIDAY.

With a light fall of fresh snow still on the ground, Bend enjoyed ideal weather for an ideal Christmas yesterday, and with special morning services at the churches, matinees at the theatres for the children, and dancing in the evening, to say nothing of the many family groups who spent the day at home, there was no lack of observance of the anniversary of the birth of Christ. The old world custom of singing Christmas carols was also observed, and singers and players who passed from corner to corner, wakened many who lingered in bed on Christmas morning.

A pleasant feature of the day was the entertainment afforded the children of Bend by O. M. Whittington, manager of the Grand and Liberty Theatres, and J. Charles Smith, of the Parisian. Mr. Whittington had announced that pupils of the Bend schools from the eight grade down, would be his guests at the Liberty for the afternoon showing of "The Valley of the Giants," and when the doors were opened, more than 400 youngsters who had been jammed outside, surged in. A most appreciative crowd they were, and violent applause as the screen drama progressed, announced to all who passed that the young folks were having the time of their lives.

At the Grand, Mr. Smith entertained all the boys in town who either carry or sell papers, 23 enjoying his hospitality at the matinee performance of "The Brat." As each boy entered the theatre, he was handed a sack of candy and nuts which Mr. Smith had provided for the occasion. Newsboys' Day will be an annual affair as long as he remains in Bend, Mr. Smith says.

OFFICERS IN FEAR OF NEW BEVERAGES

That a real need is being felt in Bend for apparatus to test the alcoholic content of liquids believed to be liquor, is the declaration of Police Judge D. H. Peoples, who has found that human stomachs will not stand up under the rapid erosive action of some of the potions now being sold under the guise of whiskey. Two bottles of suspicious looking stuff are now in the custody of the court, but no one has had courage to ascertain just what the contents might be, and in consequence charges against the individuals from whom the bottles were taken, have been dropped.

In each case, the bottle held a dark, mysterious looking fluid, the smell of which brought up faint recollections—only faint ones, however,—of brass rails, mahogany bars, and suave, white-aproned gentlemen inquiring your pleasure. In former days, some hardy official could be found who would venture to sample contraband liquors, but they now declare that a machine gun and the mysterious beverages recently confiscated are in one and the same class for deadliness.

of this city. Colonel Pringle, who was with the Canadian forces overseas, visited in Bend early last year, and has many acquaintances in the city.

Prizes will be awarded for the best characters at the masquerade New Years ball to be given by the ladies of the Moose Legion in Sather's Hall.
