

PEDIGREED FOWLS BEST INVESTMENT

Even Fewer Birds of High Class
Will Bring Greater Profit—
Trap Nests Necessary.

A bird with a pedigree is commanding a fancy price in poultry circles today. Ancestry counts in chickens quite as much as in cattle or horses, and every poultry man or woman who is endeavoring to build up the egg productivity of his flock is a bird with a good egg-producing ancestry to head it. Better still, he buys a pen of pedigreed birds and gradually culls out his common stock. For these birds he goes to a reliable breeder of the variety that he keeps. It is not profitable for the owner of a large flock who is producing eggs and chickens for market to pedigree. The breeder, handling fewer birds and making a relatively higher profit on each one, can afford to expend more time and care on the individuals. With him it is not "how many," but "how good."

Trap Nests Necessary.
Pedigreeing a chicken means the keeping of a complete breeding record. This involves a record by a band or some other accurate means of identification of the male and female which are mated; a record, with the aid of a trap nest, of each egg laid; an arrangement of the eggs in the incubator so that the baby chicks can be identified and the labeling of the chicks by a leg band after their removal from the incubator.

By means of leg banded hens and trap nests the breeder is able to identify every egg produced and to mark each egg. The United States Department of Agriculture poultry specialists mark the big end of the egg with the number of the hen and then put underneath that the pen number. The number on the leg band of the hen gives the clue in the record book to her pedigree. The pen number gives the information regarding the sire.

TELEPHONE COMPANY WOULD RAISE RATES

Setting forth that insufficient funds are available for maintenance and repair of the Farmers' National Telephone Co., operating at Tumalo, a petition filed by Manager A. J. Harter has been submitted to the Public Service commission asking for an advance in rates.

Present charges are $2 a month for business telephones, and $1 a month for residence telephones, with no switching charges for non-subscribers. The company desires to advance its rates to the following scale:

Business phones, $2.50; residence phones, $1.50; Switching charge for non-subscribers, 25 cents.

Under the present method of operation, the petition states the monthly income is $63. The monthly salary of the telephone central is $63, and the salary of manager $5 a month, leaving only $3 to cover incidental expenses.

Don't Neglect the Little Ones.
Mrs. J. S. Pitts, 375 E. 15th St., Cleveland, O., writes: "I can't speak too highly of Foley's Honey and Tar. When my little girl had a cold I gave her Foley's Honey and Tar and that stops her coughing in a little while. Children like it. It contains no opiates. It is healing, soothing, prompt in action."—Adv.

NOTICE OF CONTEST.

Department of the Interior,
Lakeview, Oregon,
February 12, 1920.
To Thomas H. Hanna of unknown address, contestee:

You are hereby notified that Justin R. Postle who gives Box 580, Bend, Oregon, as his post-office address, did on January 17, 1920, file in this office his duly corroborated application to contest and secure the cancellation of your homestead entry, serial No. 07364 made April 3, 1914, for East half, section 22, township 22 S. range 17 E. Willamette Meridian, and as grounds for his contest he alleges that Thomas H. Hanna filed his said entry more than five years prior to the date hereof, and never made or established residence on said land or improved the same in any way, and has never resided thereon, and has wholly abandoned said entry from the date thereof, and that said absence from the land was not due to the entryman's employment in the military or naval organizations of the United States or the National Guard of any of the several States.

You are, therefore, further notified that the said allegations will be taken as confessed, and your said entry will be canceled without further right to be heard, either before this office or on appeal, if you fail to file in this office within twenty days after the Fourth publication of this notice, as shown below, your answer, under oath, specifically responding to these allegations of contest, together with due proof that you have served a copy of your answer on the said contestant either in person or by registered mail.

You should state in your answer the name of the post office to which you desire future notices to be sent to you.

Do You Know
That Hudson
Builds the Essex?

SEE THE ESSEX

It is the Light Weight Car That Holds the Greatest Endurance Proof

Of course you know all about the Essex and its record of 5870 miles at an average speed exceeding a mile a minute. It was the only new car at last year's shows. Now it holds the greatest sales record, for 22,000 buyers paid $35,000 for Essex in its first ten months.

An Essex stock chassis officially set the world's endurance mark in a 50-hour run totaling 3037 miles. The same stock chassis in three tests covered 5870 miles in 94 hours 22 minutes' driving time.

A dealer's demonstrator that had been driven 12,000 miles, covered 1061 miles in 24 hours over Iowa snow-covered roads while a blizzard was raging. Think what these proofs mean to you. It settles the light car question. It places Essex endurance on the same level with its companion car—the Hudson Super-Six. It elevates the moderate priced car into the fine car quality and performance class. All the advantages in gasoline, oil and tire economy are retained.

Hudson Designed and Builds Essex

What group of men are as well qualified to build performance and endurance in a moderate priced light weight car? And what other manufacturing organization is equipped to produce it?

Consider how the Super-Six has produced those qualities; then answer if Essex is not the rightful heir to Hudson.

Essex is the "New Day Car"

The long-talked-of light weight, moderate-priced car with satisfactory performance and reliability is found in the Essex.

It fulfills the hope of true automobile economy. Qualities of endurance, fineness, and beauty are combined with the advantages in price and operating costs of light cars. Judge Essex reliability by what you know of the Super-Six—its economy in gasoline, oil and tires by light car standards.

The day when reliability and fine performance were to be had only in large, high-priced cars is past. A visit to the Essex show will convince you. So will a talk with any Essex owner. And don't forget deliveries of Essex cars are becoming more and more uncertain as its fame grows, despite the increasing number being built.
