Suffered For Twenty Years

Andrade Quickly Restored to Health by Tanlac and Now Feels Fine.

"I certainly can recommend Tanlac and am glad to do so, for after what Tanlac has done for me if I refused to say a good word for it I would be one of the most ungrateful men in the world," recently said Quiso Andrade, 1215 Pacific avenue, Alameda, Cal., an employee of the Union Iron Works.

"For the past twenty years," he continued, "I had suffered with about as bad a case of stomach trouble as I imagine any one could have and live, and although I tried many treatments and medicines nothing seemed to do me a particle of good until I started taking Tanlac."

"I had no appetite, and when I did manage to force down a little something I could be in misery for hours afterward. Gas would form on my stomach. I had intense pains in my sides and chest and in the region of my heart, and at times just had to fight to get my breath. My nerves were in such bad shape I could get but little sleep and lots of nights I would sit up in bed all night long, unable to get a wink of sleep. My tongue was always coated, I felt tired and drowsy all the time, and often I just had to give up and take to my bed."

"Someone suggested that I try Tanlac, so I got a bottle and began taking it. It was not long before I had a splendid appetite, and now I can eat anything I want without being troubled with gas or those pains in my side or chest. I never have difficulty about getting my breath and my nerves are in such good condition that I can sleep all night long without ever waking up till morning. In fact, I feel as good as I ever did in my life, and I hope what I have said about Tanlac will be the means of helping some one else who may be in the same condition I was."

Tanlac is sold in Bend by Owl Drug Co., in Sisters by George F. Aitken, and in Bend by Horton Drug Co.

FARM BUREAU MAY VOTE ON COUNTY FAIR

Introducing his address with figures on the success gained through the use of silos in the middle west, E. L. Westover, silo expert, mentioned that there are now 5,000 silos in the state of Indiana alone, and that 10,000 has been set for the goal in 1922. Bringing the subject nearer home, he told of the progress made in Wallowa county, where there are now 30 silos in place of the four which were operated two years ago. Last year a saving of 1,000 tons of $30 hay was saved in stock feeding.

"The use of the silo is the reproduction of green pasture under cover," Mr. Westover said. "It means a reduction of from 25 to 30 per cent in the cost of raising beef, and cuts the cost of butter fat to nine cents a pound."

Mr. Westover spoke highly of the sunflower as a substitute for corn for ensilage, and declared that the plant is specially adapted to climatic and soil conditions in Central Oregon. The alfalfa grown in Central Oregon, he said, is the best in the United States, containing more nourishment, and producing a heavier stand than in other localities.

Costs Are Discussed.

In response to questions, he stated that the silo can be used to best advantage on ranches where 10 or more head of cattle are kept. Asked as to the best type of silo, he said that approximately 500 different kinds are on the market, and that the silo put out by the Miller Lumber Co., of Bend, is as good as any of them. The pine lumber produced here, he mentioned, is particularly adapted to this use.

H. O. Piercy pointed out that the cost of installation had deterred many farmers from putting in silos, and asked if quantity purchases would reduce this expense. His question was answered by T. A. McCann, who offered to furnish silos wholesale, at cost, if plans and specifications of a standard type were made available for the use of The Shevlin-Hixon Company. K. B. Well, of the Miller Lumber Company, told of two silos which had been put up by his company at the Parberry ranch, at a contract price of $150 each. The actual cost, he said, had represented a total loss of $250. C. S. Hudson, of the First National Bank of Bend, offered to solve the financial problem set forth by Mr. Piercy by furnishing the necessary money for this class of improvement.
