GLEE CLUB WILL GIVE OPERETTA

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS TRAINED BY MISS SCRIBNER TO PRESENT "IN INDIA" AT GYMNASIUM FRIDAY NIGHT.

After weeks of conscientious training under the direction of Miss Bonnie Scribner, instructor in music and art in the Bend schools, the high school glee club is nearly ready for the presentation of the two-act operetta, "In India," at the gymnasium Friday night. Leading parts are taken by Mildred Klein, Gladys Sather, Frances Heyburn, Margaret Inabnit, Virginia Colver and Bessie Smith, and other members of the club appear in the chorus.

The story of the operetta is as follows:

Meerah, the most beautiful girl in the village of Fishul, on the Ganges river, in India, is chosen to become a temple dancing girl. The chosen one must be an orphan, and Meerah believes herself to be one. During the day, which is the festival day of Ahu, the flower god, a beggar escapes from a passing procession of elephants bearing people from the hill countries. The beggar proves to be Meerah's mother, and this renders Meerah ineligible.

There being now no other orphan in the village except the village scold, How-Now, she is carried off to become a slave in the temple, and the reunited mother and daughter join the maidens in celebrating the festival day of Ahu. The cast is:

- Meerah, soprano, (the beautiful one) Mildred Klein
- Sinia, soprano (the village pet) Gladys Sather
- How-Now, the village scold
- Frances Heyburn
- Margaret Inabnit
- Virginia Colver
- Bessie Smith

Three old women from the temple Chorus of Indian maidens from the village of Fishul—Marjorie Baird, Catherine Day, Helen Downing, Dora Gills, Catherine Hayden, Louise Inabnit, Wilona Kleinfelt, Alice Stockmon, Jeanette Keyes, Marion Sather, Lola Whitmore, Jessie Stookey, Luella Halverson, Imogene Richards, Helen M. Loughlin, Leora Connara.

Scene—A temple in the Indian village of Fishul, on the banks of the Ganges.

Time—The day of "Ahu" (festival of flowers), named after the god of flowers, "Ahu."

Tickets for the operetta are on sale at the drug stores.

SUFFERINGS OF ARMENIANS ARE TOLD BY MISSIONARIES

The sufferings of the Armenians and the hardly believable persecutions to which they have been subjected by followers of the Mohammedan faith formed the subject of addresses given Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oster, former missionaries to Persia, before a crowd of some 200 persons. General conditions in Persia formed the subject of Mr. Oster's discourse, with occasional sidelights on the unthinkable horrors visited on the Christian inhabitants of the country.

"In the region west of Lake Urumia, where formerly there were between 25 and 40 Christian villages," he said "there was, on July first, when we left Persia, not a single Christian remaining."

"Added to the invasions was the terrible famine of the past two or three years, which took a greater toll of life even than the massacres.

It is a safe estimate to say that one-fifth of the population perished. Many villages were entirely depopulated, and even streets in Tabriz, which were formerly lined on both sides with houses, are now silent."

Mr. Oster, however, sees hope for the stricken country. "We believe that we are entering on a new era in Persia, for there seems to be an awakening among the Moslems to hear the gospel. Prominent Mohammedans are asking for literature and for an explanation of the events which are transpiring in the rest of the world," he said.

Mrs. Oster appealed to the sympathies of her hearers when she told the story of a typical Kurdish raid, telling of the butchering of infants while their mothers looked on helpless, and of the dangers which attended the missionaries as they made their escape with a retreating detachment of the Russian army.

GREAT FUTURE FOR WIRELESS

Boys Who Plan to Make it Their Life Work Should Know and Appreciate Its Value.

Before going into practice instruction it is important that the boys who are to become the wireless men of the future, should appreciate the value of such work. Wireless transmission of messages and of the human voice is becoming daily more common. In a few years the entire system of communication throughout the world may be transformed by wireless electricity, and it is important that boys should be able to take their part in it. The amateur wireless station is a great educator and gives the boys who equip and operate it an excellent education in the wonderful new science.

When the call came for wireless men for the great war the amateur operators were able to take a prominent part. Thousands of boys who had taught themselves how to build stations and run them were able to take important positions in wireless stations at sea and on shore. No other country had so vast an army of self-taught wireless operators to call on. Many of the boys who had taught themselves all they knew of the science rose to occupy important positions. It is not generally known that it was an amateur wireless man who was chosen to fly across the Atlantic on the NC-1 on her famous flight.—Boys Life.

An Old Street Directory.

An odd reminder of the past turns up in the list of duplicates that the Massachusetts Historical society has decided to sell from its collection of historic miscellany in the form of the first street directory of Boston, and for that matter the first street directory ever printed in what is now the United States. In 1793, when the broadside was printed, 100 names were enough for all the streets, alleys, lanes and squares of the town; and many of them read the same nowadays. For some years prior to 1793 the process of preparing the list had been engaging the authorities, and when the selectmen published it they were doubtless well satisfied with Paddy Lane, Frog Lane, Cow Lane, Pudding Lane and other quaint titles which a modern municipal government might regard as unglorious and trivial.—Christian Science Monitor.
