"Tweedledum and Tweedledee."

We understand that the expression "tweedledum and tweedledee" is used to designate two things between which there is the smallest possible difference, and is applicable to disputes over trifles. It is also applied to non-sensical discussions such as the old logicians indulged in, e. g., when a farmer takes a pig to market, is the pig going with the farmer or the farmer going with the pig?—The Wire Message.

Lake's Level Has Fallen.

The pre-historic Lake Tahoe was larger and deeper than the present lake. During the Neocene epoch and earlier part of the Pleistocene epoch its water stood much higher, but in its overflow it has cut through the lava dams that maintained it at the height. Benches that mark the former higher level are about 100 feet above the present surface and doubtless the water once stood even higher.

EVERYTHING THAT IS BIG HAS HAD ITS SMALL BEGINNING

At some time the large fortune was small, but it grew. Your fortune may be now in its infancy; you may not have more than a dollar that doesn't need to be spent at once for some necessity. But put that dollar away, in a safe place; let it draw interest; by and by put another dollar with it, and then another and another. Like a child your fortune will grow—steadily, surely. In time, what you have put aside, added to what your savings have earned, will amount to enough to make a good investment. You have made the beginning of your fortune.
