Back to the Picture Language.

A newspaper for English tourists abroad has a very ingenious scheme for showing exactly what attractions certain hotels have to offer. If there is an elevator in the hotel a picture of a small boy in uniform is shown against the name of that hotel. A garage is indicated by a picture of a motor car, lawn tennis courts by a racquet, and so on. The scheme is quite a useful one, for it enables the tourist to see at a glance exactly which hotel would suit him best, and thus saves him wading through a whole lot of advertising matter.

Fruit From Cacti. The newest achievement of Burbank, the plant wizard, is the production of cacti that bear fruits beautiful to the eye and with flavor resembling those of peaches, muskmelons, pineapples, etc., yet sufficiently unlike to render them very appetizing novelties. They are very sweet, containing from 12 to 16 per cent of sugar.

These fruits may be eaten fresh or put up as sweetmeats. They are of various colors, and their juices, particularly of the red ones (which are of brilliant hues), are utilized for coloring ices, jellies and candies.

Tightwads. Some men hang onto a dollar as though it were the last one they're ever going to see.

Martial Swing of Famous Hymns. Many hymns in the song books of modern churches, including some of the most popular and inspiring, are of martial swing and tempo. "Onward, Christian Soldiers" is the most popular of this class of religious songs. The Rev. Sabine Baring-Gould, English pastor, author and song writer, composed the words of "Onward, Christian Soldiers" in 1860. It was to be sung by children, and was written for a special occasion for which the pastor could think of no suitable marching song. He wrote it in one night.

The Sandwich Appetizer.

The long-established European custom of taking an appetizer before dinner, in the form of a wafer-like sandwich and a light beverage, has many points in its favor. The "sideboard," as it is called, can be most tastefully served on a daintily appointed tray. When a meal begins with a hot soup or a chilled fruit, the gathering for the "sideboard" is the most satisfactory way for the housewife to be sure that all the family are ready to take their places at the table. The sandwiches are made of very thin slices of buttered bread. Serve these with a glass of iced grape juice.

Flower Sermon. Flower sermons had their origin in St. Catherine Cree, England. On Whit Monday each of the congregation carried a bunch of flowers, and a larger bunch was laid on the pulpit cushion. The custom has spread, but it has somewhat changed. Now in many churches the flower sermon is preached on Sunday and the church is decorated with flowers, the members of the congregation also bring flowers with them to the service. The time of holding this service varies in different churches, but it is usually held in the spring or early summer when there is an abundance of garden flowers.

Power Tests Character. Nothing discloses real character like the use of power. It is easy for the weak to be gentle. Most people can bear adversity. But if you wish to know what a man really is, give him power. This is the supreme test. It is the glory of Lincoln that, having almost absolute power, he never abused it, except on the side of mercy. He spoke not to inflame, not to upbraid, but to convince. He was the embodiment of the self-denial, the courage, the hope, the nobility of the nation.—Robert Green Ingersoll.
