

"OFFICER 666" FUNNY COMEDY

CAST OF PLAY IS WELL CHOSEN

Director Pauly Plays Master Crook
Role—Snappy Performance Is Promised—Prices Reduced—Dress Rehearsal To Be Sunday

One of the most delightful melodramatic comedies ever shown to a Bend audience is "Officer 666," which the B. A. C. players will stage Monday night under the auspices of the American Legion. Every line is a laugh, and under the direction of George Pauly, who has had much experience as a director and as a professional actor in stock companies, the well chosen cast is making the most possible out of the lines and the situations, some of which are as thrilling as melodrama could wish, others being so ludicrous that they are difficult to rehearse—the cast must stop to laugh.

As a play which brings out the character of the master crook, "Officer 666" is ideal, and Pauly as the crook makes the most possible out of the character—generous but unscrupulous, ruthless but gentle, calm when prison bars loom but despondent when the woman he loves is lost to him.

Williams Is Leading Man
Opposed to him is Travers Gladwin—the irrepressible heir to millions, a role created by Douglas Fairbanks—but Bill Williams, known to Bend audiences through his work as leading man in "The College Widow" and other plays two years ago, and as a member of the Bend high school debating team which almost won the state championship, does the part full justice.

W. F. Sloan, a novice to the stage, has proven a find as a juvenile actor, being completely at ease and always natural. His unexpected histrionic faculty will be a surprise to his friends. Emil Benz plays the part of Michael Phelan, the real "Officer 666," in a convincing manner. Leroy Fox makes a plausible detective, and Leroy Coyner plays the police captain's role well.

Cast Well Chosen
The female parts are equally well taken by Mrs. Margaret Bozorth, Miss Eleanor Bechen and Mrs. George Kanoff. Mrs. Bozorth has the part of the inexperienced girl from the west who is about to elope with the crook, but is saved in the end by the leading man. Miss Bechen is the shy miss who attempts to thwart her cousin's plans, and in so doing finds herself in love with the millionaire's modest friend who tells her he prevented the elopement. Mrs. Kanoff plays the eccentric aunt who has an exciting time trying to keep track of her nieces and save them from designing men.

Snappy Performance Promised
A snappy performance is assured in the fact that no changes of scenery are necessary. The action all takes place in the home of Travers Gladwin, in the space of one evening. Only a few minutes will be required between acts. Tickets for the affair will be on sale tomorrow at Larson's jewelry store. The prices have been reduced since the last play, so that no one need stay away for lack of the admission fee. The cast has the play well learned, and will hold a dress rehearsal Sunday.

BEDDING OUT FOR SHEEP ADVOCATED

Rangers In Concluding Session of Annual Conference—Forest Men Banquet At Pilot Butte Inn.

The "bedding out" plan in ranging sheep on the national forests of Central Oregon will be favored this year, it was brought out this morning when the last day's business of the annual ranger meeting began. By holding the sheep at night wherever they may happen to be instead of driving them back to the herder's camp, much grass is saved from trampling, it was explained.

Rangers and officials of the Deschutes, Ochoco, and Fremont forests, who are attending the conference, were present at a banquet given last night at the Pilot Butte Inn, at which the chief speakers were E. N. Kavanagh, of the Portland district office, and N. G. Jacobson, former supervisor of the Deschutes forest. Features of the evening's entertainment were vocal solos by Miss Laura Rand of the high school faculty, and dancing by Marion Sather and Lola Whitmore, with Alice Stockmon at the piano.

Deschutes County Men On Victorious Aggie Grid Teams

Louis Bennett of Bend and Hubert Scoggin of Plainview were each members of one of the four O. A. C. football teams that have defeated U. of O. These two Deschutes county men, who are brothers-in-law, played at O. A. C. ten years apart—Scoggin in 1897, when O. A. C. won 24 to 8, and Bennett in 1907, when the Aggies won 4 to 0. Their pictures appeared in the Portland Journal of last week, which showed groups of the four Aggie teams which have humbled the Lem-on-Yellow.

REAL BARGAIN FOUND AT RED CROSS SHOP

Home Service Director Forgets Cloak And Garment Finds Ready Buyer At $2.50.

That real bargains are being offered at the Red Cross shop was demonstrated Tuesday afternoon when an almost new cloak belonging to Mrs. V. A. Forbes, home service director, was sold at a price of $2.50. Only the fact that the purchaser was unable to pay cash and had to leave her package until she could return with the necessary money, enabled Mrs. Forbes to regain possession of the garment which she had taken off on entering the room, and then forgotten.

Stocks move quickly in the Red Cross shop, and a few minutes after Mrs. Forbes had left, a customer entered. The cloak just suited her and was a fair fit, and the package was set aside for her.

Later Mrs. Forbes learned of the sale when she again visited the shop demanding her cloak. The deal was cancelled.

TAX EXEMPTIONS IN COUNTY TOTAL $1,590

Under the law enacted at the 1921 session of the legislature providing for the exemption of property from taxation, not exceeding $1000 for veterans or widows of veterans of the Mexican, Civil, or Indian wars, values to the extent of $1,590 are exempt in Deschutes county, according to information furnished by Frank Lovell, state tax commissioner.

FREIGHT TRAINS AT METOLIUS NUMEROUS

METOLIUS, Dec. 12.—Over 270 carloads of lumber, which have been held in the yards here during the recent tie-up, are now on their way to the Pacific coast and to eastern points. The way freight trains have been moving since Thursday has made Metolius residents feel as though they lived at a main line terminal.

CLUB ENDORSES BEND DISTRICT'S ESTIMATE

necessary expenditures for roads all over the state before the fair. He quoted the state taxpayers' league to the effect that the fair will not benefit the public, but is purely a private venture, and should be paid for privately. Central Oregon's scenery and resources will not look good to tourists when they look up the tax ratios, he stated.

Rev. G. M. Thorp said that every visitor from Bend to the exposition will bring back five settlers, stating that J. B. Miner had done that when he attended the recent potato exhibit in Portland. "The open hand always contains more than the closed fist," he quoted. "We must help Portland to help ourselves."

Tax Argument Given

R. W. Sawyer showed that the 1905 exposition did not reduce taxes. Population increased 16 per cent, values 23½ per cent, and taxes 300 per cent between 1900 and 1910, he stated. He quoted from the advertisement of a local bank, "Reduction of taxes is the best means of inviting settlers." Deschutes county is now taxed to the limit. Fifty per cent of this year's county taxes are unpaid, and the county holds the sack in case of delinquent taxes. State taxes are also on the increase. He ended by asking if Bend would get her proportion of the business which Portland expects, including $50,000,000 in new building.

THINK IRISH QUESTION IS NOW SETTLED

cured by The Bulletin. "I think they will be satisfied over there and will accept it," was Father Sheehan's comment.

Circuit Judge T. E. J. Duffy stated that the concessions made Ireland were as much or more than he had expected. "There is just sufficient tie to the government to require cooperation should Ireland be attacked by outside nations," he said. "The more freedom is allowed to the dominions and colonies, the better it will be for England. Great Britain could not have given Ireland absolute freedom; it would have been a death blow to the empire. I believe that the measure of freedom granted will be satisfactory to the Irish people."

"It's good if they'll stick to it. Ireland should endorse the agreement," was the way M. P. Cashman voiced his approval.

"It is not all that could be desired by the Irish, but if it's the best we can get I would rather see it accepted than to see any more war and bloodshed," said D. T. Carmody. "It might be better for all concerned to accept the terms as outlined if they will settle the problems of all factions in Ireland."
