THRESHING MADE A PASTIME

Italian Families Beat Wheat From Straw in Rhythm, and Seem to Enjoy the Work.

Gasparino Dante got up early Sunday morning, and before the sun was very high his day's work was well started on his farm near Capua, Italy.

The two daughters—one eighteen and the other fifteen—started (and finished) the day with the men.

The younger children were too small to be of any help, although the boy of ten scattered wheat over the stone threshing floor so that it would be ready when the older members of the family had finished with breakfast—bread and cheese and coffee, for Dante can afford coffee in the morning. He owns thirty acres.

When threshing started, the father paired with the oldest girl on the side of the floor; the other couple stood side by side opposite. The four flails were poised high in the air an instant and then at a shout from the farmer one pair descended and as they were lifted the couple opposite struck.

The four beat the grain, keeping perfect time and pausing only while the boy raked the straw into a pile at one side of the floor and swept the kernels of wheat into another heap, and threw down a fresh supply.

Then, with a shouted signal that seemed to welcome the new onslaught the rhythm of the thumping started again. The manner of the threshers was more like that of couples dancing an old-fashioned quadrille than that of harvest toilers under the blistering, blinding midsummer sun of southern Italy.

SWEEPED OFF ALL VEGETATION

Ancient Records Tell of Visitation of Locusts That Were Followed by Dire Famine.

A passage of locusts in France, in 1613, entirely cut up even to the roots more than 15,000 acres of corn near Arles, and had even penetrated into the barns and granaries, when, as it were by Providence, many hundreds of birds, especially starlings, came to diminish their numbers. Notwithstanding this, nothing could be more astonishing than their multiplication, for the fecundity of the locust is remarkable.

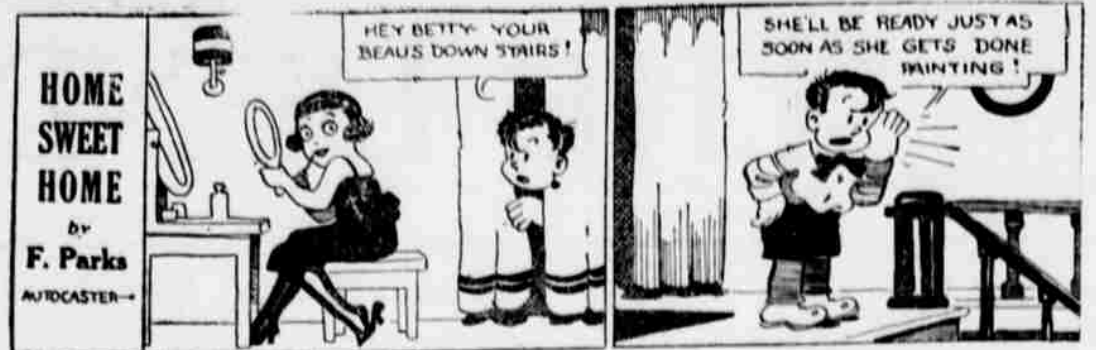

Upon an order issued by the government for the collection of their eggs, more than 3,000 measures were collected, from each of which, it was calculated, would have issued nearly two millions of young ones. In 1650 they entered Russia in immense divisions in three places, thence passed over into Poland and Lithuania, where the air was darkened by their numbers.

In many parts they lay dead to the depth of four feet. Sometimes they covered the surface of the earth like a dark cloud, loaded the trees, and the destruction which they produced exceeded all calculation. In 1645 immense swarms visited the islands of Formosa and Taywan and caused such a famine that 8,000 persons died of hunger.

TRESPASSER WILL NOT BE PROSECUTED

That the person who broke into Mason & Huffman's pool hall by the rear door last week is known was stated by Officer Tom Carlson, who also stated that no prosecution is contemplated. The man is alleged to have been drunk. No robbery took place, according to Carlson.

The door of Hinds & Leedy's pool hall was also broken in, he stated.

"Voices" of Crickets.

Crickets sing with their wings and not with their legs. And katydids do the same. You do not believe it? Since you were a little child you have been told that crickets rub their hind legs together or scraping their legs against their wings or sides, or something like that. At any rate, they made what might be called foot notes or sang by leg power.

Insect students have settled the question. They say that crickets, like nearly all other varieties of singing insects, have "stridulating organs" at the base of their wings. Rubbing these organs together, they produce vibrations and the wings, which are hollow, serve as sounding boards and increase the volume of the sound. The "stridulating organs" look like two small folded wings having saw-like edges. The insect rasps these two saw edges together.

LEGION WILL NOT GIVE UP BUILDING

Changes At American Legion Club To Be Slight—May Not Do Away With The Gymnasium Classes.

That Percy A. Stevens Post No. 4, American Legion, is not planning to give up its clubrooms in the American Legion building or to relinquish management of the building is stated by members of the executive committee. In spite of the fact that a recommendation against conducting a membership campaign for the athletic club was made at a joint meeting of representatives of the Legion, Commercial club and Woman's Civic league, changes at the building may not involve even the elimination of the gymnasium classes. It was stated, although no plan of keeping the classes running has been decided upon.

Real Length of Day.

How long is a day? Twenty-four hours, you say. Yes, but not quite. One real day contains 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.090 seconds of time as reckoned by the movement of the sun. The earth moves through space with an average velocity of eighteen and one-half miles per second, and its velocity of rotation at the equator is about 1,000 miles per hour.

PIONEER BUILDERS OF VALVE-IN-HEAD MOTORS

Facts You Should Know When You Buy a Car

The question of greatest importance is not what you will be allowed for your old car but the price you pay for the new car and the value received.

You are money out if allowed $100 more for your old car, yet have to pay a $150 higher list price for a new car when the comparative value is not there.

A purchaser's loss is only postponed when trading allowances are made above a used car's real value. The deal that may appear most satisfactory to you in the beginning may prove to be the most expensive in the end.

No one receives anything gratuitously in this world—don't be misled by false allowances.

We believe that any sales policy which encourages the giving of fictitious values for used cars is an injustice to the public. We wish to establish definitely the fact that the Buick Motor Company has never followed this policy—rather has always based the price of its product upon actual costs and when costs came down correspondingly reduced the prices of its cars to the public without any camouflage whatsoever.
