BARGAINING

In the Opening!

The country is just emerging from a frenzied period of alleged "bargain sales." It always is so. Inevitably there follows a period when extra prices are tacked on in order that another roust-about session of so-called "sales" can later be held. Not so here. Our prices once made never change. Same superior values always.

SAVE TREES IN BEND, IS PLEA OF J. E. PURDY

Preservation of trees within the city of Bend, and the planting of some shade tree of a variety which will grow here to advantage, every time a pine or juniper is cut down, was strongly urged by Rev. J. Edgar Purdy, in a talk at the Commercial club luncheon Wednesday. An effort should be made to discover the best variety of shade tree, one which will not have the disadvantages of the pine inside the city, Purdy suggested.

The example of Pasco, which has beautified a formerly barren looking town by the planting of trees, was cited. Trees not only beautify and provide shade, but reduce the amount of dust blowing, he showed.

Ask Suggestions
Members of the Commercial club were urged by R. W. Sawyer, member of the state scenic preservation association for Deschutes county, and H. L. Plumb, supervisor of the Deschutes National forest, to suggest strips of timber which might be preserved by taking advantage of the Deschutes exchange bill recently passed.

Plumb stated that lands now under control of the forest service will be taken care of, if they have particular scenic value, by selective logging, the mature trees only being cut.

He promised that the forest service would cooperate to the fullest extent possible in the efforts of the club to preserve scenic spots, but asked that discretion be used in asking for exchange of lands. He pointed out that the strip on the Metolius, which Clyde M. McKay suggested be preserved, contained timber worth over a million dollars, and declared that its scenic value would not be lessened by the selective logging.

Lumber Firms Aid
H. E. Allen reiterated former statements that the local offices of the Brooks-Scanlon company will go more than half way in preserving strips of timber where it seems desirable, but stated that the Minneapolis office is less enthusiastic, doubting the feasibility of the plan. However, an exchange has been made certain in the case of the strip along the Dalles-California highway, and exchanges will probably be made in favor of the Arnold Ice cave. No representative of The Shevlin-Hixon Company was present, but Sawyer stated that that company has already shown its desire to aid, in presenting of Shevlin Park to the city of Bend, and in other ways.

Suggestions Made
Clyde M. McKay suggested a strip on both sides of the Metolius, and some timber around Davis lake, for preservation, in addition to the Arnold and Lava River caves. Central Oregon will some day rival the Yosemite park, said McKay, for here there is fishing and hunting as well as the scenic attractions.

H. J. Overturf suggested that the club keep in touch with the renewed activity regarding the extension of Crater Lake National park to include Diamond lake.

Commends Church Plan
T. H. Foley commended the work of Rev. J. Edgar Purdy for the club, and praised the businesslike plan for completing the Methodist church which has been adopted. He recommended the church bonds as a safe investment.

HOSPITAL WILL FORMALLY OPEN COMING SUNDAY

Formal opening of St. Charles hospital in Bend was announced today for Sunday afternoon when Bishop Joseph F. McGrath of the Baker City diocese will bless the recently completed building and will deliver the chief address of the day. Three o'clock in the afternoon has been set as the hour for the beginning of religious ceremonies and addresses. Opening of the hospital to receive patients is expected next week, the exact date to be announced later. Details apart from the religious observances Sunday afternoon are in the hands of J. F. Arnold, who announces that Mayor E. D. Gilson will be one of the speakers. Other features will be announced soon, he states.

Chance to Aid Seen
Anybody who wants to help, or otherwise show their appreciation for the splendid work done by the sisters of St. Charles hospital and who does not know how to do so, may get an idea through a study of the show windows in the downtown district.
In the opening of the new hospital for service, the thoughtful citizen easily comprehends that as an institution giving much in charity, a larger field of action is opening up to the management.
And, as a consequence, a very much greater responsibility, both financial and from a point of service, is suddenly thrust upon them.
Merchants Generous
The hospital records show that from the opening of the cottage hospital, on the river front, all of the merchants of Bend have given great assistance in their exceeding generosity in the monthly settlements and have always donated what they could. For all those substantial helps the hospital management is most grateful and thankful.

The first donation made with a specific wish that it be applied to the new hospital, was made by Mrs. John Ryan of Benham Falls, who gave $10. The second was by Michael Mayfield of the La Pine State Bank, who gave $20; Rev. Father Sheehan gave $50.
Site is Donated
The hospital site was donated by all the citizens of Bend who gave generously toward the original purchase.
The hospital grounds are being surveyed and the drive leading up to the hospital entrance will be the first step to make the site a fitting addition to the beauty of the home sites which our city possesses. Robert B. Gould, city engineer, has kindly consented to donate the superintending of the work, thereby adding materially to its construction.
Just at this time, when various bills of expense must be met, it seems fitting that those who can, should do something to assist.
"A friend in need, is a friend indeed," carries much with it that is not forgotten.

Bend's leading shopwindows carry suggestions of the hospital's most pressing needs, which can be seen by anyone passing along the sidewalks. The different articles cover such a wide range, that anybody can find something that will fit his or her purse.
Variety of Needs Seen
The articles range all the way from a furnished sick room, to linens for every department. If you cannot furnish a room complete, do what you can. Purchase a blanket, sheets, pillow-cases, towels, bath towels or service for a tray. It will be used in caring for the sick, and will be appreciated.
On January 1, 1917, the St. Charles hospital opened its doors for the reception of patients and entered upon a career of usefulness that has far exceeded the expectations of those who were so vitally interested in the undertaking and who watched over its infancy with many fears and misgivings. During the past five years Bend has reaped untold benefits from the services rendered by the sister nurses in their chosen labors.
