PROTECTING OUR FORESTS

Tomorrow is Easter. It is also the opening date of Forest Protection Week. This is of especial significance in the Central Oregon country where a large part of the natural resources are found in the forests of yellow pine, and where another great division of wealth, found in the livestock industry, depends to a considerable extent on the National Forest range.

Forest Protection week will be observed in Central Oregon as conscientiously as it has been in past years, and the emphasis placed on its importance will mean careful cooperation with the National Forest service in protecting these natural resources through the year.

Official announcement of the week and its meaning is made in the following presidential proclamation:

Whereas, the protection and perpetuation of our forests are vital to our continued industrial welfare and national strength and to our individual health, comfort and prosperity, and

Whereas, a period of 50 years has passed since in April 1872 there was instituted in the state of Nebraska observance of a day especially set apart and consecrated for tree planting and known as Arbor day, and

Whereas, both through widespread annual celebration of Arbor day and through the increasing observance of Forest Protection Week public attention has been commendably directed to the value of trees, the unnecessary waste of our diminishing forests through preventable fires, the deplorable effects of forest devastation and the need for remedial measures against depletion of an essential natural resource,

Therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States, do urge upon the governors of the various states to designate and set apart the week of April 16-22, 1922, as Forest Protection Week and the last day of that week, April 22, as the golden anniversary of Arbor day, and to request officers of public instruction of counties, cities and towns and of civic and commercial organizations to unite in thought and action for the preservation of our common heritage by planning such educational and instructive exercises as shall bring before the people the disastrous effects of the present waste by forest fires and the need of individual and collective effort to conserve the forests and increase our tree growth for ornament and use.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done in the District of Columbia, this 31st day of March, in the year of our Lord on thousand nine hundred and twenty-two and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-sixth.

WARREN G. HARDING.

AMENDED INDICTMENT IS ONLY TRUE BILL RETURNED TO COURT

Large County Indebtedness Seen In Semi-Annual Survey.

With the exception of the amendment of the B. M. Kelsay indictment charging larceny by bailee, no criminal matters were investigated by the Deschutes county grand jury which concluded its sessions Thursday afternoon, the report submitted to Circuit Judge T. E. J. Duffy shows. That the outstanding indebtedness of the county amounts to $114,000 is among the findings of the grand jury in the semi-annual survey of county affairs. The report in full is as follows:

To the Honorable T. E. J. Duffy, Judge of the circuit court of the State of Oregon, for the county of Deschutes:

We, the undersigned, grand jurors, having been empanelled and sworn, constituting the grand jury of this county for the April, 1922 term of the said circuit court, desire to report as follows:

Poor Well Cared For
We have completed our investigations of all criminal matters coming to our attention, or which have been brought before us by the district attorney for this county.

We have also investigated and examined into the condition of all county offices and county property, including the manner in which the poor of this county are being cared for. We find that the poor are apparently well cared for, but would recommend that a showing be made by those indigents receiving financial assistance from the county similar to that made by those receiving widows' pensions.

We further find that the proper harmony does not exist between the county court and the office of the county clerk.

Inventory Asked
We further find that there are no proper records whereby a taxpayer can determine where and for what purpose county road money has been expended. While such records may not be specifically required by law, we do believe by closer co-operation between the county court and the county clerk, a system of records could be maintained whereby this information would be available to any taxpayer who might be interested.

We fail to find any inventory of county equipment, and would recommend that such an inventory be made forthwith, and filed in the office of the county clerk, and that all county equipment be immediately marked with some identifying mark showing it to be the property of the county.

We have examined the county jail, and find that for the improvement of the lighting, as well as for sanitary reasons, the interior should be given a coat of white paint.

Indebtedness Large
We have made an exhaustive examination into the present financial condition of the county, and find that there is at the present time outstanding and unpaid in excess of $62,000.00 general fund warrants, and in excess of $52,000.00 general road fund warrants. It appears that the principal cause for this excessive indebtedness in the general fund has been caused by improper transfers being made from this fund to retire road fund warrants. We do not believe that the proper attention has been given by the county court, and particularly by the county judge, who is continually in direct touch with county affairs, to the manner in which the county money is expended, or this condition would not exist at the present time. We do believe that some of the expenditures included in this indebtedness were justified, but we are unable to see where the county court was warranted in exceeding the constitutional limitation of indebtedness to the extent that they have. We are unable to see any method by which the county can be placed on a cash basis short of two or three years, but would recommend that the county court take immediate steps to bring this condition to pass at the earliest possible date.

We have investigated the offices of the county clerk, the sheriff, the assessor, the treasurer, and the school superintendent, and find them conducted in an efficient and economical manner, and we desire especially to commend the sheriff for the efficient manner in which he has enforced the prohibition law.

Respectfully submitted,
D. H. PEOPLES,
Foreman.
