

BOUGHT QUART, DID NOT TASTE

Barclay Says He Paid $6 For Bottle—Johnson Defendant In Justice Court

That he purchased a quart bottle of alleged moonshine whiskey from G. A. Johnson last Friday for $6 was testified Friday by Russell Barclay in the justice court trial of Johnson on a bootlegging charge this afternoon in the circuit court rooms. Barclay said he and Johnson had driven into the country to get the liquor, Johnson bringing it from a hiding place which Barclay did not see, and then drove back to Bend to get the change for the $20 bill which Barclay offered in payment.

After getting the change, Barclay started to cross Bond street, the bottle hidden beneath his shirt, when Jack Cassidy, state special officer, arrested him, Barclay testified. He never tasted the liquor.

A quart bottle full of colorless liquid, Barclay identified as the one sold to him by Johnson. It was the first liquor he ever purchased in Bend, he stated, and the last.

Johnson's attorney, E. O. Stadter, was unable to shake Barclay's testimony in cross examination. Considerable merriment was occasioned in the crowded courtroom by some of Barclay's statements, among them his answer to the question as to the appearance of the liquid: "It looked good to me."

Cassidy was next called by District Attorney A. J. Moore, as a prosecution witness.

Johnson denied ever having seen the bottle concerning which Barclay testified. He said that Barclay had hired him to drive to a point near the foundry, where the passenger had left the car for a time. Where he went, Johnson did not know. On their return to town, Johnson was given a $20 bill, returning $18 and keeping the balance for his services, he testified.

Johnson was found guilty, fined $500 and sentenced to six months in jail and has appealed the case.

Members of the jury were Bert Shuey, E. A. Smith, W. O. Best, A. J. Veltum and P. A. Erickson.

WANT BUSINESS MEN TO ATTEND

High School Baseball Fans Plan Big Day Friday—Madras To Play.

To give the business men, who made it possible for them to secure a coach for this season, an opportunity to see the team in action, Bend high school students are making an effort to have all business houses close Friday afternoon, for the Bend-Madras game, which is called at 3:15 o'clock. This is the last game of the season for Bend, of the present schedule, although should the team be undefeated in Central Oregon, some later games may be sought.

Coach Springer has not yet announced whether any changes will be made in his team for the two games this week end, but has promised to disabuse the squad of any idea that they will have an easy time of it after having defeated Prineville.

"The boys looked good Saturday, but they didn't have much opposition," said Springer. "I'm going to keep after them until I am sure they'll play that kind of ball, and better, when they get in a tight place and have to play their best."

Foxon Knew No Mercy.

In the days when gull wings and breasts were in demand for women's hats and when the law afforded no protection to the feathered tribes, they were slaughtered by thousands all along the coast. Millinery agents from New York would conduct expeditions, accompanied by expert skinners, to the breeding grounds of the seafowl and hire local gunmen to do the killing. One woman in a single season brought back 10,000 tern skins from Cobbs Island, Virginia. More than 500,000 tern skins were collected in one season in the sounds of North and South Carolina.

The First Secessionist.

The first person to suggest secession in congress is supposed to have been Josiah Quincy of Massachusetts. In 1811 he told his colleagues that if Louisiana were admitted to the Union "it will be the right of all and duty of some (of the states) definitely to prepare for a separation; amicably if they can, violently if they must." Quincy was called to order for his remarks by the speaker, but on appeal the speaker's decision was reversed.

GENERAL BOUNDARY CHANGE IS NOTED AS RESULT OF ADDING OF THREE PRECINCTS IN CITY

With the general changing of precinct boundaries in the city of Bend incident to the addition of three new voting divisions, much additional work has been thrown on County Clerk J. H. Haner in reindexing registration cards of voters who, while having the same street addresses as at the last election, now find themselves in new precincts. In a few cases, it may happen that individuals have moved within the old precinct, thereby placing themselves in one of the new divisions. In such cases, reregistration by the voter at the clerk's office is necessary.

The eight divisions which will be in effect at the coming May election result in a change in practically every precinct in the city.

Precinct No. 1 includes the territory between the river and the railroad tracks, and from Greenwood to Franklin. Number 2 is bounded by Greenwood, the railroad tracks, the north city limits, and the river. Precinct No. 3, which formerly took in everything on the west side of the river, is now approximately one-third of its former size. Its boundaries are West Sixth from the river to Saginaw, Saginaw from West sixth to West Eighth, West Eighth to the north city limits, the north city line to the river, and the river from that point to West Sixth.

Number four, another division carved out of old precinct No. 3, lies between the west city limits and the precincts.

river, and between Galveston and that part of West Sixth extending from the river to Saginaw.

Number five is the only one which takes in territory on both sides of the river. It is bounded by the west city limits, Galveston from the west line to the river, Tumalo from the river to Broadway, Broadway from Tumalo to the south city line, and the south line to the point of beginning.

The first new number in the precinct list of Bend, six, is included between Tumalo avenue from the river to Broadway, Broadway from Tumalo avenue to Arizona, Arizona from Broadway to Lava Road, Lava Road from Arizona to Franklin, Franklin from Lava Road to the river, and the river between Franklin and Tumalo.

Precinct No. 7 is included by Lava Road, Franklin avenue, the east city line, the south city limits, the west city line for that portion of the city east of the river, to Lava Road. Precinct No. 8 is bounded by the railroad tracks from Franklin to the north city limits, Franklin from the tracks to the east limits, the east line from Franklin to the north city line, and the north city line from the east line to the tracks.

Division was made necessary by the rapid increase in population in Bend, making it a task of several days for election boards to count all the votes in several of the larger

BUCKAROO DESTROYS BOTTLE, IS FINED FOR BREAKING GLASS

Remarks of Bondsman Resented By Police Chief—Intent To Insult Denied.

Because he destroyed a quart of "evidence" just before his arrest by Chief of Police Willard Houston Sunday morning, "Chuck" Jennings, buckaroo, was charged with violation of the statute which forbids the scattering of glass over a public thoroughfare. His arrest resulted in the eviction by the chief of Norman Jacobson from the fire station at noon on the same day, when Jacobson's request to be allowed to give a check for $50 as bail for the prisoner, wanted to ride at the bucking contest at Redmond, was refused. After being ordered out of the station Jacobson returned with $100 in cash, securing Jennings' release.

Jennings and Pat Mulcare were spotted at 9 o'clock on Bond street Sunday morning by Houston, and were halted on the suspicion that one of the pair might have liquor. But Houston searched the wrong man first. As the chief investigated Mulcare's possessions, Jennings pulled out a quart bottle and tossed it above his head. Glass and liquor showered out over the sidewalk and pavement. Mulcare, charged with drunkenness, accompanied Jennings to jail. Mulcare paid a $25 fine and Jennings $75 in police court today.

Regarding the episode at the station a few hours later, Chief Houston stated that Jacobson had become insistent over the acceptance of the check, and had finally intimidated that the chief was not acting in a gentlemanly manner. Jacobson was requested to leave and on his failure to do so was forcibly evicted, Houston said.

Denies Stir

Denial that he had made any stirring remarks to Houston was made this afternoon by Jacobson and confirmed by Lynn Covert, rancher who accompanied Jacobson to the police station. "Lynn had asked Houston if he would accept a check as bail and his request had been refused," he said. "Then I asked him if he would accept my check with the endorsement of Myrl Hoover, fire engineer. Houston declared that he would not, adding that only a certified check would be received. "I told Houston that I had been a public officer for 10 years and knew how to act like a gentleman, but before I could complete my statement, which had to do entirely with my own conduct, reflecting in no way on him, he grabbed a chair and ordered me to get out. I attempted to explain, but was cut short, the officer pulling his billy and threatening me with it. I realized that he had lost his temper, and more for his own protection than for my own, I walked out of the building without further remonstrance. Shortly after, Mr.

Covert secured $100 in cash, and we were able to obtain Jennings' freedom. As he is one of the best riders in Central Oregon, the management of the contest considered that his presence was necessary if the bucking contest was to be a success."

SCHOOL RECEIVES PLANT SPECIMENS

Dr. G. L. Cousineau Sends California Exhibit To Bend High—Sea Shells Expected.

An exhibit of 12 plant life specimens from southern California was received last Wednesday by the Bend high school, for use in the biology and general science classes, from Dr. G. L. Cousineau, formerly of Bend, now at Del Mar, Cal. Cousineau stated in a recent letter to Franklin Forrester, instructor, that he had also sent some specimens of sea shells. They have not yet arrived.

The exhibit includes a calla lily, a tiny lemon on a twig, a branch covered with dates, a fig blossom and small fig, branches of monkey and Tory pine, a cactus leaf and root, an ice plant, which is another species common to the desert, an everlasting flower in bloom, a bamboo bud and mature stalk, and a Japanese loquat or quince.

Save Half On Tire Cost

After the tread is so badly worn that it appears to be of no further value.

We Re-Tread The Tire and it will then render practically as much mileage as when new. The cost of Retreading no where near compares with the cost of a new tire.

This is a picture of the machine that does the work just like it is done at the factory.

We use only new, live rubber gum in all retreading or vulcanizing work that renders long service when on a tube or casing.

Call and see us when you have tire trouble.
