

HARD SLUGGING WINS FOR BEND

Madras Defeated On Rough Field—Team Entertained At Fish Fry.

In what would have been a close contest except for the fact that almost every ball hit beyond the infield was a safe hit on account of the rough outfield, Bend's baseball team won Sunday at Madras from the Madras team by a score of 21 to 7. Up to the fourth inning the game was scoreless; but a combination of six successive hits off D. Young in that inning, and another period of swatting in the sixth during which Bend men batted 15 times, ended the closeness of the contest. A return game will be played here next Sunday.

The game was played on a new field just completed near the fish hatchery where Sunday the people of Madras and Jefferson county generally held a picnic and fish fry, at which the members of the Bend team and other visitors from Bend were entertained with a sumptuous lunch, including all the fried trout they could find room for. The picnic was held in an apple orchard next to the Deschutes, 12 miles northwest of Madras.

Three Circuit Clouts Made
Two home runs by Russell and one by Watts of Madras, and timely three base hits by Springer and Kennedy, were among the features of the game. Bend's team played unusually good ball in the field, considering the handicaps of the rough ground. Simpson pitched good ball for six innings, allowing only 5 hits. Leverett pitched two innings and Springer, one.

D. Young, pitching for Madras, was hit freely after the third inning, but struck out 12 men and made all but three of the assists credited to his team. Weigand and Gudgel were among Madras' stars.

BACKWARD SEASON DELAYS SPAWNING

Trout a Month Behind Time, Says Hatchery Head—Gold Lake Still Frozen Over.

Due probably to the backward season, rainbow trout are a month late in spawning, reports Pearl Lynes, superintendent of the Tumalo fish hatchery. The spring lake of eggs could not be started until May 1, and will not be completed until the end of June, says Lynes.

Rainbow eggs are being taken at Odell, Crockett, and Davis lakes, and more will be obtained at Gold Lake as soon as the ice leaves.

RADIO SET DRAWS MUCH ATTENTION

The radio set at the freight station is drawing much interest among the employees, and is now working satisfactorily. Music and messages are heard each evening. Weather reports were heard from San Francisco.

Overalls Set On Fire By Neighbor Boy, Four Year Old Child Is Badly Burned; Father Comes Just In Time

Application by a neighbor boy of a lighted match to the cuffs of a pair of overalls which little Billy Hanson was wearing Thursday, caused serious burns, and might have cost Billy, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Hanson, of 2188 Aubrey road, his life. The boy who set fire to the overalls ran home, and Billy was left alone in the house, to fight the flames which crept up his clothing. Just by chance, Billy's father came home in time to wrap his coat around the boy and smother out the blaze, his own clothing catching fire in the process. The father was not burned. Billy's injuries are painful today, particularly to his knee, but his condition is not considered dangerous.

HOME BUILDING GIVEN IMPETUS

Western Loan and Building Head Approves Local Properties.

The home building movement in Bend gained renewed impetus Saturday when R. W. Madsen, of Salt Lake City, president of the Western Loan and Building association, declared on the conclusion of his first visit to this section that local builders can have all the money they want on legitimate loans. While here, Madsen approved applications totaling $4,000 which had been submitted to H. J. Overturf, local representative.

Madsen was enthusiastic over opportunities in Bend and was particularly appreciative of the fact that the great bulk of the loans issued here are on properties less than five years old. For several months the Western Loan and Building association had refused to take on new business here.

FARMERS UNFAMILIAR WITH LAW IS BELIEF

Food Inspector Points Out Requirements—Dealers Enter Pleas of Guilty.

Belief that many farmers producing dairy butter are unacquainted with the terms of the law governing its sale was expressed today by State Food Inspector E. L. Melton, following the filing of numerous complaints Friday. Melton pointed out that "all dairy butter in rolls, or squares, shall have printed or stamped upon the wrapper the words, 'dairy butter,' the name and address of the manufacturer, and the net weight," according to the state law passed in 1915.

Three local dealers named in complaints issued Friday, entered pleas of guilty in justice court Saturday morning. I. S. Strasburger and Louis Dornecker paid fines of $25 each for selling bread of less than 15 ounces per loaf, and Fred Metzger was assessed a like amount for selling misbranded butter.

Indian Quells Whiskers; Jennings Contest Winner; Bulldogging Is Comedy

Throngs which surpassed in number even those of the opening day, saw Whiskers, famous buckner, meet his match at O'Donnell field Sunday afternoon in the feature event of the last day of the American Legion roundup, when Charlie Hood, Indian rider disqualified the day before, successfully topped the outlaw for the first time in the big horse's career. To give Whiskers his just deserts, it should be mentioned that he had already given his best, having thrown Chuck Jennings at the fifth jump only a few minutes before. A loose cinch was partly responsible for Jennings' failure.

Eight riders, Red Pruitt on Powder River, S. Houston on Grave Digger, J. W. Bates on Lisa, Peck Creighton on Buzzard, Chuck Jennings on Nugget, Harry Bennett on Snipe, Reg Schonchin on Sharkey, and F. C. Houston on Cul de Sac, appeared in the semi-finals without a fall, and from the four men picked for the finals, Jennings, for his ride on Flaxie B, was declared the winner of the two day contest. Schonchin insisted on saddling and mounting his horse, Midnight, in the open, instead of riding from the chute, and was the crowd's favorite for first money, even after the decision of the judges. He was given second place. S. Houston quelled Brown Jug, despite the fact that he is minus one hand, and was listed for third place. Pruitt's horse, Zane Gray, made two frenzied jumps as he left the chute, then forgot that he was a buckner

CHOOSE MOTIVE, CLASS ADVISED

Baccalaureate Sermon Is Inspirational—Seniors Off For Outing.

Life's greatest choice is that of a dominating motive, was the message of Rev. J. Edgar Purdy to the Bend High school senior class of 1922, in his baccalaureate sermon Sunday night at the Legion building. All life is service, and that it is for each individual to choose whether his service shall be a good or a bad service, said Purdy. The exercises were attended by about 450 people.

"Sometimes a good service is bad because it is not better, and sometimes a better service is bad because it is not the best that could be given. The privilege of choosing is one of the greatest privileges man enjoys," said Purdy. "The members of this senior class have the choice of career, of abode, of life partners, but greatest of all, the choice of a master—of the direction which their lives shall take." The privilege of choice must be exercised before it is lost, he warned.

Whether the individual shall be religious or irreligious is a matter for the will to decide, not the intellect, said the speaker. It is a question of direction—"Which way shall I take?"

Differences in religious denominations are not differences of direction or of motive power, but may be compared to the difference in makes of automobiles—the difference in transmission, or the manner in which the power shall be applied, he said. Purdy's text was taken from the book of Joshua, "Choose you this day whom you will serve."

The seniors left early this morning for Suttle lake, for an outing, planning to return Wednesday in time for the class day exercises that night. Miss Lena Deeg, class advisor, and Mrs. S. A. Blackley went as chaperones.

FEW KNOW FACE OF WATCH

Remarkable Fact That Can Be Verified by Casual Inquiry Among One's Acquaintances.

Something about the queer way in which most of us use—or rather do not use—our powers of observation can be learned in a very simple way. Ask the next person met whether 6 o'clock on his watch is marked by Roman or an Arabic numeral. If he does not admit that he does not know, he can be set down as a really exceptional person—one in about a thousand or so—and after he looks at his watch to see just how that figure is made, he will have the further surprise of finding that it is marked with neither "6" nor "VI."

This test recently was applied at a meeting of high railway officials in St. Louis and one of them passed it, though they, if anybody, might have been expected to know just how their watches were made. The railroaders laughed at each other and seemed to be a little humiliated, but really there was not much need, if any, for feeling that emotion.

None of them knew how 6 o'clock was marked, for the excellent reason that knowledge would have been quite worthless in their business and only would have taken up room in their minds better filled with other information. They all could "tell time," and that was enough.

WILD CREATURES HATE SNOW

Means Time of Misery and Hunger to Both Bird and Beast, and Thousands Starve.

Most wild creatures abhor snow. For the rabbits and hares it means that they must scratch down through the dull, frozen stuff before they can find their usual food. If the snow is really hard the rabbits are reduced to eating the bark of the fences near the warrens.

All the smaller birds are cut off from their food supplies. Those that live on worms or insects are particularly hard hit, and if the snow lies long the death roll among such birds as robins is really terrible. In that winter of 1917, when there were a hundred days of snow and frost in England it is estimated that the British Isles lost about one-third of their small-bird population.

Water rats, shrews and others all dislike frost and snow because such weather makes food more difficult to obtain. Otters, as a rule, make straight for the coast in a hard frost, and live on dabs and flounders in the unfrozen estuaries.

Even rats, which can generally look after themselves, dislike snow because it makes their dark bodies too conspicuous to their enemies and prevents them from moving about as freely as they otherwise would.

Albanian "Mean" Shot With Rifle.

The Albanian male is a creature of strange extremes, according to Kenneth L. Roberts, in a Balkan Jottings in the Saturday Evening Post. When encountered in his mountain fastnesses, garbed in flaring ballet skirts or baggy felt trousers—according to the section of the country in which he lives—and a half portion jacket with pompons on the elbows, he is what an American cavalryman would call a bad hombre.

The Albanian carries a silver-mounted rifle, a silver-mounted revolver attached to his person by a heavy silver chain, and a waist-band full of edged tools and miscellaneous kitchen knives. He is a "mean" shot with a rifle, and can shoot his initials in a horse's ear at a distance of 10 paces. His sacred honor is constantly being damaged by careless neighbors, and the only way in which he can repair the damage is to shoot an intricate pattern of holes through the person who did the foul deed.

Philistine Described.

The philistine is a man without intellectual pleasure, he will inevitably be bored, despite the fact that against boredom he has a great many fancied remedies—balls, theaters, parties, cards, gambling, horses, drinking, traveling and so on.

Yet nothing really pleases or excites or interests him. For sensual pleasure is quickly exhausted, the society of fellow philistines soon becomes burdensome and one may even get tired of cards.

The great affliction of all philistines is that they have no interest in ideas, and that to escape being bored they are in constant need of realities. But realities are either unsatisfactory or dangerous; when they lose their interest they become fatiguing. The ideal world is blithely and calm.—From Schopenhauer.

Perhaps She Was Wise.

When I was in my teens, I was going with a young man. He called unexpectedly one afternoon while in town. As we had a fire only in the kitchen, I invited him out there. He stayed all afternoon; also my cake stayed in the oven all afternoon, with the gas turned out. I would not take it out while he was there. I was afraid it might be a failure. I now look for him all of the time.—Chicago Journal.

Says He Can Make Diamonds.

Most precious stones can be made artificially, but until recently no one had succeeded in manufacturing diamonds of a usable size. Now a Frenchman says that he has discovered a new process by means of which he can make diamonds of all sizes up to a quarter of an inch in diameter.

Instinct of Prairie Dogs.
Prairie dogs seem to have some kind of foreknowledge of the weather, if observers at the New York Zoological park are right. Now and then the large members of the colony loosen the earth round their mounds with their forefeet, then shovel the soil upward with their hind feet. Other members work inside the burrow throwing out earth to aid in the building. When a dyke has been built, the animals tamp the earth down with their heads—an amusing sight. As these operations invariably take place before a storm, the obvious purpose is to build a dam that will keep the water from running into the burrow.

No Standard of Weight.

The bureau of railway economics says there is no standard for the weight of a railroad rail. This depends entirely on the traffic the particular road is handling. Usually rails are not measured by the foot, but by the yard. Formerly railroads used the 80-pound rail per yard, but now most roads use the 100-pound rail. The Virginian railroad is using a 120-pound rail, as it handles very heavy traffic.

For a Burn.

If you burn your tongue with hot soup, chocolate or any hot food, a bit of butter allowed to melt on the burned spot will give relief and prevent soreness.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

Is greatly relieved by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRHAL MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRHAL MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.
