

CHAUTAQUA WEEK PROGRAM ANNOUNCED BY GUARANTORS

Varied Entertainment Is Listed For June 28 To July 3.

Announcement of the complete program to be given in Bend during Chautauqua week was made by the guarantors of the six-day entertainment, preceding the offering of season tickets. The series of attractions will begin on the afternoon of June 28, continuing through to the evening of July 3. It is pointed out by the tickets committee that the cost of single admissions for the series will be three times that of a season ticket.

The opening number, a week from next Wednesday, will be a recital by the Steelman-Marriner-Taylor trio, while the evening will be devoted to the organization of the junior Chautauqua, a concert prelude by the trio, and character studies by A. Mather Hilburn, impersonator.

June 29 a scientific entertainment prelude by the Gletta L. Morris Co. and readings by Margaret Garrison will feature the afternoon, with the Morris Co. appearing again in the evening, and a lecture by Private Peat, famed as a war speaker, but who will talk on a strictly peaceful subject. Another lecture of merit is scheduled for the evening of the third day, Arthur Walwyn Evans, Welsh orator, speaking from the text, "Let There Be Light." His address will follow numbers by the Jugo-Slav tamburicans, who will also appear in the afternoon of the same day. Evans is a nephew of David Lloyd-George, British premier.

July opens with a lecture and demonstration by Dr. Lydia Allen De Vilbiss on "The Business of Living." The Keighley Broadway players will be seen in the evening in "Turn to the Right." The Batting-Mahler duo will make two appearances on July 2, one in the afternoon, the other in the evening preceding a lecture by George H. Bradford.

Two concerts by the New York City Concert quartet, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, and the junior pageant, set for the afternoon, constitute the program for the last day of Chautauqua.

For the children, sessions of the junior Chautauqua will be held daily. One of the speakers who will take the platform here will be welcomed by the many who have read his war time book, "Private Peat." The author's name is the same as the title of the book, which makes particular reference to John Pringle, Canadian soldier killed in the world war, a brother of A. M. Pringle of this city.

TIMBER EXCHANGE PLANS CONSIDERED

Former Forest Official Here Looks Into Possibility of Future Trades.

Possibility of exchanges of timber in Central Oregon under the provisions of the Sinnott timber exchange bill is seen in the visit to Bend yesterday of William L. Hall, formerly a high official in the United States forest service, now in the timber business in Chicago. Hall stated that clients of his firm are considering trades for national forest stumps, which the Sinnott bill allows.

He spent much of the day conferring with Supervisor H. L. Plumb of the Deschutes national forest, and with N. G. Jacobson, Plumb's predecessor in the office.

CHURCH BUDGET IS ALMOST COMPLETED

Of the budget of $3,500 which the Presbyterian church of Bend has been seeking to raise, $3,240 was taken care of up to last night, with still a large number of members to be solicited, it was reported by J. L. Webster, pastor. Rev. D. A. Thompson of Portland, who has been assisting in the campaign, left last night for his home.

Protecting Sheep From Coyote, Herder Shoots Himself Through Foot

In an attempt to protect the band of sheep in his care from an approaching coyote which threatened to scatter them, Ned Angland, herder employed by Con Breen at Pine mountain, shot himself through the foot with the high power rifle which he carried. However, the coyote was frightened away by the report, and the sheep were saved. Angland was brought to the St. Charles hospital, where an operation was performed, with the result that he will entirely recover unless blood poisoning sets in.

CAN'T STRETCH SPEED LIMITS

Highway Commission Refuses To Give Permit For Road Race.

Speed limits fixed by law will prevent the cross country road race from Bend to Burns and return, planned as one of the features of Bend's Fourth of July celebration. This was made known when J. A. Eastes, president of the Bend Commercial club, received a wire from the state highway commission refusing the request made last week to grant a permit for the event.

"The commission has no authority under the law to grant a special permit for speed in excess of the legal limit, therefore your request for permit for auto race between Bend and Burns is respectfully declined," the commission wired.

comparison with the total investment to be made, it is that part of the reclamation program on which all subsequent development hinges, Dubois emphasized. Just as soon as the reservoir has passed its test, late this year or early in 1923, work will be rushed on the extension and completion of the North canal and construction of laterals, representing by far the greater part of the contemplated expenditure. Finishing the four miles of the canal will be especially expensive.

Drafting of final plans is being pushed in the company's local offices, and nothing is being left undone to insure completion of the dam by the beginning of the storage season.

436 against it. Gibson was supported by 487 votes, easily defeating Orrell, whose total was 236. In the voting on a director for a two-year term, made unnecessary by the failure of the recall, Mrs. Richards had 437 and Mrs. Myers 273.

Emphasizing her belief that the work done by the Parents' association had been for the best interests of the district, Mrs. Myers, until recently president of the organization, declared that the efforts of the association will not be lost. "While the association candidates were defeated, the splendid work it has done in the past will live," she said.
