

SERVICES HELD FOR LON L. FOX

Business Houses Close To Honor Pioneer Auto Stage Manager.

Business houses of Bend closed their doors from 2 to 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in honor of L. L. Fox, pioneer auto stage manager, whose funeral was being held at that time at the Methodist church, Rev. J. Edgar Purdy officiating at this the first funeral service held in the auditorium of the church dedicated Sunday.

Music for the service consisted of a solo by Mrs. C. V. Silvia, and two songs by a male quartet consisting of Jay B. Noble, Charles G. Wilson, Sylvester Staats and Oscar Kregness. Pallbearers were R. M. Smith, C. L. Simpson, W. H. Staats, E. D. Gilson, E. P. Mahaffey and J. O. Gibson.

During Sunday's dedication services, when the church building committee was called to the altar to present the building, Rev. Purdy explained that Fox had been chairman of the committee, and had given liberally of his time and funds toward the completion of the building. As a recognition of his service, a minute of silent prayer was observed, followed by a short prayer by Purdy.

The following resolution was prepared by Bend Rebekah lodge No. 208:

Whereas, the membership of Bend Rebekah lodge No. 208, I. O. O. F., has suffered a severe loss in the untimely death of Brother L. L. Fox, whose name is inscribed on our charter, and

Whereas, our loss is but insignificant as compared with the loss to his loving wife and children.

Therefore, be it resolved that we deeply deplore the passing of the spirit of Brother Fox on August 11, 1922, and we extend to the bereaved family the deep and sincere sympathy of the lodge collectively and individually and beseech our loving Heavenly Father, the all wise Ruler of the Universe, to build up the broken hearts and give comfort as no earthly being can, and

Be it further resolved that in token of the deep feeling of the loss sustained by this lodge, our charter be draped for a period of at least 30 days, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the family and a copy be spread upon the records of this lodge and a copy be given the Bend Bulletin for publication.

Done by order of the Bend Rebekah lodge No. 208, of Bend, Oregon, in regular session assembled this 11th day of August, 1922.

Lon L. Fox, died Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at his home on Franklin avenue, after an illness of several months, which followed a stroke of paralysis.

Coming to Bend in 1909, Fox was at first employed as bookkeeper for Jack Wenandy, proprietor of the stage line between Bend and Shaniko. In a short time he became Wenandy's partner in the mail and passenger stage business. Wenandy sold out to Frank Elkins, formerly sheriff of Crook county, and later Fox became sole proprietor of the business. After the completion of the railroads to Bend, he operated a stage line to Silver Lake.

Former Deputy Sheriff
He was deputy sheriff of Crook county in 1911 and 1912. He built a frame garage near the site of the old wooden building which was the stage station. Later that was torn down and Fox erected the stone garage building now occupied by the Central Oregon Motor Co. He had in mind other construction on property he owned on Bond street, at the time of his illness.

Fox was a candidate for the republican nomination for Deschutes county treasurer in the May primary of 1920, losing the nomination by a narrow margin. That fall he was elected to the city council, on which he served as a chairman of the finance committee. In that capacity he assisted in reducing the city's outstanding warrant indebtedness by more than 50 per cent.

Native of Missouri
Lon L. Fox was born at Fair Play, Missouri, on March 17, 1866, and when two years old went with his parents, Henry Francis Fox and Sarah Caroline Fox, to southwestern Missouri, where they located in Jasper county, near Carthage. In that locality he spent most of his life before coming to Oregon, in the fall of 1904, when he located at La Grande. In 1909 he came to Bend, where he resided until his death.

INSPECT WORK ON DRY KILNS

Dea and Horstkotte Visitors In Bend - Mill Unit Plans Unfinished.

To observe the progress being made in the construction of the new battery of 10 dry kilns at the Shevlin-Hixon plant in this city, E. H. Dea, mechanical superintendent for The Shevlin-Hixon Company, and Fred W. Horstkotte, of the firm of Dion & Horstkotte, which is drafting plans for the new mill unit, arrived in Bend Monday and with General Manager J. P. Hennessy were on an inspection tour of the yards and plant during the morning.

The kilns must be completed before anything else can be done, Dea emphasized when seen. Their installation is in charge of G. A. Horstkotte.

Plans for the new unit are not yet finished, but should be ready soon, Fred W. Horstkotte stated.

HOLDING COMPANY FORMED BY MASONS

In order legally to take possession of the lot across Wall street from the Hippodrome chosen as the site for the Masonic temple, a holding company is being formed, as a result of a recent meeting of the building committee, representing all of the Masonic ranks.

MILLER MAKES HOME IN WEST

B. W. L. & P. Stockholder To Be More Active In Affairs of Company.

Kempster B. Miller, heavy stockholder in the Bend Water, Light & Power Co., is transferring his headquarters from the middle west to the Pacific coast, he stated here Friday morning, following his arrival in Bend last night with Mrs. Miller and their three daughters, Ruth, Anthea and Dorothea. The trip was made by auto from Mansfield, Ohio, and the party will remain in Bend for nearly a week before continuing into California. The move is being undertaken, Miller said, because of the fact that his interests in the west have become considerably greater than in the east.

The Miller home will probably be made in Los Angeles and Miller himself looks forward to greater personal activity in the affairs of the company in Bend as the result of the change in his headquarters. Aside from the change of his home and headquarters, his stop in Bend is in line with the company's policy of frequent visits by officers and stockholders.

The auto tour from Mansfield was a highly enjoyable one, including a week spent at Yellowstone national park, and four days in Rainier. Four more national parks will be visited after leaving Bend—Crater, Lassen, Sequoia, and Yosemite.

The farther west the party came, the better the roads were found, Miller declared. The Columbia river highway, he considers to be the most wonderful stretch of road in the country.

HISTORIC BRIDGE WILL BE REPLACED

THE DALLES, Aug. 14.—Sherar's bridge, once the gateway to Central Oregon, is to be replaced by a modern steel bridge. The present bridge was built over 50 years ago, and was the only wagon bridge across the Deschutes.

The bridge which is to be torn down was built by John Y. Todd, Central Oregon pioneer for whom Todd lake was recently named, and a partner, being sold to Joe Sherar as a toll bridge a few years later.

CAR STRIKES TREE; MAN'S NOSE BROKEN

Carl H. Barnes, traveling salesman, sustained a broken nose and lesser injuries Sunday night when his automobile struck a tree beside the highway near Crescent. He was brought to Bend by a passing motorist, and his injuries were treated here Monday morning.

DON'T ALLOW A COUGH TO HANG ON

A cough that "hangs on" wears down the sufferer, leaving him unable to ward off sickness. Jos. Gillard, 148 Pillmore street, Nashville, Tenn., writes: "I was suffering with a dry hacking cough and pain in my chest, but since taking Foley's Honey and Tar, I have been relieved." Soothing and healing. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Pioneers and Pioneer Life In Bend and Central Oregon

(The history of Bend's Methodist church is the subject of this article. While it is a far cry from the times of Indian fighting and early settlement which have been described in previous articles, it is not intended that this series should be chronological; and the fact that tomorrow the Methodists of Bend will dedicate the beautiful building which is the result of faithful service on the part of the members through the years, makes a story of their efforts appropriate today.)

Bend's old log schoolhouse was the scene of the first Methodist worship in Bend, the Rev. McGowan preaching there in 1909. Ministers of that denomination visited Bend intermittently during the following years, but no church organization was formed until 1906, one year after the town of Bend was incorporated.

The Methodist church of Bend grew out of one of those once familiar "revivals" which seem now to be a thing of history. On March 1, 1906, Rev. W. P. Jinnette, Methodist pastor at Prineville, came to Bend and began a four day series of meetings in the Baptist church building, which was torn down two years ago after being twice damaged by fire.

On the following Sunday, March 4, the meetings culminated in the organization of the First Methodist church of Bend, with seven charter members, but with about 25 people who became regular attendants. Rev. Jinnette planned to organize a circuit consisting of Bend, Redmond, Laidlaw and Sisters, and to make arrangements with the district superintendent, Rev. Walter Shipworth, to provide a circuit rider. This was not done until November, when Rev. Campbell Tavenor came to Bend as the first resident minister, preaching every other Sunday in the Baptist building. Until Tavenor came, Jinnette preached in Bend periodically.

The Baptist church was used during the following five years, pastors during that time being Tavenor, G. R. Short, C. L. Lowther, W. L. Wilson and W. M. Weaver.

During Weaver's pastorate, arrangements were made to hold services every Sunday, and this made it necessary to find new quarters. The hall over the old postoffice on Wall street was rented.

On July 3, 1912, the postoffice building was destroyed by fire, along with other nearby buildings. The Methodists lost their home and such property as they had in the way of hymnals and library. At that time J. E. Williams was pastor here and at Prineville. The church was thriving, and a Sunday school and Epworth league had been organized.

Using the school building for services temporarily, the Methodists set about the task of building their first church structure—the "Little Brown Church," on Harriman street, then called Olympic place. The new building, seating 250 persons, was built at a cost of $1,500. It was built back from Franklin street—then Ohio—because it was planned to start construction of a stone church building on the same lot in a short time.

The Little Brown Church was dedicated on Sunday, August 25, 1912. Dr. E. H. Todd of Willamette university preached the dedicatory sermon.

Pastors during the next few years were W. A. Pratt, E. C. Newham, C. A. Smith, A. S. Black, F. W. Keagy and W. C. Stewart. At first the new church building was adequate to its uses, but during Stewart's pastorate it became overcrowded, and an addition was built on the north, in 1916, to temporarily relieve the situation. During his pastorate also, the present parsonage was built.

When the present pastor, Rev. J. Edgar Purdy, came to Bend in September, 1919, it was with the understanding that a new and creditable building was to be a part of the program for his pastorate. Decision to start work was made at a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Fox, during the winter of '19-'20. This action was approved by the quarterly conference, and on February 8, 1920, was unanimously endorsed by the congregation. A campaign for funds was started in March, $25,000 being sought locally and $15,000 expected from the Methodist board of home missions and church extension. Early in the summer construction was begun, the lot on the corner of Bond and Kansas streets being purchased.

Bishop W. O. Shepard, who will tomorrow dedicate the completed church building, laid the cornerstone on Wednesday, October 13, 1920, assisted by District Superintendent H. F. Pemberton, Lon L. Fox, W. A. Jacobs, C. P. Niswonger, S. O. Watkins, G. F. Hoover and H. Caylor.

First services were held in the basement of the new building on Easter Sunday of 1921, the room designated as "Epworth Hall" having been completed sufficiently. All activities of the church have been held there since that time.

During the twelve years of its existence, the membership of the Bend Methodist church has increased from the original seven to over 200, while its Sunday school has a regular attendance of over 300.

CRATER LAKE-BEND HIGHWAY PRAISED

Inn Described As One of Best In State, Pass Trip As One of World's Most Beautiful.

Appreciative description of the highway from Crater lake to Bend, illustrated by views along the way and a picture of the Pilot Butte Inn, described as "one of the best tourist hotels in the entire state," is given prominent space in Friday's Portland Telegram. In an interview with Richard W. Price, director of the Crater Lake National Park Co., who passed through Bend several days ago on his way to Portland by way of the McKenzie pass.

"The drive from Crater lake to Bend, 120 miles away, is different from any other trip in Oregon," said Price. "From Bend to Eugene over the McKenzie pass, the tourist takes one of the most beautiful scenic trips in the world."

IN PLANNING A CAMPAIGN, does an advertiser guess at the quality of the art work?

Does he guess whether the copy to be used is a true representation of his goods?

Does he guess at the charges of the photo-engraver and the electrotyper?

Then why guess the circulation of the publications to be used, how that circulation is obtained, where the papers go, how many paid for, how many given away and how many subscribers in arrears?

These points are vital to the success of the campaign.

It is not necessary to guess. Any publication that is worthy of the advertiser's consideration will give him complete data verified by the Audit Bureau of Circulations.
