

FOREMAN COOKED IN MILL FURNACE

ASHES PLUG DOOR WHEN STEAM PIPE BURSTS—BOILING WATER AND LIVE STEAM POUR IN ON TRAPPED VICTIM.

(By United Press to The Daily Bulletin)
SPRINGFIELD, Or., Jan. 13.—Milton Bailey, aged 40, mill superintendent, will probably die as the result of severe burns inflicted today when he was caught in a furnace at the plant.
He entered the furnace while it was cold, to clean out the ashes, but in removing them, made a pile at the entrance, stacking the ashes between himself and the door. A steam pipe burst, and he was trapped, unable to effect a means of egress. He buried his face in the ashes to prevent the necessity of breathing the steam.
Boiling water and live steam literally cooked his legs and back before employes of the mill could rescue him.

FAMOUS SONGSTERS DRAW PICTURES OF THEIR OWN VOICES BY SINGING

UPPER—RECORD OF VOICES. TOP TO BOTTOM, CARUSO'S, TETRAZZINI'S, AMATO'S
LOWER—AMATO, TETRAZZINI, CARUSO

Photos by American Press Association.
Delegates to the congress of scientists, assembled in New York at the convention of the American Association For the Advancement of Science, saw the voices of Caruso, Tetrassini and Amato dance before their eyes on the walls of a darkened room. The phonodeik, a recently invented machine, consists of a supersensitive diaphragm of a gauzelike material, through which the sound waves pass, causing vibration. A series of highly polished mirrors reflect the vibrations to a revolving triangular mirror disk, which in turn reflects them upon a screen. The sound wave reflections appear upon the screen magnified 40,000 times the size of the vibrations upon the diaphragm.

BLOCK PEACE PLANS

Allied Reply Destroys Peace Desire, Says German Press.

(By United Press to The Daily Bulletin)
AMSTERDAM, Jan. 13.—German editorials express a practically unanimous view that the Allies' note has blocked present peace plans.
The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger says, "The Entente note destroys our last desire for peace. The Allies are waging a war of conquest." The Tages Zeitung declared that "Our enemies are striving to destroy Germany as a great power," and the Tageblatt asserted that the reply blocked every path to peace.

At the Movies

Bend Theatre.
Marie Doro, one of the most celebrated dramatic artists on stage or screen, and formerly a Frohman star, will be seen at the Bend Theatre Sunday and Monday, in the Jesse L. Lasky production of "Common Ground," a thrilling drama of social conditions.
"Common Ground" shows the mental and spiritual awakening through love, of a child of the slums, employed in an artificial flower factory.
How she meets, falls in love with, and eventually saves from ruin, at the hands of political grafters, a young judge, is the basis of this most unusual play. The methods of the army of parasites connected with the city institution, and their dealings with the unfortunates of the underworld, are vividly exposed.

How these grafters, to further their own ends, manufacture false conditions to harm their enemies, is brought out through a series of most unusual scenes.
The Lasky Company has surrounded Miss Doro with a cast of unusual excellence, consisting of such distinguished artists as Thomas Meighan, as the young Judge, Theodore Roberts, Mary Marsh, Horace B. Carpenter and Vera McEvers, and a number of other members of the Lasky all-star organization.

The picture has the usual Lasky thoroughness of detail and splendid photography.

The "Common Ground" has three well-known stars, Theodore Roberts, Marie Doro and Billy Jacobs. The production is rated as one of the best of the recent Paramount photographs.

AMERICAN PHYSICIAN SERVES IN BELGIUM

Dr. John J. Brasser Returned to Native Land, After 25 Years Residence in United States.

(By Henry Wood,
United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WITH KING ALBERT'S ARMY IN BELGIUM, Jan. 13.—Probably the most Americanized Belgian in the Belgian army is Dr. John Brasser, 60, of Norway, Michigan.
During the 25 years he lived in Northern Michigan, Dr. Brasser never dreamed of returning to Europe. Immediately following his medical course at the University of Liege, he had gone to America, taken a post-graduate course at the University of Pennsylvania and then located in the Belgian colony, which now numbers about 30,000 in the iron mining regions of Michigan.
A number of Dr. Brasser's university associates at Liege had also located in the United States, at New York, Chicago, Washington and elsewhere. These Dr. Brasser went to visit once every year.

But with the coming of the war, the martyrdom of Belgium and the urgent call of King Albert for all Belgian physicians and surgeons to return, Dr. Brasser at once returned to Belgium to serve the army, his compatriots promising to look after his wife and son and conserve his medical practice.

Dr. Brasser is still at his post of duty, ready to serve until the war is ended. He is in charge of one of the seven hospital trains with which Belgium is equipped and by means of which the wounded from the Belgian front dressing stations are hurried down into France. Dr. Brasser's train makes at least one trip a week into France, and oftener when heavy fighting renders it necessary.

Dr. Brasser admits he got mighty homesick many times to see his wife and son. Only two things, he says, keep him up.
