Additional sum for barracks work approved

An additional $45,000 in accelerated public works funds has been allocated for construction of barracks at the Redmond smoke-jumper base being developed on Roberts Field, it was announced from Washington, D.C., today.

Allocation of $25,000 for road construction and other work at the base was announced two weeks ago.

The project earlier was allocated approximately $250,000 for the first phase of the work on a U.S. Forest Service fire control base, eventual cost of which will be several million dollars.

Bids are to be advertised this week for a mess hall, a 25-man barracks and a parachute loft. Phase II of the project, not originally proposed for construction until next year, will include a big warehouse and, among other units, a 5,000 man equipment cache.

The accelerated funds, which are in addition to the original allocation of money for the project, may make possible work this year on some of the plans included in Phase II.

Access road construction is already under way.

Operation cost reducing flocks

Only about 15,000 sheep will be grazed on Fort Rock forest ranges this summer, on lands which in 1940 provided forage for 50,000, it was noted today by Deschutes National Forest officers. In a recent item in The Bulletin, the number of sheep grazed on the Fort Rock lands in 1940 was incorrectly listed.

The big drop in the number of sheep pastured on the semi-arid district is attributed to ever-increasing costs faced by sheepmen.

Stockholders upset over Liz's 'take'

NEW YORK (UPI) — An announcement that actress Elizabeth Taylor can expect to make nearly $10 million from the film "Cleopatra" turned the normally staid annual stockholders' meeting of the 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. into a catcalling, whistling session Tuesday.

The announcement, made by company President Darryl F. Zanuck, also was greeted by a demand from stockholder Evelyn Davis for the person responsible for the actress' "ridiculously large contract."

"It was her going price," Zanuck explained.

Stockholder Gloria Parker got into a pushing, screaming argument with Miss Davis when Miss Parker suggested that the film star be made a member of the board of directors because "this girl has done a lot for our corporation."

E. W. A. Peake dies at age 94

E. W. A. Peake, 94, founder of Portland Loan Co., died last night in Palm Springs, Calif. He had homes there and in LaJolla. Through the years, he had visited in Bend numerous times, usually every second or third summer. His last visit here was three years ago.

Peake founded the loan company, first finance company in Oregon, when he lived in Portland. He moved to California in the mid-thirties, and was semi-retired. He was a principal stockholder in Consolidated Freightways, and for a number of years, was chairman of the board.

Peake vacationed on the Metolius River in early days, but when modern highways made the area more accessible, he lost some of his fervor for it. He was born March 6, 1869, in the Middle West.

Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Los Angeles.

Judges' pay bill approved

The district judges' pay bill, which originated in the House of Representatives, today was passed by the Senate and went to the governor for signature.

As a result, district judges, including Judge Joe Thalhofer of Deschutes County District Court, will receive annual salaries of $11,000, a $500 increase.

The salaries are paid by the state, and only secretarial and office expenses are budgeted by the counties.

$147 million in state aid for schools gains approval

SALEM (UPI) — The sum of $147 million in state aid for schools was approved Wednesday by the Ways and Means Education subcommittee.

It accounts for the biggest single chunk of the state's spending program for 1963-65.

The group approved an increase of about $9 per school child the first year and $11 the second year. Gov. Mark Hatfield recommended $19 both years.

The bill contains two appropriations.

One would chip in $141 million to go directly to local school districts as basic school aid. The districts must make up the rest of their costs out of local taxes.

This is $148,296 more than the governor recommended.

The second will provide $5.8 million for special classes for children who are physically handicapped, mentally retarded, gifted, or migrant — and for curriculum improvement.

The subcommittee increased the governor's recommendations for special programs by about $300,000, adding substantially to programs for retarded and handicapped, while cutting state aid for the migrant program to summer classes only.

Procedures Overhauled — In addition to approving sums of money, the subcommittee thoroughly overhauled basic school fund procedures.

Accepting proposals by Rep. John Mosser, R-Beaverton, the group:

Decided to try to get a more accurate picture of state aid by appropriating more per-child money for fewer children. To do this, it changed the count of school children from those between 4-20 to those between 5-17, then it changed the per-child amounts of money accordingly.

Thus, under the Mosser formula the state will chip in $143 per child the first year, and raise it to $132 the second year. This compares, under the present formula, to the $130 the governor proposed over the two years. Under the present formula, the state now is providing $120.

Separated basic aid to schools from the special programs. The special programs now will have to stand on their own, and seek new funds every two years.

Also decided to distribute money this biennium that has been accumulating in the common school fund (derived from state-owned lands). This one-shot source of revenue will account for about $6 million of the state's aid to schools in 1963-65.

The subcommittee's decisions, product of session-long study, must be approved by the full Ways and Means Committee, the House, and Senate.
