

Ladies of Elks hold potluck

The Bend Ladies of Elks entertained members and guests at a potluck party last Thursday evening in the dining room of the BPOE Temple. Forty-four persons attended.

Fried chicken and appropriate accompaniments were served buffet style, with guests selecting places at attractively decorated tables. Brown table clothes and napkins were used with spring flowers in shades of yellow.

Mrs. Lowell McMeen, president, was in charge of the decorations, assisted by Mrs. C. V. Shultz.

Mrs. McMeen distributed year books, which had been prepared by a committee. They include a list of officers and coming events, and the organization's by-laws.

Games completed the evening's entertainment.

Possible new racial strife worries Chicago officials

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the third in a series of five dispatches by United Press International on racial problems in key northern cities.

By David Smothers
UPI Staff Writer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Racial tensions are nothing new to the nation's second largest city, but this spring civil rights leaders sense a mounting tide of impatience in the air which could lead to serious trouble in the weeks ahead.

If racial conflicts do explode here, they are likely to do so during the summer, which Chicago Urban League Director Edwin C. Berry calls "the riot season."

"Chicagoans are sitting on a tinder box and they very narrowly missed an explosion in the last few weeks," said Berry in a warning to the Urban League's board of directors.

Mood is Critical
"The mood is more critical than at any time I've ever seen it. This mood will be very serious this summer as long as we don't do anything about it."

"We need to take immediate action in a crash type of program related to equality of opportunity in jobs, housing and education."

"We currently live in an unjust society, racially speaking, and the ingredients of this racial unrest are always present. When anything happens—like the Birmingham situation or like the gathering of the mob on the Southwest Side when there was supposed to be a Negro moving in—any little thing like that can touch it off."

Problem Grows Worse
Berry and other experts in the field agree Chicago's race problem is longstanding and is growing. The ground roots of the problem can be told in statistics:

—Of the 3.5 million inhabitants of metropolitan Chicago listed in the 1960 census, 813,000 were Negro.

—The 1950 census listed 3.5 million persons in Chicago, 492,000 of them Negro. This meant Chicago's Negro population had risen 65 per cent in 10 years while the overall population had dropped.

—Of the city's 813,000 Negroes, 520,000 live in the South Side area nine miles long and three miles wide known as "The Black Belt."

Of the rest, the overwhelming majority also live in all-Negro pockets. This is the situation that has led some to describe Chicago as the nation's most segregated city.

—Almost half of Chicago's Negroes came here from somewhere else.

—Seventy-five per cent of the persons on county relief rolls are Negro.

Spell Trouble
These figures add up to trouble in the vital areas of housing, education and jobs.

The housing issue is touchiest. Chicago Negroes and whites may often work side by side, but they rarely live side by side except in the tense neighborhoods where the "Black Belt" is growing. And it is growing constantly as a steady tide of job-seeking Negroes from the South pours into the slums at the core of the "Black Belt."

In case after case, Negroes with the money to afford good housing must move into white neighborhoods to find it. Over and over again, the whites leave and the neighborhood becomes all Negro. Bitterness remains behind. If the trend continues and Negroes cannot break out into the suburbs surrounding the city, sociologists warn that Chicago could become a predominantly Negro city by 1975.

Efforts Mount
Although Chicago's race problem is mounting, so are the city's efforts to meet it.

Within the last decade, acres of "Black Belt" slums have been leveled. High rise apartment buildings and public housing developments have taken their place. Whites and Negroes have learned to live together in some of the South Side's best residential neighborhoods. There are more Negro policemen, and the department's ability to deal with racial troubles has increased markedly.

Practice camp session held
The W-C-Ka Camp Fire Girls and the Wishing Blue Birds held a joint pre-season practice of good camping and cook-out techniques, Saturday in Shevlin Park. The older girls acted as instructors for the younger ones.

The group showed how to build a fire correctly, how to use compasses and pocket knives, and how to identify interesting items on a nature hike.

Girls in the W-C-Ka Camp Fire group are Janice Ettinger, Mary Lou Hall, Michele Baker, Susan Wilson, Kathleen Smith, Mary Langers, Beverly Jones, Teresa Puddy and Marsha Stille.

Members of the Blue Bird group are Elizabeth Dickinson, Janice Jones, Patty Hudson, Diane Rhodes, Robin Mitchell, Tisha Ray, Kristie Rose, Nancy Watt and Carol West.

The girls were supervised by their leaders, Mrs. Richard Ettinger, Mrs. Harvey Watt and Mrs. Jane Wilson.

AUTOPSY RESULTS GIVEN
EUGENE (UPI)—An autopsy showed that Bruce H. Niesdermeyer, 18, freshman student at the University of Oregon from Central Point, died as a result of a blood clot in the brain. He was hospitalized May 13 after complaining of feeling ill and died a week later.

Post Office, Treasury funds gain approval

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. J. Vaughan Gary, D-Va., and Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., have met, smiled, conferred, and, with the help of several other House and Senate members, worked out a compromise which means:

—Saturday mail deliveries, allegedly imperiled in a congressional economy drive, will not be shut off or curtailed.

—The congressional money machine, which broke down last year with results more comic than tragic, is greased, oiled, and ready to grind out the billions again.

What Gary, Robertson and Co. agreed on at their Alphonse and Gaston performance Tuesday was an appropriation of $6 billion to run the Post Office and Treasury departments in the 12 months starting July 1. To the relief of all concerned, their talks were unmarred by the slightest unpleasantness.

It is not that Gary and Robertson aren't Southern gentlemen and the best of old friends. But they happen to be chairmen of House and Senate appropriations subcommittees handling funds for the Treasury and Post Office departments.

Last year their subcommittees were the first to collide in a test of strength between House and Senate check writers that tied up all money bills until almost the end of the session.

The squabble, in which neither Gary nor Robertson had any real role, was over which committee's members would walk to the other side of the Capitol to compromise talks to iron out differences in Senate and House appropriations bills.
