

Weekend report

Local lake, stream fishing to be good

Fair or better fishing is in store for those intending to fish in Central Oregon this weekend. The Oregon State Game Commission reports today.

In the Ochoco District, the Ochoco reservoir has been producing excellent catches of trout for trollers using flatfish. Bank anglers are doing best casting lures from the dam.

Prineville Reservoir is good for rainbow trout over 12 inches by trolling. Bank angling has been slow. Haystack Reservoir is good for small trout.

Pelton Reservoir is good for seven to 10-inch trout on troll. Larger Dolly Varden and German brown trout have been taken by still fishing with bait at the upper end of the reservoir. Walton Lake has been producing fair to good catches for fly fishermen.

At Cove State Park and in the Warm Springs area, the Deschutes River has been fair to good for 10-inch trout. The Crooked River above and below Prineville Reservoir is muddy, and fishing is slow.

In the Bend District, the game commission announced that the North Cascade Lakes Highway is open to traffic, but motorists are urged to use caution.

Poor angler success was reported at Davis Lake. At East Lake reports said that fishing was good on bait or troll for rainbow. The best success, however, was reported in still fishing for eastern brook with worms.

At Paulina Lake, angler success varied from poor to fair on opening weekend. Catch has improved. Still fishing with single eggs has been producing the best results.

Fishermen at Big Lava Lake have been producing good catches of eastern brook on slow troll with spinner and worms. The use of hammered brass spinning lures has been producing well.

At Elk Lake, still fishing with worms for kokanee has been good. Fishing at Crane Prairie Reservoir has slowed somewhat. Still good catches of rainbow, kokanee and eastern brook have been reported. The Cultus River channel has been the best producing area for bait (worms) or brass spinning lures.

Wickiup Reservoir continues good for kokanee still fishing with bait. Brown trout success has been fair on troll in shallow water using lures (abalone). North Twin Lake should be fair to good for rainbow. Best results have been on slow, deep trolling.

South Twin Lake continues with fair to good catches on bait or troll. The Metolius River is steadily improving in the fly area. Blue Lake is good for rainbow and small kokanee. The best method here is still fishing with orange salmon eggs, but trolling with small Wonder lures was also producing good catches. The Deschutes River above Bend was good on troll or bait.

Close games mark Wednesday play in Bend Little Leagues

Two narrow victories and a lopsided one marked Wednesday's play of the Bend Little Leagues.

Paced by Dave Brumbaugh and Boyd Bolton, the Dairy Queen nine squeezed out a 2-6 win over Medo-Land in the American League game at Harmon Field.

Brumbaugh batted a perfect 1.000 when he went three for three at the plate, and Bolton was as good when he got two hits in two trips to the plate.

Dairy Queen broke loose for three tallies in the first, four in the second, one in the fourth, and then hung on desperately while Medo-Land scored five in its half of the sixth to all but overtake the victors.

Don Houck started out on the mound for the Dairy Queen but traded places with third baseman, Brumbaugh, who finished out the game. The switch was made during that hot Medo-Land sixth frame.

Larry Nicholson paced the losers, going two hits in four trips to bat.

Over at Juniper Park in the Cascade League, Shoop and Schulze could not push across the tying run in the last inning, and dropped a hot 7-6 tilt to Miller's.

Miller's winning effort was aided by the batting efforts of Toby Adams, Billy Carroll and Kevin Rea. Gary Geser went three for three in the batter's box to pace the losers. Teammate Steve Kiel contributed a two-for-two effort.

Four of Miller's tallies were scored in a torrid second inning on two hits, one of which was a homerun by Kevin Rea. He hit another in the fifth.

Billy Carroll started out on the hill for Miller's and gained the victory. Des Triplett went the distance for Shoop and Schulze and was credited with the loss.

Over at Marshall Field, however, the game was decided in the first two innings. Leleco tallied one in the first and then exploded for four runs in the second to soar ahead of Cascade Gas 19-1. Leleco's National League win was an all-out team effort at the plate. Third baseman Tom Tyler led the pack, going two for two.

Cascade Gas found the going rough, but left tosser Carl Sell on the mound for the entire contest. Cascade Gas' lone run crossed the plate when a lad by the name of Currie stole home. He got aboard when the Leleco short stop bobbled the ball.
