Moratorium declared

U. S. halts nuclear tests in atmosphere

Test-ban accord sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today announced a moratorium on U. S. nuclear testing in the atmosphere as part of a new "high-level" effort to resolve the five-year-old test ban deadlock with Russia.

"The United States does not propose to conduct nuclear tests in the atmosphere so long as other states do not do so," he declared. "We will not be the first to resume."

Kennedy said the new test ban talks, expected to start in Moscow in mid-July, will carry with them "the hopes of all mankind."

He warned, however, that "our hopes must be tempered with the caution of history," an allusion to past failures in the area.

The talks were agreed upon by Kennedy, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan as the result of a recent exchange of correspondence. But they will be conducted at a level somewhere short of the foreign ministers.

The chief executive, who announced the step in a commencement address at American University here, said the terrible threat of atomic annihilation implicit in the current arms race called for "a fresh start" on nuclear test ban negotiations.

Demonstrates "Good Faith"

He then announced the moratorium on atmospheric testing, saying that "such a declaration is no substitute for a formal binding treaty — but I hope it will help us achieve one." He called the move a demonstration of "our good faith and solemn conviction."

The most recent U. S. test in the atmosphere was held in the Pacific last Nov. 4. Kennedy announced then that the explosion marked the end of an atmospheric series started the previous April but that underground tests would continue in Nevada.

The Russians continued atmospheric tests into December and there has been speculation they may be preparing for a new series later this summer to offset what U. S. officials consider this country's lead in nuclear power.

The chief executive coupled his announcement with an appeal to all Americans for sober soul searching on the question of racial equality as well as their attitude toward nuclear testing and getting along with Russia generally.

"Wherever we are, we must all, in our daily lives live up to the age-old faith that peace and freedom walk together," Kennedy said. "In too many of our cities today, the peace is not secure because freedom is incomplete."

The President conceded that successful conclusion of a nuclear test ban treaty depended on Soviet leaders adopting "a more enlightened attitude." But he said that "I believe we can help them to do it" by setting the example in all areas of human relations.

Never Were Enemies

Noting that Russia and the United States never had opposed each other on the battlefield, Kennedy said "both the United States and its allies, and the Soviet Union and its allies, have a mutually deep interest in a just and genuine peace and in halting the arms race."

Urging Americans to "deal with the world as it is" and not as if it might have been if the history of the past 18 years had been different, he said this country "must persevere in the... hope that constructive changes without the Communist bloc might bring within reach solutions which now seem beyond us."

The Moscow talks also were announced in London and in Moscow. While Kennedy gave no date, these reports said the talks would start in July. Competent sources said they would not involve a summit meeting for sessions at the foreign ministers level.

Instead, these sources said, the discussions will be conducted by representatives of the three countries who have "the highest confidence" of the national leaders. These will not necessarily be persons in official positions.

In announcing the Moscow talks and his decision to refrain from atmospheric tests as long as other nations do so, Kennedy called on all Americans to "re-examine our attitude toward peace and freedom here at home."

Court denies hearing to Larry Shipley

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Supreme Court today denied a hearing to Larry West Shipley, 21, McMinnville, Ore., who is under sentence to die for the slaying of Linda Jean Stevens, 16, Willamina, Ore., on Aug. 8, 1961.

The brief order leaves the state of Oregon free to carry out the execution. A death date will be set in Lincoln County Circuit Court.

Shipley and Glen Douglas Dixon both were convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of the girl, whose bullet-riddled body was found on a forest path near Otis Junction.

Shipley received a death sentence and Dixon was sentenced to life.

The petition for Supreme Court review was filed by Attorney Jonathan U. Newman of the American Civil Liberties Union in Portland.

Newman contended there was unreasonable delay in taking Shipley before a magistrate and that confessions obtained during this period were erroneously introduced in evidence.

Newman said in Portland he would have no comment on any future plans until he talked to Shipley and other attorneys. "We'll have to reassess the situation," he said.

The Oregon Supreme Court by a divided vote last Oct. 10 affirmed Shipley's conviction.

Shipley is one of four persons facing execution in Oregon. The high court recently denied a hearing to Jeannette June Freeman, 21, who was convicted of throwing a boy to his death in the Crooked River Gorge. Her attorneys have said they will ask the court to reconsider.

No negotiations in lumber tieup

PORTLAND (UPI) — No negotiating sessions have been scheduled in the labor dispute that has idled an estimated 19,000 lumber workers in three states, federal mediators said today.

Federal mediator George Walker said his office was constantly in touch with both sides. Asked if he thought there would be a negotiating session this week he said it was "hard to tell but it is possible."

The International Woodworkers of America (IWA) and the Lumber and Sawmill Workers (LSW) last week struck St. Regis and U.S. Plywood in a dispute over wages. Four other members of the Big Six — Weyerhaeuser, Crown Zellerbach, International Paper and Rayonier shut down operations in Oregon, Washington and Northern California on the theory that "a strike against one is a strike against all."

No new negotiating sessions have been announced between another large employer group, Timber Operators Council, and the two unions. The some 196 members of the TOC still were operating.

Possible switch on CD seen

SALEM (UPI) — Federal Civil Defense officials may reverse their earlier stand and provide matching funds for Oregon's stripped-down CD agency, it was revealed today.

State Director Robert W. Sandstrom told UPI that he submitted a request for matching funds to regional Civil Defense headquarters on June 3.

Keith Birkhofer top showman at 4-H show

Bidding for choice animals, including top stock in the beef, hog and sheep divisions, featured the 13th annual Bend 4-H Stock Show and Sale Saturday night as the show came to an end at Bend Municipal Park.

Earlier in the evening, Keith Birkhofer, Redmond, was declared the all-around showman of the highly successful event.

The grand champion steer, a Hereford shown by Dennis Hoffman, Redmond, was sold to Spec Hudspeeth of the Mile-Away Ranch at 50 cents a pound, with the reserve grand champion, an Angus entered by Marcia Weigand, Powell Butte, going to Larry Timmerman of Powell Butte on a bid of 35 cents a pound.

A grand champion lamb, a black-face Hampshire entered by Janet Farrell, Madras, and weighing 90 pounds, was purchased by Madras Feed for 71 cents a pound, or $56.90 for the animal. The reserve champion lamb, also a black-face Hampshire and shown by Eddie Barnum of Bend, was sold to Elmer Hudson's Maytag of Bend for 41 cents a pound.

The champion hog, a York entered by Ray Pokorny of Culver, was purchased by Madras Feed at 40 cents a pound. The reserve champion, a Landrace entered by Gail Gasser of Bend was purchased by Seneca Lumber Company at 39 1/2 cents a pound.

Leaders in charge of the show and sale said the event was most satisfactory and that the prices paid for stock was pleasing. Crews worked until past midnight Saturday cleaning up the ball park, following three days of activities.

Man, wife found shot to death

SWEET HOME (UPI) — A 75-year-old man and his wife and son were found shot to death in their home near here early Sunday.

State Police said Earl Crawley apparently shot his wife, Helen, and son, Michael, 21, as they slept and then took his own life after going to a neighbor's house to call police.

His body was found by police near the back porch of his home. All three persons were shot with a rifle.

Police said Crawley left a note asking "forgiveness for this act."

Municipal Band program is set

Bend Municipal Band leaders, facing a busy season that will include weekly evening concerts, today announced plans for a recruitment program.

Musicians home from college for the summer will be welcome, as will adults who would like to help in building up a well-rounded band, Norman K. Whitney, director, said.

The first rehearsal will be held this evening at 7 o'clock at the Bend Senior High band room, Roy Lively, Bend Municipal Band president, announced.

All interested in assisting the band this summer are being invited to attend the rehearsal, or to call Whitney for further information.

Aside from the evening concerts, which last summer were presented in parks and on school lawns in various parts of town, the band will take part in pre-paganant concerts in connection with the annual river fete on July 26, 27 and 28.

Phone company seeks increases

SALEM (UPI) — Telephone rate increases for 16 Oregon communities were requested today by Pacific Northwest Bell.

T. E. Bolger, the firm's vice president and general manager, said the areas are being reclassified because of growth.

The telephone company asked the public utility commissioner for authorization to begin using the new rates in July.

Residence service increases would range from 30 cents a month for one-party customers in Tillamook to 10 cents a month for suburban customers in Independence-Monmouth.

Business service increases would range from $2.25 a month for one-party customers in Medford to 25 cents a month for suburban customers in Madras.

Communities affected include Ashland, Bay City, Garibaldi, Grants Pass, Harrisburg, Independence - Monmouth, Jefferson, Junction City, Madras, Medford, North Plains, Phoenix - Talent, Rockaway, Rogue River, Shedd and Tillamook.

Typical of phone growth throughout the state, Bolger said, is Medford. There the number of phones that can be dialed directly by customers without long distance charges has jumped from 22,994 to 30,792 in the past five years.

At Alabama Big force on hand for registrations

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — A force of more than 800 policemen backed by 700 National Guardsmen maintained order in this college town today on the eve of the pending registration of two Negroes at the University of Alabama.

Gov. George C. Wallace was scheduled to fly here from Montgomery this afternoon to take personal charge of plans for blocking the enrollment of two Negro students Tuesday. Despite a federal injunction against his interference, Wallace intends to "stand in the doorway" to keep Negroes Vivian Malone and James Hood out of the university.

Wallace has said, however, that the huge force of 1,500 police officers and Guardsmen was here to keep law and order and not to keep the Negroes off the campus.

Wallace was due here at 3:45 p.m., EDT.

Arrest White Men

Officers arrested 15 white men during the weekend and confiscated a small arsenal of pistols, rifles, shotguns and steel hooks used for moving cotton bales.

Wallace reiterated Sunday night that he would try to prevent the Negroes from integrating the university, but pledged he would do it in a stern framework of law and order.

Wallace put Col. Al Lingo, chief of the Department of Public Safety, in charge of state and local police officers. Behind this first line of defense more than 700 Alabama National Guardsmen were held in reserve in the event they were needed.

Maj. Gen. Alfred Harrison, state adjutant general and Guard commander, said the units included two companies of "special forces."

The special troops were vari-colored berets to identify them from regular Guardsmen. They received rigorous training at Ft. Benning, Ga., which Harrison said even surpassed Commando and Ranger training.

He said the Alabama group was one of seven such units in the nation and was regarded as the "toughest in the Army." He said the special troops can handle any

Court agrees to consider 2 key areas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court decided today to give further consideration next term to two key areas of legal controversy — the apportionment of state legislatures and "sit-in" demonstrations.

It agreed to hear arguments and then hand down rulings on a series of cases involving both issues sometime next fall or winter. The court is expected to end its present session in a week or so.

Accepted for consideration next fall were reapportionment cases from New York, Maryland, Virginia and Alabama in which city voters charged they had inadequate representation in state legislatures on a population basis.

Landmark Case

All of the cases arose after the court ruled last year in a landmark case involving Tennessee that federal courts had the right to consider voter claims of unfair apportionment.

The court today similarly agreed to review next term sit-in cases from Columbia, S.C., Baltimore, Md., and Miami, Fla. These cases, along with an amusement park case from Maryland, may determine whether a private businessman may deny service to a customer on racial grounds.

Last month, the court ruled that sit-in demonstrators cannot be prosecuted under local ordinances or official edicts requiring facilities. But that decision did not touch on the issue of whether a private owner could have demonstrators arrested in the absence of such laws.

The court also sent back for reconsideration by lower courts sit-in convictions from Richmond, Hopewell, and Arlington County, Va.

B. Kennedy, solons mull civil rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met for nearly two hours today with Southern senators to discuss the administration's forthcoming civil rights legislation. He told them final details still had not been worked out.

Details of the closed meeting at the Capitol were skimpy. But one participant, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., conceded dryly after the session that "there wasn't much meeting of the minds."

The attorney general's session with about a dozen Dixie senators came as President Kennedy was appealing anew for peaceful solution of spreading racial strife in the nation.

The President told the graduating class of American University here that in seeking world peace, the nation must look inward to assure that there also is peace at home.

With reference to the administration's forthcoming civil rights proposals to be presented to Congress, the President said the government has a responsibility to see that freedom is guaranteed to all citizens.

He said Congress also must do its part in this respect and correct inadequacies where they exist.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said the attorney general told the Southern senators, however, that no "final conclusions" have yet been reached on details of the civil rights package.

His statement reinforced other signs that the proposals would not be submitted to Congress until late in the week.

The President has scheduled another meeting Tuesday with a group of business executives with operations in the South to appeal for voluntary desegregation of public facilities. He also will meet later in the week with union leaders to seek equal job opportunities for Negroes.

There appeared no doubt that Southern opponents would attempt to filibuster the plan to death in the Senate. Mansfield said this was not discussed at today's session but made clear there was no question in his mind about the Dixie tactics.

In the Senate today, a Southern senator predicted that the Senate would enact an administration civil rights program this year.

Attempt to head off strike made

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiators sought today to head off a nationwide railroad strike with only hours remaining before removal of the last legal obstacle to a walkout.

A 30-day cooling-off period under the Railway Labor Act expires at midnight, EDT, Tuesday. At that time, the railroads will be free to put into effect work rules changes that union leaders say will result in a strike on 195 major railroads.

The railroad and union negotiators held a Sunday session, with Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz sitting in on the talks, and were scheduled for another meeting today.

Hoffa, 10 others plead innocent to jury charge

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and 10 other persons pleaded innocent today to federal charges of jury tampering.

Three of the defendants, however, "stood mute" although pleas of innocent were entered for them. Their stand means they would not admit the allegations in the indictment were technically correct.

All were indicted by a federal grand jury here last month on charges of trying to bribe or "corruptly influence" jurors and prospective jurors at Hoffa's $1 million conspiracy trial last winter. The case ended in a mistrial when the jury could not agree on a verdict.

Hoffa, who flew here in his private plane, sat quietly in the spectators' section of the courtroom with Ewing King, president of Teamsters Local 327 of Nashville and one of the defendants. With them was Harold Gibbons, Teamsters international vice president.

Until July 22

Federal District Judge Frank Gray Jr. gave defense lawyers until July 22 to file pre-trial motions and ordered Justice Department attorneys to file answers to the motions by July 29. He did not set a hearing date on the motions immediately.

Gray allowed Hoffa and the other defendants to remain free under their present bond of $10,000.

Hoffa was named in all five counts of an indictment returned May 9. He could receive up to 25 years in prison and a $25,000 fine if convicted on each count.

The Teamsters chief, on his arrival here Sunday night, complained he could not get a fair trial anywhere in the United States.

It would be impossible to find an unbiased jury, Hoffa told newsmen when he got out of his private plane here.

He said Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy had gone on television and said "Hoffa is guilty of this, and Hoffa is guilty of that, and juries who didn't convict him didn't know what they were doing."

Charges Bribery Attempt

The indictments returned by the grand jury charged that bribes totaling at least $75,000 were offered to influence jurors and prospective jurors to vote for Hoffa's acquittal.

Henry F. (Buster) Bell of the Bronx, New York, was accused of conspiring to offer bribes totaling $55,000. The indictments alleged Bell offered a prospective juror $30,000 and offered a Nashville man $25,000 to persuade two jurors to vote for Hoffa's acquittal.

Lawrence Medlin, a Nashville businessman, was charged with offering a prospective juror $10,000, and Thomas Ewing Parks of Nashville was accused of offering the son of a juror $10,000 to be split with his father.

The government also contended that Ewing King, president of Teamsters Local 327, offered to assist the husband of a woman juror in obtaining a promotion in the highway patrol if he would persuade his wife to vote for Hoffa's acquittal.

Bulletin

MOSCOW (UPI) — British Labor party leader Harold Wilson met for three hours with Premier Nikita Khrushchev today and said the Soviet leader held out no hope for a complete nuclear test ban agreement in the foreseeable future.

Storms leave trail of death, destruction

By United Press International

Thunderstorms and tornadoes left a trail of death and destruction in the Midwest today.

Tornadoes touched down in Michigan, Minnesota and North Dakota Sunday. The twisters struck three times in the area around Grand Rapids, Mich., and 1.70 inches of rain fell there in six hours ending this morning.

The tornado caused $100,000 damage at Belmont, Mich., five miles north of Grand Rapids. Lightning destroyed a service station and several persons were injured, two seriously.

A tornado also was sighted near Cascade Twp., east of Grand Rapids, and at Hudsonville, on the southwest edge of town. Unconfirmed tornadoes were reported over Howard City and in Michigan's Newaygo County.

The drowning toll alone ran into the dozens during the weekend.

Two accidents in Wisconsin took three drowning victims each. Three men drowned in Lake Winnebago Saturday night. A father and his two children drowned in the Wisconsin River near Spring Green.

Ten persons drowned in Ohio, and the toll in Indiana was nine water deaths.

A powerful wind shook an American Airlines plane that was landing in Chicago's O'Hare Field. A stewardess and two passengers suffered bruises and were treated at a hospital.

Mother, two daughters found shot to death

PORTLAND (UPI) — A mother and her two teen-age daughters were found shot to death in their home here today.

Police said it appeared to be a double-slitting and suicide.

The bodies of Mrs. Vina A. Ready, 56, and her daughters, Lana, 19, and Duana, 15, were found in the home. All had been shot in the head, police said. The mother was said to be holding a pistol.

The body of the family dog also was found.
