OSU may rank with Ducks from now on

By Web Ruble
Bulletin Staff Writer

Oregon State's track triumph over the powerful University of Oregon Ducks has caused quite a stir in the sports world.

In years of yore, people said it couldn't be done as long as Coach Bill Bowerman was at the Duck helm. Coach Sam Bell over at Beaver-ville, however, had different ideas.

Coach Bell has had top Beaver track teams for the past few years, actually.

Actually, Coach Bell has had some top track teams at Oregon State for a number of years. The trouble was that nobody realized it. Oregon State was so overshadowed by the Ducks in the state of Oregon, that the Beavers were regarded as mere also rans.

The fact of the matter is, in those most-recent days, OSU would post overwhelming victories over other ND opponents like Washington State, University of Washington, and the University of Idaho.

Many of the Beaver cinder victories were by as much a margin as were the victories of the Ducks over the same opponents. Nevertheless, when the two met, Oregon took the Corvallis thinclads right down the tube.

Publicity was on Oregon's side, too. The papers, especially the Oregonian and the Journal, went whole hog over the Ducks. For that matter, the Ducks deserved it, too. Last year they upended powerful, seemingly unbeatable Southern California, which has nearly dominated the national collegiate track picture for years.

Oregon's victory last year over the Trojans ended a tremendously long dual meet win string for USC. At the time fans were saying Troy's dominance would never end.

Then, Oregon accomplished an insurmountable task. The Ducks won the national NCAA track and field title. National champions! Yes, the UD tracksters deserved their publicity. The Duck distance men, especially, have set a precedence within the United States and in lands from whence they have hailed.

Oregon (the state) is currently the home of the United State's greatest track fever. And that home, until recently, definitely has been Coach Bowerman's Oregon Duck cinder dynasty.

In the meantime, however, Oregon State was taking its share of victories, and had it not been for Oregon's dynamic performances, the Beavers would have taken the Pacific Northwest college picture by a storm. They probably would have done the same against most California schools, more than any college in the nation.

This year, the Beavers sensed an upset. It was in the making. Oregon State had been nipping at Oregon's heels all season long, and when the time was ripe a couple of weeks ago, zoom!... the Corvallis thinclads soared by the sagging Ducks.

All good things come to an end. And so it was for Oregon over neighboring OSU. What a string of victories it was, too. The last time the Beavers were able to pull a victory over Oregon was in 1948.

It's unfortunate that Oregon State knocked off Oregon in moment when the Ducks were "down and out" with injuries, etc., (and in a "weaker" Oregon year), but perhaps it was the only time in this decade the Beavers could have accomplished it. Oregon had a tremendous Frosh squad this season, and next year its members will be varsity competitors. It looks like Oregon could get back in the swing of things, immediately with another powerhouse. Oregon State, however, will continue to push Oregon where the Ducks have been strong... in the distance events.

Morgan Groth, the Beaver's tremendous distance ace, is only a sophomore, and will be more than just a little trouble for the Ducks in the next two years.

What will happen between the two schools in the next few years might be interesting. Oregon State has broken the ice against the Ducks, but U of O looms as much better next spring than they were this year.

At any rate, the State of Oregon is going to have more than its share of glory, with both colleges in the national spotlight.

Giants' Cepeda, Bailey have no respect for Los Angeles batters

By Fred Down
UPI Staff Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers had better get a new book on Orlando Cepeda and Ed Bailey or they'll have to read about the World Series again next October.

The Dodgers have one of the best pitching staffs in baseball but Cepeda and Bailey greet 'em like they were batting practice hurlers. Just take a look at how Orlando and Ed have treated Dodger pitching and you have the explanation for the fact the San Francisco Giants have beaten Los Angeles in three of their last four meetings.

The Giants topped the Dodgers again Monday night, 7-3, with Cepeda crashing a tie-breaking homer in the eighth inning and Bailey belting a two-run homer in the ninth.

Cepeda hit a three-run double and Bailey drove in two runs with a homer and two singles when the Giants beat the Dodgers for the first time this season on May 24. And the same pair hit homers on May 25 when the Giants scored their second win of the season over their arch-rivals.

Cepeda and Bailey have thus knocked in 10 of the 20 runs the Giants have scored in their three victories over the Dodgers.

Draw Big Crowd

A crowd of 52,993 at Los Angeles Monday night saw Cepeda's 12th homer of the season snap a 3-3 tie in the eighth. Bailey's two-run homer featured a three-run clinching outburst in the ninth as Don Larsen picked up his first win and Ron Perranoski suffered his second defeat.

Willie McCovey also homered and Willie Mays had three hits in the Giants' 12-hit attack while Maury Wills, John Roseboro and Dick Tracewski had two hits each for the Dodgers, whose National League lead over the St. Louis Cardinals was cut to two percentage points.

The victory moved the Giants to within one game of the top rung.

Cubs Beat Colts

The Chicago Cubs edged out the Houston Colts, 3-2, the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Milwaukee Braves, 6-2, and the New York Mets nipped the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2, in other NL games. St. Louis at Pittsburgh was rained out.

In the American League, the New York Yankees beat the Washington Senators, 7-0, and then suffered a 1-0 loss, the Cleveland Indians defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2, the Detroit Tigers topped the Boston Red Sox, 6-1, and the Los Angeles Angels routed the Kansas City Athletics, 13-3.

L'il Leaguers clobber ball

Three Bend Little League teams won victories last night by substantial margins.

Lelco exploded for seven runs in a giant second inning, and for six in the sixth, to nearly bomb Cascade Gas right out of the park, in a National League fray at Marshall Field. The score was 13-6.

Cascade Gas had troubles throughout the contest except for the third inning when it picked up five of its six tallies.

In other action, Miller's dropped a tough Shoop & Schulte nine, by a 11-7 count, for a Cascade League victory at Juniper Park. Miller's got the jump on Shoop & Schulte in early innings and held on for the win.

Over at Harmon Field, Dairy Queen baseballers ran right by the Medo-Land diamond crew, posting a 10-7 American League win.

Dairy Queen held a top-sided margin over the Medo-Landers, until the latter nine came on strong in the fifth and sixth frames to nearly overtake the leaders.

Curtis Gehring, Medo-Land catcher, caught aloft of a fat pitch in the fourth frame and hit a long home run for the club's first tally.

Bend children who want to participate in the Red Cross learn-to-swim program must register, it was emphasized today by Vince Genna, city recreation director.

Registration will begin Monday, June 17, between 9 and 11 a.m., at the municipal pool, Red Cross chairman Opal Wonsler has announced.

Mrs. Wonsler said that the first session for beginners and advanced beginners will commence June 18, and end July 6.

"Advanced beginners" is a new classification this year. It is for those children who passed the beginners' tests last year.

A second session runs July 9 through July 26.

Instruction also will be offered to the intermediates group. The intermediate session will run July 29 through August 9.

Children must be seven years of age or older to take swim lessons.

Any child attending vacation Bible school will not lose a chance to participate in the program. Bible school children may enroll in the program's second session. The beginners and the advanced beginners are the only groups afected by the Bible schools.

More information may be obtained by calling Opal Wonsler, 382-3715, or Ev Yaw, 382-3048.
