Lumber firm, union meet

PORTLAND (UPI) — The first meeting between officials of one of the two big Northwest lumber unions and an employer since a strike hit part of the industry last week was scheduled here today.

Officials of Simpson Timber Co. were scheduled to meet with negotiators for the International Woodworkers of America. The company has a meeting set with the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union next week.

Simpson has been bargaining as an independent and was not affected by a strike against St. Regis Paper Co. and U.S. Plywood last week. Four other companies shut down their operations in retaliation, idling about 10,000 men.

Federal Mediator George Walker said today talks with both sides involved in the dispute were continuing in efforts to bring them together at the bargaining table.
