3 nations still far apart on fisheries issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, Canada and Japan appeared Friday to be far apart after more than a week of meetings in an attempt to agree on a conservation treaty for the North Pacific fisheries.

The conference, called on Japan's request to reassess a 10-year-old pact that has reserved parts of the North Pacific for Canadian and U.S. fishermen, adjourned for the weekend apparently still locked over the same issues that faced it on opening day, June 6.

Masayoshi Ito, Japanese vice minister of Agriculture and Fisheries and chairman of the Japanese delegation, reiterated at Friday's session that the controversial "abstention principle" should be scrapped, according to a joint communique.

Under the abstention principle, Japan had agreed not to fish for certain species in some areas of the eastern North Pacific ocean so long as Canadian and U.S. fishermen were taking the maximum catch allowed under sound conservation principles.

Former Democratic Sen. Benjamin A. Smith, heading the U.S. delegation, said the United States would not discard the abstention principle in favor of a type of agreement which he said has not always worked.

Canada's delegation was not referred to in the Friday communique, but Canada has said it hoped the abstention principle could be retained.

Ito said a Japanese draft convention submitted June 7 was the most realistic way of ensuring conservation of North Pacific fisheries resources.

Smith said the United States could not agree to Japan's draft proposal, which he said was a type of agreement which has not dealt with some of the conditions in the North Pacific and in many cases has not been particularly successful, the communique said.

Bend High band to appear at Portland Shrine game

The Bend High School band will appear in a half-time exhibition at the Shrine football game, Saturday night, August 17, at the Multnomah Stadium in Portland.

Announcement was made at a luncheon meeting of the Bend Shrine Club Friday. The club is sponsoring the trip for the band as a community service project.

Plans were outlined by Charles Davis, club president, and Alfred Hunnell, chairman for the project. Present from the school system were Don Empey, who completed service at the end of the school year as high school principal; Norman K. Whitney, supervisor of music instruction, and Don Goodwin of the music faculty. Goodwin is the band director.

This will make the second major metropolitan appearance of the local band this summer. The marching unit appeared in the Merrykhana parade, which opened Rose Festival week in Portland last Saturday.

The performance at the Shrine game will be a four - minute marching and playing demonstration. This will be the first time for a high school to have a part in the half-time program. This year, the march-through of massed bands is being eliminated.

Jim Leagjeld, a June graduate of Bend High, will play in the game on the State team, in a halfback position. The Metro team will be made up of players in the Portland area.

Goodwin expressed appreciation to the Shrine Club for the trip sponsorship, on behalf of the school and the students. The band members are most enthusiastic, he said, and it is expected that over 75 musicians will be in the exhibition unit.

Eighty-seven students are signed up for band next year, Whitney said.

Goodwin will be attending summer school, but will be back in Bend for weekends and a complete week of concentrated band practice before the performance. Rehearsals will be held daily for several hours in the week preceding the trip, he said.

Fred H. Meyers, who was recently initiated into Al Kader Shrine, was introduced as a new member of the Bend club.

John Mills, a member of the Al Kader divan, pledged support of the band project on behalf of the Shrine's executive body.

Dr. C. J. McCusker heads the general committee in charge for the Little Leaguers.

This is the Little Leaguers only fund raising project of the year. Members of the various teams have joined in a city-wide sale of tickets, but, the committee stresses, those who have not obtained tickets can get them on the grounds.

Ideal weather is in prospect for the breakfast.

Invitation due Jobs Daughters for state meet

Jobs Daughters will be invited to hold their 1964 Oregon state convention in Bend.

The convention would bring from 1200 to 1400 girls to Bend for a three-day conference. Although Bend is hopeful of obtaining the convention, it is pointed out that through the years Jobs Daughters have been inclined to hold their conventions in Portland.

Announcement on CD delayed

SALEM (UPI) — Federal officials said Friday they were not yet prepared to announce whether Oregon's cut-down Civil Defense agency will receive matching funds.

Earlier this week state CD Director Robert Sandstrom said the decision on matching funds would be announced Friday.

He said because of the postponement, he was giving three more employes their termination notice.

All but three of the state CD staff have now been notified they will be laid off at the end of this month.

Federal CD officials, after declaring that Oregon would not be eligible for matching funds because of the cutback from an 18-man agency, hinted earlier this week that they might change their mind and provide the matching funds after all.
